U.S. Loses 2nd General In Viet War

Hochmuth Killed In Copter Crash; 4 Die With Him

SAIGON (AP) — The United States lost its second general in the Vietnam War today. Maj. Gen. Bruno A. Hochmuth, 56, commander of the 3rd Marine Division, was killed in a helicopter explosion and crash north of Hue. Four men died with him.

The crash came little more than four months after Maj. Gen. William J. Crumm of the U.S. Air Force died in a collision of two B52 bombers over the South China Sea while en route to a Communist target in South Vietnam. Five men were lost with Crumm, 48, in that accident July 6. He headed the Strategic Air Command's 3rd Air Division on Guam.

The U.S. Command also announced that Communist gunners shot down two American helicopters and damaged five more Monday in fighting along the coastal lowlands 365 miles northeast of Saigon. But it was not known whether Hochmuth's death was due to enemy action.

The general, a lantern-jawed Texan who took command of the 3rd Division last March, was on an inspection trip. The pilot of another helicopter accompanying him said the general's craft was flying at about 1,000 feet when it appeared to explode in the air, broke in two and crashed on its back in a lake.

There were no survivors. Two American pilots, the American crew chief and a Vietnamese interpreter also died in the crash.

U.S. military headquarters in Saigon said it was not believed there was any enemy fire in the area at the time, but officers at

POW Gets Welcome Home Cheer From Fellow GIs

FT. BRAGG, N.C. (AP)—Fellow Special Forces soldiers shouted "Welcome home" and embraced S. Sgt. James E. Jackson Monday night as he and two other U.S. Army sergeants returned to the United States after years of captivity by the Viet Cong.

The cheer for Jackson came from a trio of his comrades as he stepped off a military plane that returned him and M. Sgt. Daniel Lee Pitzer of Spring Lake, N.C., to Ft. Bragg.

Pitzer walked unsteadily and laid down on an ambulance stretcher. An Army official said he had a serious vitamin deficiency.

The third prisoner of war released in Cambodia Saturday M. Sgt. Edward R. Johnson of Seaside, Calif., was removed from the plane in a stretcher at Washington, D.C., and taken to Walter Reed Army Hospital. He was reported suffering from dysentery and malnutrition.

The three sergeants were accompanied as far as New York by Thomas Hayden, a Newark, N.J., writer who brought them out of Cambodia. Hayden is a member of an American peace committee that also includes Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., Dr. Benjamin Spock and singer Joan Baez.

House Kills Attempt To Trim Funds

Dixie Democrats Still To Be Heard From On Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Support from urban Republicans for the antipoverty program brightens prospects for House passage of the controversial legislation without major change, although Southern Democrats remain to be heard from.

With 20 moderate Republicans supplying the crucial votes—and most Southerners not participating—the House defeated 159 to 149 Monday a GOP-led attempt to reduce authorized funds for the program from $2.06 billion to $1.4 billion.

The House then went on to turn back a string of amendments from Republicans aimed at changing the operation of the Job Corps. The only amendment adopted all day would eliminate a second-year authorization for the program.

The action encouraged Democratic leaders to hope for continued success in preserving the Neighborhood Youth Corps and Community Action programs against amendment when voting resumes today.

The relative ease with which the amendments were defeated admittedly surprised Democratic supporters of the bill and they were quick to give credit to Republicans who joined them.

In Trial At Lisbon

Auto Death Case Goes To Jurors

By PAUL YOUNG

A Common Pleas Court jury began deliberations today at Lisbon in the traffic manslaughter trial of Daryl Lee Jackson, 18, of 1068 Jennings Ave.

Closing arguments began at 10 a. m. and Judge Joel H. Sharp charged the jury afterward. The trial began Nov. 6.

James D. Primm Jr., assistant prosecuting attorney, said the prosecution proved all elements of the indictment — that Daryl Jackson was operating a 1966 Volkswagen May 26 in Columbiana County at a speed in excess of road conditions and that he hit a tree and, as a result, Jerry Canne was killed.

"That is the sum and substance of five days of testimony in this trial," Primm told the jury.

Young Canne, 17, formerly of 143 Thompson Ave., was one of three passengers in the Volkswagen. They and Jackson were seniors at East Liverpool High School and were returning from an afternoon and evening class party along Beaver Creek below Grimms Bridge.

Taft To Ask Vote Recount At Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP)—Seth C. Taft said today he would ask the Cuyahoga County Board of Elections for a recount of last Tuesday's mayoral election.

Taft, the Republican nominee, lost to Negro Carl B. Stokes by 1,644 votes.

"A careful analysis of last Tuesday's election has convinced me that Carl Stokes is the winner," Taft said at a news conference. "I have no evidence of error or irregularities sufficient to change the results. However, the election was very close, the closest mayoralty election in Cleveland history."

Taft cited the fact that the official count last Saturday reduced Stokes' margin by more than one half, from 2,501 to 1,644, out of nearly 260,000 votes cast.

He said "This has raised questions in my mind, questions which can be laid to rest in people's minds only by a recount."

"I think it important not only in fairness to the thousands who worked for me and the half of the voters who supported my candidacy, but also in the best interests of the city and of the new administration that no doubt remain in anyone's mind about the result."

Taft said he understood a recount could be completed in four or five days.

Shift In Propaganda Emphasis

Hanoi, Cong Hint Hope Of Antiwar Step In U.S.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Vietnamese Communist gestures with regard to their American captives illustrate a shift in propaganda emphasis over the past 16 months and suggest that both Hanoi and the Viet Cong are investing hopes in the antiwar movement in the United States.

In July 1966, after more than a year of air attacks on North Vietnam and heavy use of American air power in the South, Hanoi and Viet Cong propaganda threatened vengeance against captured U.S. crews, even hinting broadly at public war crimes trials.

Now the stress is on humaneness. The Viet Cong, for example, has just released three prisoners who, according to Communist sources in Cambodia, will represent the beginning of a "trickle" if the Communists are satisfied with news stories about the three.

The Communists have had little success so far from attempts to make propaganda capital of statements attributed to captive U.S. airmen. The statements attributed to them have been, for the most part, read by others in the prisoners' names, in English-language broadcasts. This leaves the authenticity of the statements open to question.

Sixteen months ago the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong insisted that all captured airmen, as Hanoi put it, "are not prisoners of war and cannot enjoy the provisions of the Geneva Convention of 1949 on the treatment of prisoners of war." This hinted that captives might be publicly tried and executed.

Citing the trials of Nazi leaders at Nuernberg, Germany, Hanoi said captive Americans could "by no means claim to be free from responsibility as far as criminal law is concerned; neither can they claim to be mere instruments who act only as ordered out of respect for military discipline."

"They are in fact war criminals," said Hanoi. "They are not prisoners of war. The American pilots are but pirates, saboteurs and criminals. That is why they may be tried for crimes against the security of this country."

At about the same time, Hanoi broadcast a proposal to the

The Harry Miller Excavating Co. of Suffield was the apparent low bidder for an extension of the Lake Erie - Ohio River Highway from West Point to near Lisbon, according to the Ohio Highway Department at Columbus.

Number 13 Not Unlucky

PARKERSBURG, W. Va. (AP) — For Mr. and Mrs. Gary Thomas of Parkersburg, the number 13 is not unlucky.

They were married Aug. 13, 1966; Thomas entered the Navy Feb. 13, 1967; he received his first leave on March 13; and their first child, a girl, was born Nov. 13 at 12:47 p.m. which is 13 minutes before the hour of 1300 military time.

That's not all. There are 13 letters in the mother's name, Darlene Thomas.

Are the Thomases superstitious?

"Let's just say we're glad none of the dates fell on a Friday," said the proud father.

Care In Addressing Asked On Mail Destined Overseas

Postmaster Samuel W. Brown today urged East Liverpool area residents to be certain to use correct addresses on letters and packages destined for servicemen overseas.

Care will help avoid serious delays in delivery, he said.

Brown reported that millions of letters and packages going overseas have been delayed because they were insufficiently addressed. He said that one of the biggest problems has been the failure of persons to include the very important 5 digit APO or FPO number in the military address. Mail not containing this number is incorrectly addressed.

He said that last year more than nine million pieces of mail were delayed in delivery. Of this number, 3½ million pieces failed to include the complete 5 digit APO or FPO number in the address.

This improperly addressed mail had to be sent to a military locator directory where time - consuming searches were made to determine the proper addresses.

"As the Christmas mail volume going overseas is expected to increase up to 30 per cent or over four million pounds above last year, every precaution should be taken by friends and relatives of servicemen to address their letters and packages properly to assure rapid delivery to its destination," Brown said.

There are four essential elements to an overseas military address. They are:

1. The serviceman's identity—grade, full name and service number.
2. His military unit — complete.
3. Gateway post office — New York, San Francisco or Seattle.
4. APO or FPO — a 5 digit number.

City Woman Made Ill By Smoke During Fire

A city woman suffered smoke inhalation when she ran into the home of a neighbor where a mattress was burning Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Leonda Reynolds of 653 Bradshaw Ave. was given oxygen by city firemen, who were summoned to the home of Fred Snyder of 651 Bradshaw. Firemen said the fire in the two-story, double home originated in a mattress.

Mrs. Reynolds ran into the home to investigate and was made ill by the smoke.

Floral Group Airs Storage

Further discussion was held on winter storage of dahlia tubers when the East Liverpool Floral and Dahlia Society met Monday night in the Potters Savings and Loan Co. annex.

William Haugh, president, was in charge. The culture of holly —conditions under which it may be raised — also was discussed, as well as new fertilizers available. Primary participants in the discussion were Haugh, J.T. Eccleston and Leo C. Lawrence.

A chrysanthemum show in progress at the Phipps Conservatory at Pittsburgh also was reported on by members who attended recently. The show, which will last until Nov. 26, was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Eccleston, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence and Mrs. Clarence Green.

Lawrence screened slides of gardens and flower shows. Also shown were slides of a few wild flowers of Alaska. The slides belong to Harold Howard.

A nominating committee was appointed with Clark McCoy as chairman. Also serving will be Frank Richmond.

A board of directors meeting will be held Nov. 25 at 8 p.m. with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Leughmyer of 601 15th St., Wellsville.

Lunch was served by Leughmyer and Charles Glover. The next meeting will be Dec. 11 at 8 p. m.

tarian instincts of the North Vietnamese," King said, adding that the committee hopes to aid in the release of additional U.S. prisoners.

Jackson smiled broadly, as three fellow Green Berets embraced him and slapped him on the back on his arrival at Ft. Bragg. Jackson, Pitzer and Johnson all received their Special Forces training at Bragg.

Jackson accepted a cigarette but declined to answer questions about his captivity.

"It's been a long trip and I'm glad to be home," Jackson said. "The treatment on the trip has been A-No. 1."

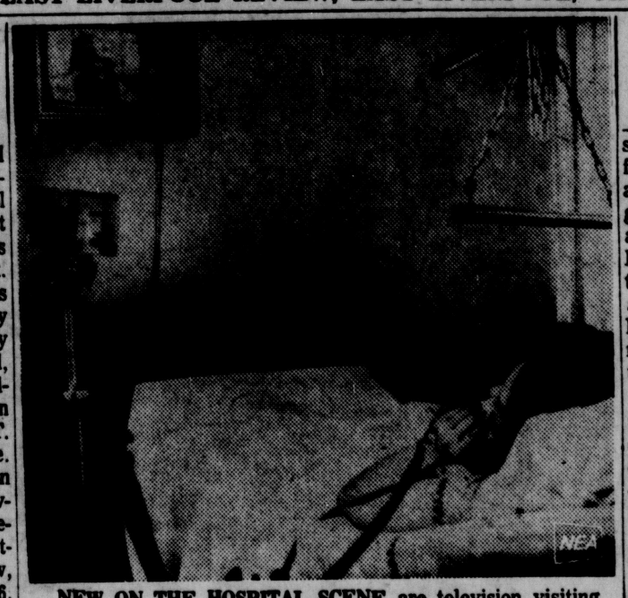

Jackson's mother said her son "had the training (as a Green Beret) to fake a brainwashing job just to win his release." His father, a bus driver and mechanic, expressed confidence that his son would receive "all the care he needs" in U.S. military hospitals. Jackson's parents live in Talcott, W.Va.

At Ft. Bragg, Jackson's jubilant manner contrasted sharply with Pitzer, who walked down the plane's ramp with a halting step, looking drawn and pale. He spoke to no one and stretched out on a bed in the ambulance for the short trip to Womack Army Hospital on the Ft. Bragg post. His wife was waiting there but newsmen were barred from observing their reunion.

Earlier in the evening when Pitzer disembarked from a Pan American flight to Kennedy Airport in New York City, he had said: "I'm very glad to be at home. I'm looking forward to seeing my family."

The three sergeants had been kept under wraps in Cambodia after the news conference announcing their release Saturday. They arrived in Beirut aboard a Czechoslovak airliner Sunday and then flown to Rome and Paris before landing in New York.

Hawaii is divided into five counties.

school buildings. He said Clifford Athey would remove a tree at MacDonald for $30 above ground or $40 under ground and at Garfield for $25. The tree at McKinley still is in question as to the property line. Mundy was authorized to have the trees at MacDonald and Garfield schools removed, but is to investigate the other more thoroughly.

The sink in the science room was reported by Mundy as fixed and he made a report of other building repairs including a downspout at Garfield school. He also reported a leak in the library is coming from the roof and has been partially repaired. Mundy is also to fix a leak in boiler No. 2.

In his report, Lowe informed the board members that the T. E. Croft family has moved from the home owned by the school system and located in the rear of the high school. He suggested that partitions could be taken out and two classrooms made in it to be used for special classes which the government specifies should be in operation by 1970.

Lowe announced a joint vocational high school meeting Nov. 29 at McKinley School in Lisbon which should be attended by one board member and himself. He reported Junior and Senior High School teachers had an in - service training meeting Oct. 24 and elementary teachers one on Oct. 25, when machine equipment demonstrations were given by representatives of the company from which they were purchased.

The superintendent said a three - week training period for the Teachers' Aide program, a pilot program under Joseph Caparossi, had been concluded and proved very successful.

In concluding his report, he reminded the board members that they need to take a look at the program in the High School, especially in the industrial arts and business education areas, as they are quite a few years behind in equipment.

President William Ferrall suggested that present and incoming board members should make a tour of the buildings to check the furniture and physical aspects. Lowe is to set up the tour. Ferrall appointed Charles Glass and Phillip Chronister to the industrial arts committee; Miss Mary Jenkins and Dr. Frank Rivelle to use the business education committee and Dr. Janis Lauva and Danny MacLean, property and physical facilities. Supt. Lowe reported 976 had taken the TB test.

The board expressed appreciation to State Rep. Clarence Wetzel for making possible the levy passage, to The Review, WOHI, Wellsville Press and the citizens for their support. Dr. Lauva served as acting clerk in the absence of Raymond Rolley who is recovering from an illness. Board members present, aside from Ferrall and Dr. Lauva, were Glass and MacLean. Russell Dysert was absent. The incoming board members, Dr. Rivelle, Chronister and Jenkins were also present.

phia Negro, after hearing the sentence.

"My father had doubts about this, but I know for a fact that I was right."

The court officers deliberated only 11 minutes on convicting Lockman on two counts of refusing to obey lawful orders.

They pondered 20 minutes longer in deciding the 30 months sentence with dishonorable discharge. The maximum term is five years.

The case automatically will go to a military review board and can be carried to the Military Court of Appeals.

However, Stanley Faulkner, one of Lockman's attorneys, said a direct appeal will be made to the U.S. Supreme Court.

He said a habeas corpus action in the high court will protest the court martial's banning of any challenge of the constitutionality of the Vietnam war.

From the time of his Sept. 15 arrest for refusing to fly to Vietnam, Lockman has declared he believed the war to be illegal.

On the witness stand he said, "I could not subject myself to the atrocities being committed by our soldiers in Vietnam.

"We black people are oppressed. We have no business in a civil war."

Mrs. Vivian Williams, Lockman's mother, collapsed briefly in the court after hearing the prison sentence for her son.

Mrs. Williams and Lynette Polk, 20, of Philadelphia, Lockman's girl friend, sat by him with tear-filled eyes at a news conference after the trial.

school buildings. He said Clifford Athey would remove a tree at MacDonald for $30 above ground or $40 under ground and at Garfield for $25. The tree at McKinley still is in question as to the property line. Mundy was authorized to have the trees at MacDonald and Garfield schools removed, but is to investigate the other more thoroughly.

The sink in the science room was reported by Mundy as fixed and he made a report of other building repairs including a downspout at Garfield school. He also reported a leak in the library is coming from the roof and has been partially repaired. Mundy is also to fix a leak in boiler No. 2.

In his report, Lowe informed the board members that the T. E. Croft family has moved from the home owned by the school system and located in the rear of the high school. He suggested that partitions could be taken out and two classrooms made in it to be used for special classes which the government specifies should be in operation by 1970.

Lowe announced a joint vocational high school meeting Nov. 29 at McKinley School in Lisbon which should be attended by one board member and himself. He reported Junior and Senior High School teachers had an in - service training meeting Oct. 24 and elementary teachers one on Oct. 25, when machine equipment demonstrations were given by representatives of the company from which they were purchased.

The superintendent said a three - week training period for the Teachers' Aide program, a pilot program under Joseph Caparossi, had been concluded and proved very successful.

In concluding his report, he reminded the board members that they need to take a look at the program in the High School, especially in the industrial arts and business education areas, as they are quite a few years behind in equipment.

President William Ferrall suggested that present and incoming board members should make a tour of the buildings to check the furniture and physical aspects. Lowe is to set up the tour. Ferrall appointed Charles Glass and Phillip Chronister to the industrial arts committee; Miss Mary Jenkins and Dr. Frank Rivelle to use the business education committee and Dr. Janis Lauva and Danny MacLean, property and physical facilities. Supt. Lowe reported 976 had taken the TB test.

The board expressed appreciation to State Rep. Clarence Wetzel for making possible the levy passage, to The Review, WOHI, Wellsville Press and the citizens for their support. Ferral expressed the opinion that teachers should check with the administration board for supplemental needs instead of asking the students to bring money for them.

Dr. Lauva served as acting clerk in the absence of Raymond Rolley who is recovering from an illness. Board members present, aside from Ferrall and Dr. Lauva, were Glass and MacLean. Russell Dysert was absent. The incoming board members, Dr. Rivelle, Chronister and Jenkins were also present.

phia Negro, after hearing the sentence.

"My father had doubts about this, but I know for a fact that I was right."

The court officers deliberated only 11 minutes on convicting Lockman on two counts of refusing to obey lawful orders.

They pondered 20 minutes longer in deciding the 30 months sentence with dishonorable discharge. The maximum term is five years.

The case automatically will go to a military review board and can be carried to the Military Court of Appeals.

However, Stanley Faulkner, one of Lockman's attorneys, said a direct appeal will be made to the U.S. Supreme Court.

He said a habeas corpus action in the high court will protest the court martial's banning of any challenge of the constitutionality of the Vietnam war.

From the time of his Sept. 15 arrest for refusing to fly to Vietnam, Lockman has declared he believed the war to be illegal.

On the witness stand he said, "I could not subject myself to the atrocities being committed by our soldiers in Vietnam.

"We black people are oppressed. We have no business in a civil war."

Mrs. Vivian Williams, Lockman's mother, collapsed briefly in the court after hearing the prison sentence for her son.

Mrs. Williams and Lynette Polk, 20, of Philadelphia, Lockman's girl friend, sat by him with tear-filled eyes at a news conference after the trial.

Care In Addressing Asked On Mail Destined Overseas

Postmaster Samuel W. Brown today urged East Liverpool area residents to be certain to use correct addresses on letters and packages destined for servicemen overseas.

Care will help avoid serious delays in delivery, he said.

Brown reported that millions of letters and packages going overseas have been delayed because they were insufficiently addressed. He said that one of the biggest problems has been the failure of persons to include the very important 5 digit APO or FPO number in the military address. Mail not containing this number is incorrectly addressed.

He said that last year more than nine million pieces of mail were delayed in delivery. Of this number, 3½ million pieces failed to include the complete 5 digit APO or FPO number in the address.

This improperly addressed mail had to be sent to a military locator directory where time - consuming searches were made to determine the proper addresses.

"As the Christmas mail volume going overseas is expected to increase up to 30 per cent or over four million pounds above last year, every precaution should be taken by friends and relatives of servicemen to address their letters and packages properly to assure rapid delivery to its destination," Brown said.

There are four essential elements to an overseas military address. They are:

1. The serviceman's identity—grade, full name and service number.
2. His military unit — complete.
3. Gateway post office — New York, San Francisco or Seattle.
4. APO or FPO — a 5 digit number.

A city woman suffered smoke inhalation when she ran into the home of a neighbor where a mattress was burning Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Leonda Reynolds of 653 Bradshaw Ave. was given oxygen by city firemen, who were summoned to the home of Fred Snyder of 651 Bradshaw. Firemen said the fire in the two-story, double home originated in a mattress.

Mrs. Reynolds ran into the home to investigate and was made ill by the smoke.

tarian instincts of the North Vietnamese," King said, adding that the committee hopes to aid in the release of additional U.S. prisoners.

Jackson smiled broadly, as three fellow Green Berets embraced him and slapped him on the back on his arrival at Ft. Bragg. Jackson, Pitzer and Johnson all received their Special Forces training at Bragg.

Jackson accepted a cigarette but declined to answer questions about his captivity.

"It's been a long trip and I'm glad to be home," Jackson said. "The treatment on the trip has been A-No. 1."

Jackson's mother said her son "had the training (as a Green Beret) to fake a brainwashing job just to win his release." His father, a bus driver and mechanic, expressed confidence that his son would receive "all the care he needs" in U.S. military hospitals. Jackson's parents live in Talcott, W.Va.

At Ft. Bragg, Jackson's jubilant manner contrasted sharply with Pitzer, who walked down the plane's ramp with a halting step, looking drawn and pale. He spoke to no one and stretched out on a bed in the ambulance for the short trip to Womack Army Hospital on the Ft. Bragg post. His wife was waiting there but newsmen were barred from observing their reunion.

Earlier in the evening when Pitzer disembarked from a Pan American flight to Kennedy Airport in New York City, he had said: "I'm very glad to be at home. I'm looking forward to seeing my family."

The three sergeants had been kept under wraps in Cambodia after the news conference announcing their release Saturday. They arrived in Beirut aboard a Czechoslovak airliner Sunday and then flown to Rome and Paris before landing in New York.

Aw, Come On, Sec. Boyd

Alan S. Boyd, U. S. secretary of transportation, strikes us as a no-nonsense guy with a firm grip on the realities of his job.

But when he says new tire standards issued by the all-seeing federal government are going to be a vital factor in highway safety, we wonder who is writing his official pronouncements.

The day is coming, he is reported as saying in Washington, when "injury and death on the road will largely be the result of human error and not of design and equipment deficiencies."

Death on the road is largely the result of human error now.

Millions of us have been driving autos all our lives without a design or equipment deficiency coming to our attention. Our tire troubles have been so rare we scarcely think of tire trouble as a thing to worry about. Our autos have worked perfectly year in and year out.

What we have worried about, with good cause, are chronic drunks, damfool speeders, dozing truck drivers and Sunday drivers.

We have worried about chronic smashup-causers, fools with no judgment and a special kind of nut that comes loose on superhighways — the self-destructionist hell-bent on destroying himself and taking someone with him.

We have wished and wished again that the element of human error had been expunged from highway records as completely as design and equipment deficiencies.

Doesn't Secretary of Transportation Boyd feel the same way — and if he doesn't what makes him different from millions of the rest of us?

To The Gridders!

The long, bruising football season has ended for area high school gridders and their loyal fans, and the tributes to their accomplishments, whether in the score books or just in personal fortitude in meeting defeat, have begun.

The East Liverpool Potters and the Lisbon Blue Devils have posted the top winning records this season, proudly earning laurels deserved against the competition.

No one but a football player can truly know the hard labor, the gruelling grind of gridiron combat, the stomach-twisting decision to stay in or fake out, the wet-eyed sickness of losing a hard one.

We join in the salute to the Potters, the Blue Devils and all the teams of the area along with a tip of the hat to the coaching staffs, the cheerleaders, band members, officials, the behind-the-scenes administrators and everyone who makes American high school football game the exciting sport it is.

Bundle Of Joy-And Woe

Every hour approximately 250 babies are born in the United States. These small bundles of fresh softness and joy represent collectively one of the gravest problems facing our nation.

At 11 a.m. Nov. 20 the census clock in Washington, D.C., will tick off the arrival of the 200 millionth inhabitant of the United States.

Actually, the 200 millionth resident probably already is alive and kicking since the Census Bureau cannot keep exact tabs on population.

The point is that a few seconds later, the clock will show a population of 200 million and one. Population marches on.

As population increases so do problems in air and water pollution, inadequacy of educational facilities, juvenile delinquency, adult delinquency, urban unrest and a host of others.

Projections show a population of 300 million as early as 1990 and 400 million in the first decade of the 21st century.

The thought of complications besetting society when the population density is doubled brings a shudder to some planners and researchers.

They are not worried about Americans being able to feed themselves but they are worried about the quality of life available to great numbers of citizens.

The trend is toward "metropolitanization." Even greater numbers of people will be congregating in already overcrowded cities which serve as a breeding ground for a multitude of human ills.

Family planning emphasis, new birth control devices and other factors could combine to fool the trendsters and slow down population in future years; but most researchers don't see it that way.

They agree population will grow. They disagree only on the rate of increase.

The great search is on for acceptable ways of stablizing population growth. Success is vital to the nation.

Time is needed desperately to devise means of coping with present problems before they are magnified and coupled with new crises developing from a fantastic growth rate.

Just A Short Note

Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy could get Congress out of an embarrassing position by dropping a short note to Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler.

Mr. Fowler has asked Congress to approve an expenditure of $210,000 to extend Secret Service protection for Mrs. Kennedy and her two children an additional 15 months.

The House has approved the request over the objection of Rep. H. R. Gross of Iowa.

The House was on the spot because it did not want to seem inconsiderate of Mrs. Kennedy's feelings, nor did it want to look like a penny pincher in view of the sacrifice paid by the Kennedy family.

Yet, all the representatives are aware of Mrs. Kennedy's financial position and realize she doesn't need the money.

Now the measure goes before the Senate.

A note from Mrs. Kennedy declining Mr. Fowler's offer prior to the Senate vote might prevent bitter debate.

At least it would keep the senators from having to explain their vote to restless taxpayers who must scrimp to make ends meet.

Letter To The Editor

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

I happened by chance to read the editorial in The Review Nov. 7 pertaining to the raids in Hancock County that weekend. Since I am employed at the Lantern Inn, the place, as you put it "where the action is," I feel a little retaliation is in order!

In the first place our liquor sales are not illegal. We have a valid liquor license and we are checked at regular two - week intervals. Anyone who enjoys his or her favorite drink can be sure they are getting exactly what they pay for.

You also stated: "One West Virginia newspaperman wrote 'pretty girls in mini costumes serve the drinks.' Let's set the record straight. Our girls do not wear costumes of any kind. They wear ordinary street clothes. They all dress very nice and make a nice appearance.

Their hemlines, I dare say are one to two inches longer than the 13 - year - old high school students in your own city are wearing. Take 15 minutes, stroll up to 5th St., and you will see exactly what I'm talking about.

You can be sure that the girls of the Lantern Inn are quite particular about how they appear to others, and that part of their anatomy on which they sit is adequately covered at a all times.

I don't know your sources of information or who this newspaperman is, but were I you, I would certainly check anything you might choose to print as fact.

This statement was a complete untruth and I think he owes the girls at the Inn a public apology in this newspaper.

Clean, Clean, Clean!

So Much For Poor People

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON—Some of my best friends are poor. The other day I ran into Slattery, who was nursing a beer in the corner saloon.

"How's it going, Slattery?" I asked him.

"Pretty bad," Slattery said sadly. "This hasn't been a good year for poor people."

Art Buchwald

"I didn't think any year was good for poor people."

"Oh, we had a couple of good years there when everyone was worried about poor people, and everyone talked about winning the war on poverty and helping people pull themselves up by their bootstraps. But I knew it wouldn't last."

"Why not?"

"You just can't seem to sustain interest in poor people over the long run. I read somewhere that the attention span to poor people's problems in Congress was exactly 84 seconds.

"OF COURSE, I don't blame them. They have a lot more things to think about, such as elections and crime in the streets and how much cotton is coming in from Hong Kong. Besides, poor people can't contribute too much to a candidate's campaign, so why should he give them too much time?"

"I think you're exaggerating, Slattery. Why, every congressman I've spoken to says he's interested in poor pepole."

"Yeh, that's why when they gave a raise to all federal employes, they specifically excluded people who worked for the poverty program."

"I'm sure there was nothing personal in that, Slattery. Congress probably felt that people who worked for the poverty program could get along on less money because they knew how poor people lived. Don't forget, Congress had to cut somewhere and what better place than in poverty? You wouldn't want them to cut the oil depletion allowances, would you?"

"Of course not," Slattery said. "I'm not a fanatic about these things. But I can't help thinking that if the poor people had a rich lobby they would have got all the poverty money they wanted."

"I'm surprised at you, Slattery, for thinking such evil thoughts. Congress never bows to vested interests. I can't recall a single case where a congressman has been influenced by a strong lobby. What kind of representatives do you think we have?"

"I guess you're right," Slattery admitted. "Perhaps they have made life difficult for us because they just don't like us."

"NOW THAT makes more sense. Nobody likes poor people, Slattery. They give people guilt feelings, and frankly, poverty gives the country a bad name. Congress probably feels that by strangling the poverty program this year, they won't have to face up to the problem next year. This would certainly simplify everybody's life."

"Except mine."

"You never look at the big picture. Do you, Slattery?"

"Poor people never do," he said, still nursing the same beer. "I guess that's our hang-up."

"I have an idea, Slattery, though it may seem like a wild one. Why don't poor people start making missiles for defense?"

"What the heck for?"

"Well, once you start making missiles, you could change your name to the Office of Economic Defense, and Congress would give you twice as much money as you need."

VICTOR RIESEL

Reuther Learned Something

DETROIT: — There's a letter in Walter Reuther's files here which reports in part an untold story that will make it as difficult for the "redhead" to continue denouncing labor's big brotherhood as it would be for him to demean motherhood.

Victor Riesel

In a sense this note is part of a vast behind-the-scenes development which may prove that the marathon Ford strike switched the "train of history," as "Walter" would put it, to another track.

The missive, written by a Southern California auto union president, is the first clue to the strikers' ability to stand solid without going hungry. It discloses that in Southern California alone, one labor organization — affiliated with the AFL-CIO so soundly denounced by Reuther — provided thousands of jobs for Ford workers throughout the stoppage.

Written Oct. 23, the note is addressed to "Dear Brother Reuther:"

"This is to inform you that as we approach our sixth week of the strike," it says, "I am pleased to report that our morale is high.

"One of the main reasons for this feeling is the cooperation we are receiving (both financial and moral) from the many international unions in our area.

"Brother Reuther, I would like to give special recognition and appreciation to Tom Randall, president of Maritime Trades Dept., Southern California Port Council. The support and assistance we have received from this organization has been invaluable. They have provided approximately 1,000 temporary jobs per week for our members starting with the first week of our strike and presently continuing at the same rate . . . I remain fraternally yours, Vince Ferragamo, President, Local 923 UAW."

THIS PORT COUNCIL is part of the huge 6 million-member Maritime Trades Dept. led by Seafarer Paul Hall — a specialist in eye-to-eye-balling with Walter Reuther. Hall is a confidente of George Meany and to say that the seafarer and the auto union chief don't like each other is to make a mockery of understatement.

Yet when it came to strike solidarity, Hall opened the hiring halls to the Ford strikers. They were put on as well-paid casuals, as carpenters, electricians and waterfront workers.

And Southern California is but one of the scores of districts everywhere which saw similar fraternal action. No one in labor's high command wanted Reuther to weaken as he was out front sword-brandishing against the foe.

Not all of the 159,000 Ford strikers got second jobs. Some wanted to get into the swing of the hunting season. Some caught up on mending the house. But those who were in grim need were helped by another AFL-CIO apparatus — the federation's Community Services Department. This is a labor social welfare and relief organization second only to the government's. It's skillfully directed by Leo Perlis, who takes no umbrage at my description of him as the nation's best-looking baldheaded man.

The Ford strike was barely 24 hours old when he stamped into his office in the AFL-CIO's national headquarters across the square from the White House. Perlis immediately dispatched two letters. One went to all 46 regional United Auto Workers strike directors.

The other went to his local Community Services headquarters in every locale near a struck Ford plant.

To Reuther's strike directors Perlis wrote:

"THIS IS TO ADVISE YOU that the AFL-CIO will assist you and the local unions in your area in helping with your strike assistance program for the UAW members on strike against the Ford Motor Co. Attached to this letter is a list of all full-time Community Service Representatives. Those in your area will be pleased to work with you and you may feel free to call upon them at any time . . ."

To the Community Services people, Perlis wrote:

"The Community Services Dept. of the AFL-CIO will help develop strike assistance programs for the UAW's local unions on strike against the Ford Motor Co."

Perlis, having conferred with Meany, whom Reuther has flayed time and again, told his people that the national office wanted immediate action. They were directed to help the strikers get surplus food and every other community aid possible.

Thus all the 159,000 Ford strikers were aided by the national labor movement in some fashion.

Furthermore, the UAW's own Community Service officials kept up a running dialogue with Perlis and the AFL-CIO center.

How, therefore, can Reuther now denounce the federation? How can he not come to the AFL-CIO's national convention on Dec. 7 and thank those leaders whose support kept his own people in groceries and cash?

What could he say to his followers, if he walked out of the labor movement and launched one of his own?

Up to this moment he has planned such a historic move. But how can he renounce and denounce brotherhood now?

RAYMOND MOLEY

Inflation Aid

The Committee on Post Office and Civil Service used to be the Committee on Post Office and Post Roads. And so now, instead of looking after the postal service alone, it is the place where pay raises for the entire two million-plus bureaucracy are generated.

The spread of its jurisdiction, however, did not compel the committee to join into one bill increases in postal rates, raises in pay for postal employes and a general hike in compensation for all civil employes of the government except the 2,700 employes of the antipoverty agency.

Brazen political interest prompted that. The consequence is a powerful stimulant to inflation in the economy.

Earlier this year the committee had two bills — one (HR 7977) which incorporated increases in postal rates for all classes of mail and the other (HR 8261) for federal salary increases.

BUT WHILE the President had asked for postal rates that would reduce the Post Office deficit, he was flatly opposed to the pay raises for all employes because the proposed increases were beyond certain guidelines he had specified. So, to avoid a veto of the pay raises, they were included in the postal-rates bill.

This change was made on Sept. 19, and the whole bill was reported two days later. On Oct. 11, the House passed the package. A large majority of both Democrats and Republicans voted for it. And so it goes to the Senate.

In short, the House now passes the buck to the Senate and the President.

While the increases in mail rates are considerable, the raises in pay of postal workers alone will about equal them, and the Post Office will still be running a deficit of about $1 billion.

The general pay raise will amount to $2.6 billion when fully effective, but the inflationary effect of higher postal rates will be reflected in price increases by businesses to match their mailing costs. Thus, it is estimated that the inflationary thrust will be about $3.5 billion.

The congressional demands on the President for cuts in spending before a tax increase is voted seem quite hollow when this action of the House is considered. For it is Congress that is the great barrier against any real reduction in spending.

The postal rate increases are highly discriminatory. First-class rates go up 20 per cent; air mail 25; second-class 21; and third-class 32.

In addition to the 21 per cent on second-class mail, an amendment was added to impose a surcharge on magazines and newspapers that mail more than 500,000 copies.

In the House debate, a great deal was said about "junk" mail, which is a contemptuous characterization of matter posted as third-class mail.

But as some congressmen pointed out, this class of mail is the lifeblood of many small businesses and all periodicals of small circulation, for their major means of selling their product is through direct-mail advertising.

THE SMALLER concerns lack the money to advertise in publications with nationwide circulation. Moreover, they find direct mail far more productive than national advertising in reachin specific people who are prospective customers.

In addition, third-class mail has deferred delivery. This permits the Post Office Department o keep clerks and carriers fully occupied i time that would be idle if only first- and second-class mail were handled.

In fact, it was this department which asked Congress to create bulk third-class to help cover the cost of the service.

Users of third-class claim that under an order to pub ZIP code numbers on their mailings, their costs were increased by $275 million The Post Office already receives revenues of $700 million for third-class mail.

Basis of the discriminatory raise in second- and third-class mail is an accounting system which even the House committee discounted as an accurate measure of how much of the Post Office deficit should be assigned to each class of mail.

No accounting system has yet been devised to allocate costs to each class. The same facilities are used for all.

Thus, the fires of inflation are fed by the very congressmen crying out against the President's spending.

Aw, Come On, Sec. Boyd

Alan S. Boyd, U. S. secretary of transportation, strikes us as a no-nonsense guy with a firm grip on the realities of his job.

But when he says new tire standards issued by the all-seeing federal government are going to be a vital factor in highway safety, we wonder who is writing his official pronouncements.

The day is coming, he is reported as saying in Washington, when "injury and death on the road will largely be the result of human error and not of design and equipment deficiencies."

Death on the road is largely the result of human error now.

Millions of us have been driving autos all our lives without a design or equipment deficiency coming to our attention. Our tire troubles have been so rare we scarcely think of tire trouble as a thing to worry about. Our autos have worked perfectly year in and year out.

What we have worried about, with good cause, are chronic drunks, damfool speeders, dozing truck drivers and Sunday drivers.

We have worried about chronic smashup-causers, fools with no judgment and a special kind of nut that comes loose on superhighways — the self-destructionist hell-bent on destroying himself and taking someone with him.

We have wished and wished again that the element of human error had been expunged from highway records as completely as design and equipment deficiencies.

Doesn't Secretary of Transportation Boyd feel the same way — and if he doesn't what makes him different from millions of the rest of us?

To The Gridders!

The long, bruising football season has ended for area high school gridders and their loyal fans, and the tributes to their accomplishments, whether in the score books or just in personal fortitude in meeting defeat, have begun.

The East Liverpool Potters and the Lisbon Blue Devils have posted the top winning records this season, proudly earning laurels deserved against the competition.

No one but a football player can truly know the hard labor, the gruelling grind of gridiron combat, the stomach-twisting decision to stay in or fake out, the wet-eyed sickness of losing a hard one.

We join in the salute to the Potters, the Blue Devils and all the teams of the area along with a tip of the hat to the coaching staffs, the cheerleaders, band members, officials, the behind-the-scenes administrators and everyone who makes American high school football game the exciting sport it is.

Bundle Of Joy-And Woe

Every hour approximately 250 babies are born in the United States. These small bundles of fresh softness and joy represent collectively one of the gravest problems facing our nation.

At 11 a.m. Nov. 20 the census clock in Washington, D.C., will tick off the arrival of the 200 millionth inhabitant of the United States.

Actually, the 200 millionth resident probably already is alive and kicking since the Census Bureau cannot keep exact tabs on population.

The point is that a few seconds later, the clock will show a population of 200 million and one. Population marches on.

As population increases so do problems in air and water pollution, inadequacy of educational facilities, juvenile delinquency, adult delinquency, urban unrest and a host of others.

Projections show a population of 300 million as early as 1990 and 400 million in the first decade of the 21st century.

The thought of complications besetting society when the population density is doubled brings a shudder to some planners and researchers.

They are not worried about Americans being able to feed themselves but they are worried about the quality of life available to great numbers of citizens.

The trend is toward "metropolitanization." Even greater numbers of people will be congregating in already overcrowded cities which serve as a breeding ground for a multitude of human ills.

Family planning emphasis, new birth control devices and other factors could combine to fool the trendsters and slow down population in future years; but most researchers don't see it that way.

They agree population will grow. They disagree only on the rate of increase.

The great search is on for acceptable ways of stablizing population growth. Success is vital to the nation.

Time is needed desperately to devise means of coping with present problems before they are magnified and coupled with new crises developing from a fantastic growth rate.

Just A Short Note

Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy could get Congress out of an embarrassing position by dropping a short note to Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler.

Mr. Fowler has asked Congress to approve an expenditure of $210,000 to extend Secret Service protection for Mrs. Kennedy and her two children an additional 15 months.

The House has approved the request over the objection of Rep. H. R. Gross of Iowa.

The House was on the spot because it did not want to seem inconsiderate of Mrs. Kennedy's feelings, nor did it want to look like a penny pincher in view of the sacrifice paid by the Kennedy family.

Yet, all the representatives are aware of Mrs. Kennedy's financial position and realize she doesn't need the money.

Now the measure goes before the Senate.

A note from Mrs. Kennedy declining Mr. Fowler's offer prior to the Senate vote might prevent bitter debate.

At least it would keep the senators from having to explain their vote to restless taxpayers who must scrimp to make ends meet.

Letter To The Editor

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

I happened by chance to read the editorial in The Review Nov. 7 pertaining to the raids in Hancock County that weekend. Since I am employed at the Lantern Inn, the place, as you put it "where the action is," I feel a little retaliation is in order!

In the first place our liquor sales are not illegal. We have a valid liquor license and we are checked at regular two - week intervals. Anyone who enjoys his or her favorite drink can be sure they are getting exactly what they pay for.

You also stated: "One West Virginia newspaperman wrote 'pretty girls in mini costumes serve the drinks.' Let's set the record straight. Our girls do not wear costumes of any kind. They wear ordinary street clothes. They all dress very nice and make a nice appearance.

Their hemlines, I dare say are one to two inches longer than the 13 - year - old high school students in your own city are wearing. Take 15 minutes, stroll up to 5th St., and you will see exactly what I'm talking about.

You can be sure that the girls of the Lantern Inn are quite particular about how they appear to others, and that part of their anatomy on which they sit is adequately covered at a all times.

I don't know your sources of information or who this newspaperman is, but were I you, I would certainly check anything you might choose to print as fact.

This statement was a complete untruth and I think he owes the girls at the Inn a public apology in this newspaper.

So Much For Poor People

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON—Some of my best friends are poor. The other day I ran into Slattery, who was nursing a beer in the corner saloon.

"How's it going, Slattery?" I asked him.

"Pretty bad," Slattery said sadly. "This hasn't been a good year for poor people."

"I didn't think any year was good for poor people."

"Oh, we had a couple of good years there when everyone was worried about poor people, and everyone talked about winning the war on poverty and helping people pull themselves up by their bootstraps. But I knew it wouldn't last."

Art Buchwald

"Why not?"

"You just can't seem to sustain interest in poor people over the long run. I read somewhere that the attention span to poor people's problems in Congress was exactly 84 seconds.

"OF COURSE, I don't blame them. They have a lot more things to think about, such as elections and crime in the streets and how much cotton is coming in from Hong Kong. Besides, poor people can't contribute too much to a candidate's campaign, so why should he give them too much time?"

"I think you're exaggerating, Slattery. Why, every congressman I've spoken to says he's interested in poor pepole."

"Yeh, that's why when they gave a raise to all federal employes, they specifically excluded people who worked for the poverty program."

"I'm sure there was nothing personal in that, Slattery. Congress probably felt that people who worked for the poverty program could get along on less money because they knew how poor people lived. Don't forget, Congress had to cut somewhere and what better place than in poverty? You wouldn't want them to cut the oil depletion allowances, would you?"

"Of course not," Slattery said. "I'm not a fanatic about these things. But I can't help thinking that if the poor people had a rich lobby they would have got all the poverty money they wanted."

"I'm surprised at you, Slattery, for thinking such evil thoughts. Congress never bows to vested interests. I can't recall a single case where a congressman has been influenced by a strong lobby. What kind of representatives do you think we have?"

"I guess you're right," Slattery admitted. "Perhaps they have made life difficult for us because they just don't like us."

"NOW THAT makes more sense. Nobody likes poor people, Slattery. They give people guilt feelings, and frankly, poverty gives the country a bad name. Congress probably feels that by strangling the poverty program this year, they won't have to face up to the problem next year. This would certainly simplify everybody's life."

"Except mine."

"You never look at the big picture. Do you, Slattery?"

"Poor people never do," he said, still nursing the same beer. "I guess that's our hang-up."

"I have an idea, Slattery, though it may seem like a wild one. Why don't poor people start making missiles for defense?"

"What the heck for?"

"Well, once you start making missiles, you could change your name to the Office of Economic Defense, and Congress would give you twice as much money as you need."

VICTOR RIESEL

Reuther Learned Something

DETROIT: — There's a letter in Walter Reuther's files here which reports in part an untold story that will make it as difficult for the "redhead" to continue denouncing labor's big brotherhood as it would be for him to demean motherhood.

Victor Riesel

In a sense this note is part of a vast behind-the-scenes development which may prove that the marathon Ford strike switched the "train of history," as "Walter" would put it, to another track.

The missive, written by a Southern California auto union president, is the first clue to the strikers' ability to stand solid without going hungry. It discloses that in Southern California alone, one labor organization — affiliated with the AFL-CIO so soundly denounced by Reuther — provided thousands of jobs for Ford workers throughout the stoppage.

Written Oct. 23, the note is addressed to "Dear Brother Reuther:"

"This is to inform you that as we approach our sixth week of the strike," it says, "I am pleased to report that our morale is high.

"One of the main reasons for this feeling is the cooperation we are receiving (both financial and moral) from the many international unions in our area.

"Brother Reuther, I would like to give special recognition and appreciation to Tom Randall, president of Maritime Trades Dept., Southern California Port Council. The support and assistance we have received from this organization has been invaluable. They have provided approximately 1,000 temporary jobs per week for our members starting with the first week of our strike and presently continuing at the same rate . . . I remain fraternally yours, Vince Ferragamo, President, Local 923 UAW."

THIS PORT COUNCIL is part of the huge 6 million-member Maritime Trades Dept. led by Seafarer Paul Hall — a specialist in eye-to-eye-balling with Walter Reuther. Hall is a confidente of George Meany and to say that the seafarer and the auto union chief don't like each other is to make a mockery of understatement.

Yet when it came to strike solidarity, Hall opened the hiring halls to the Ford strikers. They were put on as well-paid casuals, as carpenters, electricians and waterfront workers.

And Southern California is but one of the scores of districts everywhere which saw similar fraternal action. No one in labor's high command wanted Reuther to weaken as he was out front sword-brandishing against the foe.

Not all of the 159,000 Ford strikers got second jobs. Some wanted to get into the swing of the hunting season. Some caught up on mending the house. But those who were in grim need were helped by another AFL-CIO apparatus — the federation's Community Services Department. This is a labor social welfare and relief organization second only to the government's. It's skillfully directed by Leo Perlis, who takes no umbrage at my description of him as the nation's best-looking baldheaded man.

The Ford strike was barely 24 hours old when he stamped into his office in the AFL-CIO's national headquarters across the square from the White House. Perlis immediately dispatched two letters. One went to all 46 regional United Auto Workers strike directors.

The other went to his local Community Services headquarters in every locale near a struck Ford plant.

To Reuther's strike directors Perlis wrote:

"THIS IS TO ADVISE YOU that the AFL-CIO will assist you and the local unions in your area in helping with your strike assistance program for the UAW members on strike against the Ford Motor Co. Attached to this letter is a list of all full-time Community Service Representatives. Those in your area will be pleased to work with you and you may feel free to call upon them at any time . . ."

To the Community Services people, Perlis wrote:

"The Community Services Dept. of the AFL-CIO will help develop strike assistance programs for the UAW's local unions on strike against the Ford Motor Co."

Perlis, having conferred with Meany, whom Reuther has flayed time and again, told his people that the national office wanted immediate action. They were directed to help the strikers get surplus food and every other community aid possible.

Thus all the 159,000 Ford strikers were aided by the national labor movement in some fashion.

Furthermore, the UAW's own Community Service officials kept up a running dialogue with Perlis and the AFL-CIO center.

How, therefore, can Reuther now denounce the federation? How can he not come to the AFL-CIO's national convention on Dec. 7 and thank those leaders whose support kept his own people in groceries and cash?

What could he say to his followers, if he walked out of the labor movement and launched one of his own?

Up to this moment he has planned such a historic move. But how can he renounce and denounce brotherhood now?

Inflation Aid

The Committee on Post Office and Civil Service used to be the Committee on Post Office and Post Roads. And so now, instead of looking after the postal service alone, it is the place where pay raises for the entire two million-plus bureaucracy are generated.

The spread of its jurisdiction, however, did not compel the committee to join into one bill increases in postal rates, raises in pay for postal employes and a general hike in compensation for all civil employes of the government except the 2,700 employes of the antipoverty agency.

Brazen political interest prompted that. The consequence is a powerful stimulant to inflation in the economy.

Earlier this year the committee had two bills — one (HR 7977) which incorporated increases in postal rates for all classes of mail and the other (HR 8261) for federal salary increases.

BUT WHILE the President had asked for postal rates that would reduce the Post Office deficit, he was flatly opposed to the pay raises for all employes because the proposed increases were beyond certain guidelines he had specified. So, to avoid a veto of the pay raises, they were included in the postal-rates bill.

This change was made on Sept. 19, and the whole bill was reported two days later. On Oct. 11, the House passed the package. A large majority of both Democrats and Republicans voted for it. And so it goes to the Senate.

In short, the House now passes the buck to the Senate and the President.

While the increases in mail rates are considerable, the raises in pay of postal workers alone will about equal them, and the Post Office will still be running a deficit of about $1 billion.

The general pay raise will amount to $2.6 billion when fully effective, but the inflationary effect of higher postal rates will be reflected in price increases by businesses to match their mailing costs. Thus, it is estimated that the inflationary thrust will be about $3.5 billion.

The congressional demands on the President for cuts in spending before a tax increase is voted seem quite hollow when this action of the House is considered. For it is Congress that is the great barrier against any real reduction in spending.

The postal rate increases are highly discriminatory. First-class rates go up 20 per cent; air mail 25; second-class 21; and third-class 32.

In addition to the 21 per cent on second-class mail, an amendment was added to impose a surcharge on magazines and newspapers that mail more than 500,000 copies.

In the House debate, a great deal was said about "junk" mail, which is a contemptuous characterization of matter posted as third-class mail.

But as some congressmen pointed out, this class of mail is the lifeblood of many small businesses and all periodicals of small circulation, for their major means of selling their product is through direct-mail advertising.

THE SMALLER concerns lack the money to advertise in publications with nationwide circulation. Moreover, they find direct mail far more productive than national advertising in reachin specific people who are prospective customers.

In addition, third-class mail has deferred delivery. This permits the Post Office Department o keep clerks and carriers fully occupied i time that would be idle if only first- and second-class mail were handled.

In fact, it was this department which asked Congress to create bulk third-class to help cover the cost of the service.

Users of third-class claim that under an order to pub ZIP code numbers on their mailings, their costs were increased by $275 million The Post Office already receives revenues of $700 million for third-class mail.

Basis of the discriminatory raise in second- and third-class mail is an accounting system which even the House committee discounted as an accurate measure of how much of the Post Office deficit should be assigned to each class of mail.

No accounting system has yet been devised to allocate costs to each class. The same facilities are used for all.

Thus, the fires of inflation are fed by the very congressmen crying out against the President's spending.

Street Holes Aired

Lisbon Council Acts On Request

LISBON — Village Council responded to the request of several visitors Monday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Coleman and Mrs. Paula Russel asked that something be done about Pritchard Ave. which Council had graded, curbed and scheduled for blacktopping early this fall. The blacktopping was postponed until next season.

The visitors complained about the mud which is carried to the sidewalk at McKinley School. Coleman said the street is pitted with deep holes.

Council agreed something must be done and Mayor Dean Stockman promised the street will be graded and slagged this week.

A. J. Smith and Clyde Wilson of the Board of Public Affairs asked Council to authorize the sale of village water at 30 cents per 1,000 gallons to the Community Improvement Corporation.

THIS IS the same rate the village had given Columbiana County commissioners for development of the Lisbon section of the County Water & Sewer District No. 2.

The CIC, which is composed largely of Chamber of Commerce members, says water is needed immediately to attract new industries and proposes to extend the village water line along Route 45 (the Salem Rd.) for about a half mile. The CIC will turn the system over to the county later when the county carries out its plan to build an elevated water tower and pumping station.

CIC officers, Chamber of Commerce members and Jaycees recommended that Council give the CIC the same rate as it had the county, and do all it can to help attract industries.

Council authorized the charge, and also authorized the Board of Public Affairs to retain Stillson Associates of Columbus consulting engineers, to plan for certain work at the sewage treatment plant.

SMITH SAID the state is demanding that the village install a chlorination system to treat the discharge from the treatment plant and have a secondary treatment program in operation by 1972.

Stillson Associates was the engineer when the village built its treatment plant and put in the new interceptor sewer.

Glenn Adams, president, led a group of Jaycees making plans for Christmas. Adams said the annual Christmas parade will be held on E. Lincoln Way from Pritchard Ave. to Beaver St. from 1 to 2 p. m. Nov. 25. Council agreed to close off the parade route and provide police assistance.

At Council's offer to stand all the expense of Christmas lighting, the Jaycees agreed to install and take down the decorations this year as they have done for several years. After last Christmas season, the Jaycees told Council they would no longer take on the project because of a lack of cooperation from other organizations.

Council voted to install three new streetlights — Jerome and Jefferson Sts., E. Lincoln Way across from VFW Post 4111 and at the Community Swimming Pool lot.

Verdict Goes To Defendant

LISBON — A Common Pleas Court jury returned a verdict Monday for John E. Adams of Lisbon RD 1, the defendant in a $20,731 lawsuit stemming from a two-car collision on a snow-covered curve near Gavers.

The jury also allowed Adams $1,275 — the full amount he asked for damages in his cross-petition against Paul P. and Carol Sue Headland of 330 N. Vine Ave., Salem.

Mr. and Mrs. Headland sued Adams for $10,000 each for personal injuries and the Insurance Co. of North America asked $731 for damages to the couple's car.

The plaintiffs said the accident occurred Jan. 22, 1966, on Route 164 about 150 feet north of the Route 518 junction. Headland said he was driving north and that the defendant, traveling south, slid into the northbound lane in front of him. Adams said Headland skidded into the southbound lane.

Judge Raymond S. Buzzard presided for the one-day trial. The jurors were Albert Koenreich and George H. Bell, Salem; Ruby Stanley, Negley; Mary Hollabaugh and Anna M. Berresford, East Palestine; E. A. Hawks Jr., East Rochester; Ray C. Whinery, Lisbon RD 4, and Enoch Siddell, Eli J. Najem, Janice M. Williams, Beulah Malkin and Katherine O'Brien, East Liverpool.

Lisbon School Board To Act On Milk Prices

LISBON — A proposal to raise the price of half pints of milk from three cents to four cents beginning Dec. 1 will be before the Village Board of Education this evening.

The board will meet at 7:30 in the administration building on E. Chestnut St. wth Dr. Wade A. Bacon, president, in charge.

Food Stamps Set New High

LISBON — The federal food stamp program set records during October in Columbiana County, according to Donald P. Hepp, county welfare director.

Over 100 striking steel haulers and 10 or 12 county families affected by a strike at the Ford plant in Canton were in the program last month, reports Wilbur Warren, food stamp program supervisor.

He said 818 families representing 2,583 persons were certified eligible and 750 cases (2,435 people) participated. They bought $23,322 in food stamps and received bonus stamps worth $20,978 for a total of $44,300. Warren said the number of bonus stamps was high because the truck drivers had practically no income.

The unumber of participants and the total value of purchased and free stamps were new highs in the program, Warren said.

The county initiated the federal food stamp program last Dec. 1. Since then, Warren said, participants have spent $209,701 for stamps and have received bonus stamps worth $117,213—a total of $326,914.

"This program not only helps the low income families but the farmers and grocers as well," Warren said.

SALINEVILLE — Council Monday night adopted a resolution approving a mutual aid fire protection agreement with various other departments in Columbiana County.

Village firemen can summon aid from any other volunteer unit that signs the agreement and will send its own equipment to a fire when needed.

Council also adopted a resolution accepting the 1968 tax rates prepared by the Columbiana County Budget Commission. The total is 6 mills, with 2.8 mills inside the 10-mill limitation and 3.2 outside the limitation.

Council discussed street repairs and the street committee was asked to investigate a culvert on North St.

Bills totaling $1,078 were ordered paid. Mayor Stanley Fitch presided.

The next meeting will be Nov. 27.

Delegation Appears Again

Sewage Complaint Aired By Chester Councilmen

An informal meeting with a delegation from the California Ave. area preceded the regular meeting of Chester City Council Monday night and action was to be taken today to prevent sewers from backing into cellars in that area.

The California Ave. delegation had appeared at four previous meetings. Mayor Burton Ward promised to have the water superintendent contact residents in the area for removal of downspouts today. The action is covered by the Public Service Commission rules. The sewers run down Alley O in Chester.

During the regular meeting, Clerk Don Hood reported remittances of $9,986 including $6,000 from the sheriff's office in taxes and $2,000 from liquor taxes. Bills came to $2,188.

Council awarded a contract of $220 to Kinsey Plumbing & Heating of Apples Corners to overhaul a furnace and install new pipes and pressure gauge in the basement of City Hall.

Clyde Samples, representing the Church Basketball League, requested use of the City Hall basketball court for practice. Samples was told of the unsafe condition of the court.

Samples offered to head a work party and Council will attempt to raise funds to resurface the floor.

Percy Willison, chairman of the street commission, announced the city still is gathering leaves residents place in boxes or baskets in front of their homes.

Charles Kology, chairman of the ordinance committee, will contact Solicitor James Jordan to draw up an ordinance to be presented at the next meeting requiring the removal of downspouts from sanitary sewers.

Plans Being Made To Build National Model 'Dream-City'

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Plans are being made to build a kind of national model dream-city in Minnesota—possibly one weatherproofed by plastic domes—an engineer on the government-supported project reports.

Max L. Feldman of the General Electric Co. reported Monday the federal government has already contributed nearly $250,000 to aid private industry planning for the estimated $6 billion, built-from scratch city that would have 250,000 population, and perhaps be built by 1976.

It would differ from all current federal programs in the model-city line—programs, he said, that relate only to improving "pieces of cities" within existing communities, rather than building a brand-new one incorporating the latest technological advances.

He told a science-writers seminar that planning concepts for the new city include such tentative ideas as two-mile diameter domes; multipurpose buildings to include homes, business concerns and recreational facilities; and computerized medical check-up systems.

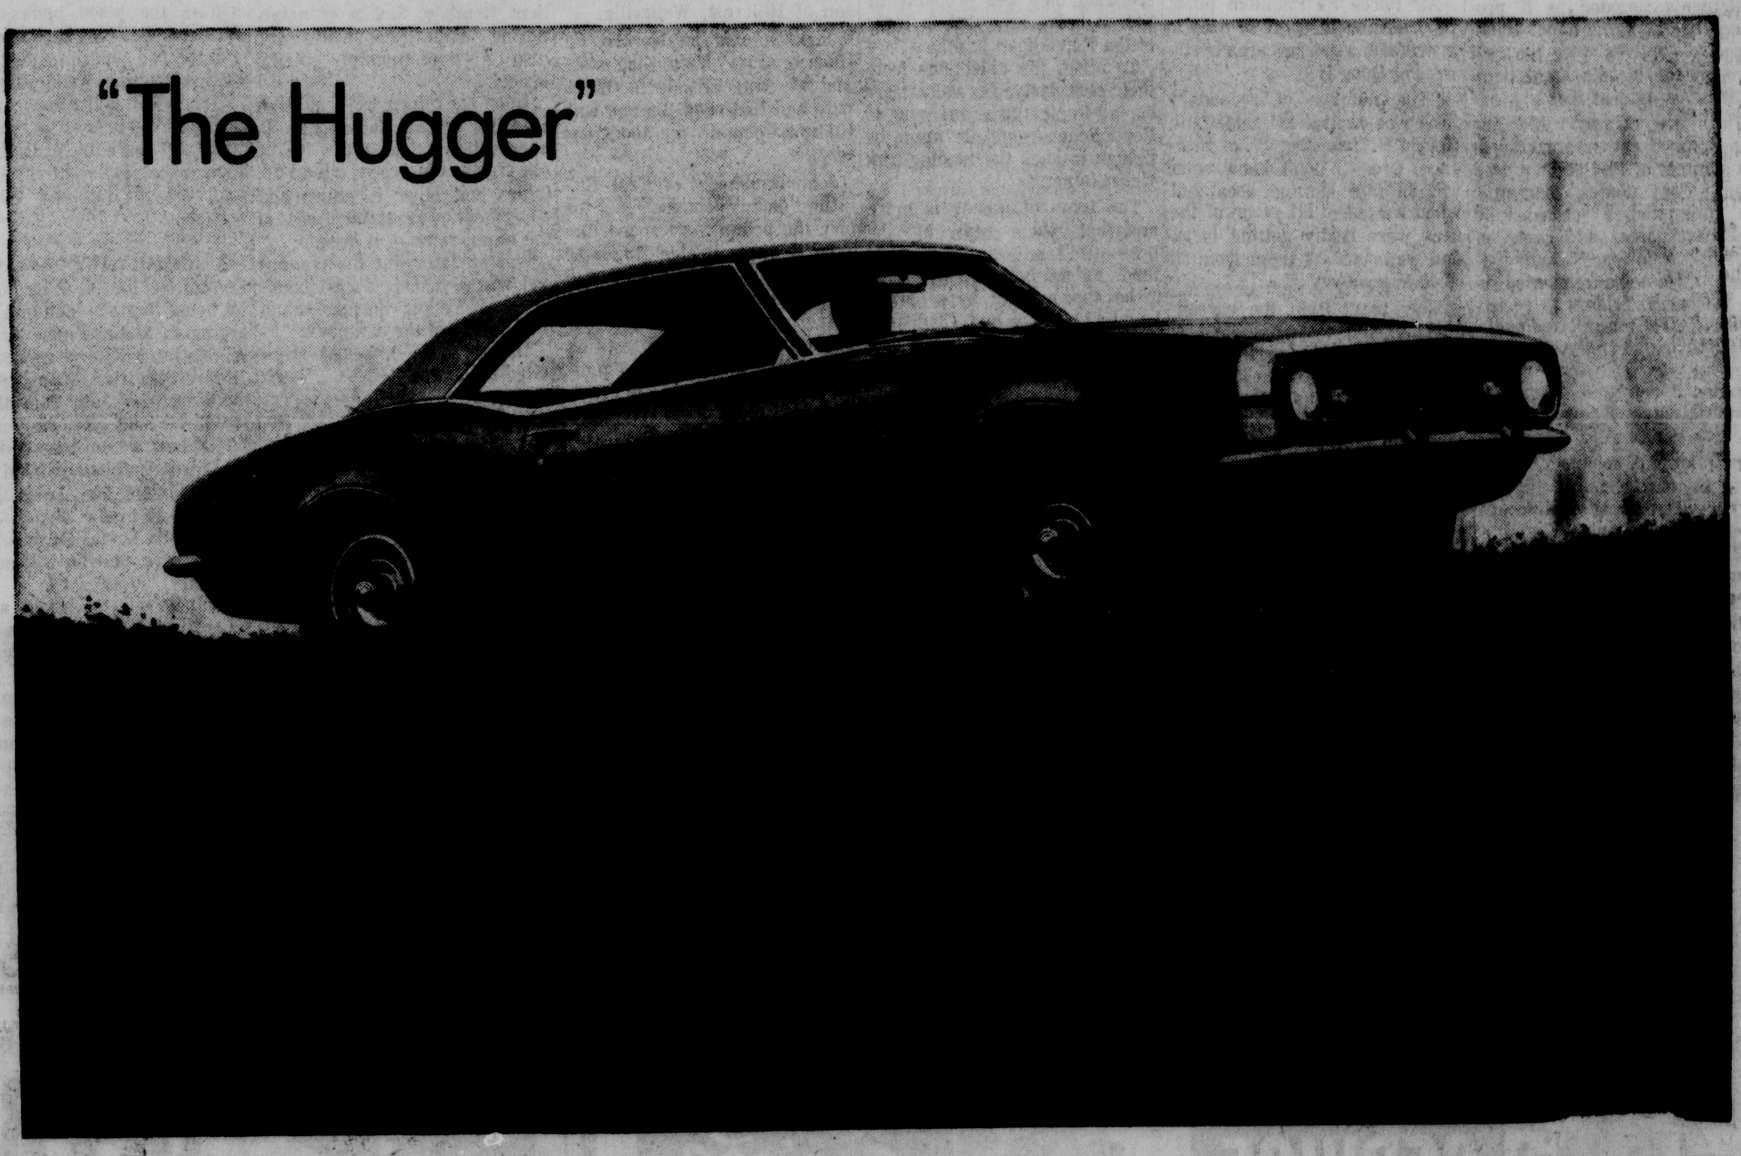

Feldman said that while details are not complete, the objective of the Minnesota model-city would be to build "the most technologically modern city" possible—and to surmount "the gap between technological ability and its application to cities."

Feldman told the fifth annual briefing session on "New Horizons in Science" sponsored by the Council for the Advancement of Science Writing, that a group of Minnesota industrialists and scientists had sparked the new venture.

And he said that Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, former mayor of Minneapolis, has been a prime mover in its support.

Lisbon Council Acts On Request

LISBON — Village Council responded to the request of several visitors Monday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Coleman and Mrs. Paula Russel asked that something be done about Pritchard Ave. which Council had graded, curbed and scheduled for blacktopping early this fall. The blacktopping was postponed until next season.

The visitors complained about the mud which is carried to the sidewalk at McKinley School. Coleman said the street is pitted with deep holes.

Council agreed something must be done and Mayor Dean Stockman promised the street will be graded and slagged this week.

A. J. Smith and Clyde Wilson of the Board of Public Affairs asked Council to authorize the sale of village water at 30 cents per 1,000 gallons to the Community Improvement Corporation.

THIS IS the same rate the village had given Columbiana County commissioners for development of the Lisbon section of the County Water & Sewer District No. 2.

The CIC, which is composed largely of Chamber of Commerce members, says water is needed immediately to attract new industries and proposes to extend the village water line along Route 45 (the Salem Rd.) for about a half mile. The CIC will turn the system over to the county later when the county carries out its plan to build an elevated water tower and pumping station.

CIC officers, Chamber of Commerce members and Jaycees recommended that Council give the CIC the same rate as it had the county, and do all it can to help attract industries.

Council authorized the charge, and also authorized the Board of Public Affairs to retain Stillson Associates of Columbus consulting engineers, to plan for certain work at the sewage treatment plant.

SMITH SAID the state is demanding that the village install a chlorination system to treat the discharge from the treatment plant and have a secondary treatment program in operation by 1972.

Stillson Associates was the engineer when the village built its treatment plant and put in the new interceptor sewer.

Glenn Adams, president, led a group of Jaycees making plans for Christmas. Adams said the annual Christmas parade will be held on E. Lincoln Way from Pritchard Ave. to Beaver St. from 1 to 2 p. m. Nov. 25. Council agreed to close off the parade route and provide police assistance.

At Council's offer to stand all the expense of Christmas lighting, the Jaycees agreed to install and take down the decorations this year as they have done for several years. After last Christmas season, the Jaycees told Council they would no longer take on the project because of a lack of cooperation from other organizations.

Council voted to install three new streetlights — Jerome and Jefferson Sts., E. Lincoln Way across from VFW Post 4111 and at the Community Swimming Pool lot.

Delegation Appears Again

Sewage Complaint Aired By Chester Councilmen

An informal meeting with a delegation from the California Ave. area preceded the regular meeting of Chester City Council Monday night and action was to be taken today to prevent sewers from backing into cellars in that area.

The California Ave. delegation had appeared at four previous meetings. Mayor Burton Ward promised to have the water superintendent contact residents in the area for removal of downspouts today. The action is covered by the Public Service Commission rules. The sewers run down Alley O in Chester.

During the regular meeting, Clerk Don Hood reported remittances of $9,988 including $6,000 from the sheriff's office in taxes and $2,000 from liquor taxes. Bills came to $2,188.

Council awarded a contract of $220 to Kinsey Plumbing & Heating of Apples Corners to overhaul a furnace and install new pipes and pressure gauge in the basement of City Hall.

Clyde Samples, representing the Church Basketball League, requested use of the City Hall basketball court for practice. Samples was told of the unsafe condition of the court.

Samples offered to head a work party and Council will attempt to raise funds to resurface the floor.

Percy Willison, chairman of the street commission, announced the city still is gathering leaves residents place in boxes or baskets in front of their homes.

Charles Kology, chairman of the ordinance committee, will contact Solicitor James Jordan to draw up an ordinance to be presented at the next meeting requiring the removal of downspouts from sanitary sewers.

Verdict Goes To Defendant

LISBON — A Common Pleas Court jury returned a verdict Monday for John E. Adams of Lisbon RD 1, the defendant in a $20,731 lawsuit stemming from a two-car collision on a snow-covered curve near Gavers.

The jury also allowed Adams $1,275 — the full amount he asked for damages in his cross-petition against Paul P. and Carol Sue Headland of 330 N. Vine Ave., Salem.

Mr. and Mrs. Headland sued Adams for $10,000 each for personal injuries and the Insurance Co. of North America asked $731 for damages to the couple's car.

The plaintiffs said the accident occurred Jan. 22, 1966, on Route 164 about 150 feet north of the Route 518 junction. Headland said he was driving north and that the defendant, traveling south, slid into the northbound lane in front of him. Adams said Headland skidded into the southbound lane.

Judge Raymond S. Buzzard presided for the one-day trial. The jurors were Albert Koenreich and George H. Bell, Salem; Ruby Stanley, Negley; Mary Hollabaugh and Anna M. Berresford, East Palestine; E. A. Hawks Jr., East Rochester; Ray C. Whinery, Lisbon RD 4, and Enoch Siddell, Eli J. Najem, Janice M. Williams, Beulah Malkin and Katherine O'Brien, East Liverpool.

Food Stamps Set New High

LISBON — The federal food stamp program set records during October in Columbiana County, according to Donald P. Hepp, county welfare director.

Over 100 striking steel haulers and 10 or 12 county families affected by a strike at the Ford plant in Canton were in the program last month, reports Wilbur Warren, food stamp program supervisor.

He said 818 families representing 2,583 persons were certified eligible and 750 cases (2,435 people) participated. They bought $23,322 in food stamps and received bonus stamps worth $20,978 for a total of $44,300. Warren said the number of bonus stamps was high because the truck drivers had practically no income.

The unumber of participants and the total value of purchased and free stamps were new highs in the program, Warren said.

The county initiated the federal food stamp program last Dec. 1. Since then, Warren said, participants have spent $209,701 for stamps and have received bonus stamps worth $117,213—a total of $326,914.

"This program not only helps the low income families but the farmers and grocers as well," Warren said.

Council also adopted a resolution accepting the 1968 tax rates prepared by the Columbiana County Budget Commission. The total is 6 mills, with 2.8 mills inside the 10-mill limitation and 3.2 outside the limitation.

Council discussed street repairs and the street committee was asked to investigate a culvert on North St.

Bills totaling $1,078 were ordered paid. Mayor Stanley Fitch presided.

The next meeting will be Nov. 27.

Viet Cong in the South that it "set up a court to try and appropriately punish those American pilots who owe blood debts to our people."

For about a week in that period Hanoi broadcast alleged depositions of U.S. prisoners condemning the U.S. government and "begging forgiveness." The statements sounded as if produced by the same hand. Hanoi reported captives were paraded through the streets amid demonstrations against them.

The "war crimes trial" line was dropped rather abruptly in the summer of 1966 and not used again. For months thereafter the Communists occasionally broadcast names and ranks of captive Americans and, at times, statements attributed to the prisoners. Seldom in recent months have these statements gone beyond expressing surprise at the effectiveness of Communist defenses or matter-of-fact accounts of how the prisoner was captured.

The release of selected American prisoners instead of threats of reprisals against captives in general could mean the Communists think they might catch more flies with sugar than with vinegar.

The tactic could be aimed at giving certain antiwar elements in the United States a sense of accomplishment, and thus hold the promise of building additional pressure against the Johnson administration's war policy.

Marine headquarters in Da Nang said they did noe rule out that possibility.

The flareup of fighting along the coastal lowlands coincided with a lull around Dak To, in the central highlands, after two weeks of hard battling there. Only occasional sniper and mortar fire were reported this morning after a fierce battle late Monday in which 10 paratroopers of the U.S. 173rd Airborne Brigade were reported killed and another 33 wounded.

Eight-engine B52 bombers pounded suspected Red positions 16 miles southwest of Dak To, dropping 150,000 pounds of bombs on a suspected base camp and staging area.

The U.S. helicopters came under heavy machine-gun and small arms fire Monday while lifting 450 men of the 1st Air Cavalry Division into a battle area 15 miles west of the provincial capital of Tam Ky. The U.S. Command said fighting tapered off after six hours with four Americans killed and 19 wounded. Communist casualties were not known.

Less than 25 miles to the south of the coastal lowlands, U.S. paratroopers of the 101st Airborne Division reported killing 20 Communist troops in a series of scattered clashes while suffering no casualties. The U.S. Army said 10 of the enemy dead were North Vietnamese Army regulars wearing new green uniforms, indicating they might have recently come south.

No major ground fighting was reported elsewhere.

The northeast monsoon weather once again cut heavily into U.S. air strikes against North Vietnam limiting U.S. planes to targets in the southern half of the country and 93 missions.

Air Force F4 Phantom pilots reported touching off 40 fires in a strike on a storage area northwest of Dong Hoi.

"The number of secondary fires was fantastic," said Capt. Gerald B. Johnston, 29, of Florence, Ore. "I don't know what was in that storage area, but when we pulled off seven of the fires were really getting large and we could see them from 20 or 30 miles away."

Navy fliers from the carrier Intrepid said they damaged a boat yard 31 miles northeast of Vinh and a radar tower 40 miles south of Thanh Hao. Other Navy pilots said they destroyed or damaged 22 junks and barges along North Vietnam's coast.

There was no report of North Vietnamese casualties in the fighting at Dak To Monday night, but the two-week toll there rose to 162 Americans and at least 635 Communists killed, by U.S. count, and 545 Americans wounded.

The total project is set at $62,-880, with the federal share set at $52,920.

the GOP leadership for support of the amendment cutting the spending authorization by $660 million, Republicans from New York, New England, Michigan and Ohio opposed it. The vote was taken by counting members and no roll call was taken of individual votes.

Before the House takes final action on the bill, probably late Wednesday, the Republicans will have another chance to cut the money. Then it will be on the record with a roll call and the result could be different.

If so it will be because Southern Democrats will feel compelled to vote for what they regard as an economy measure.

The absence of the Southerners Monday was in accord with an informal agreement reached with the bill's backers to refrain from helping the Republicans with their amendments.

But on a roll call to reduce spending they will probably insist on being recorded in favor of the Republican position.

To offset the defections from their own party, Democrats are hoping to pick up as many as 40 Republicans and it may be enough to keep the funding provision intact.

The issue of money is more apparent than real in the present bill, anyway. The actual funds for the program will have to be appropriated by separate legislation and Chairman George H. Mahon of the House Appropriations Committee has already announced he will go no higher than $1.6 billion.

an hour before. This was in a field, near the party area, where he struck a tree while trying to reach a woods out of sight of police officers who had been called to the scene by property owners.

Jackson said he had learned the party was on private property and he did not want to be arrested.

The defense suggested the steering mechanism was damaged in the first accident without the driver's knowledge and this caused the second crash against rocks and a tree on Grimms Bridge Rd. about four-tenths of a mile below the bridge.

During cross examination, Jackson said the car, after the first accident, "didn't feel like it did before: I imagine you could say it felt like it was out of line." Another time he said "something was not right with the steering."

PRIMM TOLD the jury the impaired steering defense is no defense at all because Jackson had knowledge something was wrong. "Please listen to the court's charge on that point," he said.

Jackson estimated his speed at approximately 35 miles per hour. He said he was practically around the curve and the car began to skid as he tried to straighten the wheels. He said he did not think his speed excessive. He said he heard no one shout at him from cottages along the road and shouted at no one in return.

A defense witness yesterday was Robert Johnson of 846 Grandview Ave., a Wellsville garageman, who said the Volkswagen was owned by Dean Hudson of Hillcrest, Wellsville.

Jackson said he worked for Hudson at the Valu King store and at Super Foods in Wellsville and had used the car with Hudson's consent for about two months.

John Bauknecht of East Palestine, defense counsel, told the jury the prima facie speed limit on Grimms Bridge Rd. is 60 miles per hour in daytime and 50 mph at night. The exact time of the accident is indefinite but an ambulance driver testified he received a call about 7 p.m. All the witnesses said the crash occurred before dark.

91 Arrested In Rioting At Central State

WILBERFORCE, Ohio (AP) — Students threw stones, bottles, furniture and other objects in a riot that ended today with 91 arrests as police and National Guardsmen patroled the predominantly Negro Central State University campus.

At least 10 Ohio highway patrolmen and sheriff's deputies were injured, mostly by thrown objects, authorities said. Most of the injuries were minor, but one patrolman suffered a broken leg.

The Greene County sheriff's office said between 300 and 400 students were involved. Several of those arrested also complained of injuries.

About 600 National Guardsmen moved into the area Monday night to help put down the riot. About half moved onto the campus and the others were on standby at the county fairgrounds four miles away.

Capt. Dwight Carey of the highway patrol said classes would be held today but that no other student congregations would be permitted.

Several fires, most of them minor, were reported on and off the campus. The display window was shot out of a furniture store two miles from campus and a fire caused damage to a grocery at Xenia, four miles from the campus. The highway patrol reported 12 of its patrol cars and three sheriff's cars damaged.

The disturbance started at midmorning Monday along with the return to the campus of an expelled student, Michael Warren, 23, of Cleveland.

He had been ordered off the campus last week after allegedly threatening harm to President Rembert Stokes of neighboring Wilberforce University, also a predominantly Negro school.

Upon his return, several other students quickly joined him in barricading themselves in a classroom. Classroom chairs, tables and other furniture and equipment was thrown out of the room, some of it broken.

Warren later left the campus and was arrested several hours later at Yellow Springs, eight miles north of the campus.

All of those arrested were jailed in Xenia.

Edison Fills Post Of Clerk

Mrs. Kathryn Hoyman of Richmond was appointed clerk of the Board of Education of the newly - formed Edison School District at a meeting Monday night at the Jefferson Union High School.

The new district includes the former Stanton Local, Jefferson Union and Springfield Local districts.

Mrs. Hoyman, named to a two - year probationary period to the post, had previously served as a clerk in Jefferson Union.

The board last night agreed to advertise for bids for three new school buses. Specifications will be prepared, Supt. C. P. Henderson said.

Discussion was held on policies for the new district, including use of buildings, rentals and other matters, and details will be worked out at future meetings.

Among policies adopted last night was a requirement of two days' notice with the superintendent of any items to be placed on the agenda of a meeting.

The board authorized plans to obtain an assistant principal at the Jefferson Union High School.

The next meeting will be Dec. 11.

Viet Cong in the South that it "set up a court to try and appropriately punish those American pilots who owe blood debts to our people."

For about a week in that period Hanoi broadcast alleged depositions of U.S. prisoners condemning the U.S. government and "begging forgiveness." The statements sounded as if produced by the same hand. Hanoi reported captives were paraded through the streets amid demonstrations against them.

The "war crimes trial" line was dropped rather abruptly in the summer of 1966 and not used again. For months thereafter the Communists occasionally broadcast names and ranks of captive Americans and, at times, statements attributed to the prisoners. Seldom in recent months have these statements gone beyond expressing surprise at the effectiveness of Communist defenses or matter-of-fact accounts of how the prisoner was captured.

The release of selected American prisoners instead of threats of reprisals against captives in general could mean the Communists think they might catch more flies with sugar than with vinegar.

The tactic could be aimed at giving certain antiwar elements in the United States a sense of accomplishment, and thus hold the promise of building additional pressure against the Johnson administration's war policy.

Marine headquarters in Da Nang said they did noe rule out that possibility.

The flareup of fighting along the coastal lowlands coincided with a lull around Dak To, in the central highlands, after two weeks of hard battling there. Only occasional sniper and mortar fire were reported this morning after a fierce battle late Monday in which 10 paratroopers of the U.S. 173rd Airborne Brigade were reported killed and another 33 wounded.

Eight-engine B52 bombers pounded suspected Red positions 16 miles southwest of Dak To, dropping 150,000 pounds of bombs on a suspected base camp and staging area.

The U.S. helicopters came under heavy machine-gun and small arms fire Monday while lifting 450 men of the 1st Air Cavalry Division into a battle area 15 miles west of the provincial capital of Tam Ky. The U.S. Command said fighting tapered off after six hours with four Americans killed and 19 wounded. Communist casualties were not known.

Less than 25 miles to the south of the coastal lowlands, U.S. paratroopers of the 101st Airborne Division reported killing 20 Communist troops in a series of scattered clashes while suffering no casualties. The U.S. Army said 10 of the enemy dead were North Vietnamese Army regulars wearing new green uniforms, indicating they might have recently come south.

No major ground fighting was reported elsewhere.

The northeast monsoon weather once again cut heavily into U.S. air strikes against North Vietnam limiting U.S. planes to targets in the southern half of the country and 93 missions.

Air Force F4 Phantom pilots reported touching off 40 fires in a strike on a storage area northwest of Dong Hoi.

"The number of secondary fires was fantastic," said Capt. Gerald B. Johnston, 29, of Florence, Ore. "I don't know what was in that storage area, but when we pulled off seven of the fires were really getting large and we could see them from 20 or 30 miles away."

Navy fliers from the carrier Intrepid said they damaged a boat yard 31 miles northeast of Vinh and a radar tower 40 miles south of Thanh Hao. Other Navy pilots said they destroyed or damaged 22 junks and barges along North Vietnam's coast.

There was no report of North Vietnamese casualties in the fighting at Dak To Monday night, but the two-week toll there rose to 102 Americans and at least 635 Communists killed, by U.S. count, and 545 Americans wounded.

Funds OK'd For County's Youth Corps

Rep. Wayne L. Hays today announced the federal government's approval of funds for Neighborhood Youth Corps projects under the Columbiana County Community Action Committee.

Rep. Hays, 18th District congressman, said he had been advised by the Secretary of Labor of the approval of the projects which will include 60 in-school students and 50 in a summer program.

The total project is set at $62,890, with the federal share set at $52,920.

the GOP leadership for support of the amendment cutting the spending authorization by $660 million, Republicans from New York, New England, Michigan and Ohio opposed it. The vote was taken by counting members and no roll call was taken of individual votes.

Before the House takes final action on the bill, probably late Wednesday, the Republicans will have another chance to cut the money. Then it will be on the record with a roll call and the result could be different.

If so it will be because Southern Democrats will feel compelled to vote for what they regard as an economy measure.

The absence of the Southerners Monday was in accord with an informal agreement reached with the bill's backers to refrain from helping the Republicans with their amendments.

But on a roll call to reduce spending they will probably insist on being recorded in favor of the Republican position.

To offset the defections from their own party, Democrats are hoping to pick up as many as 40 Republicans and it may be enough to keep the funding provision intact.

The issue of money is more apparent than real in the present bill, anyway. The actual funds for the program will have to be appropriated by separate legislation and Chairman George H. Mahon of the House Appropriations Committee has already announced he will go no higher than $1.6 billion.

an hour before. This was in a field, near the party area, where he struck a tree while trying to reach a woods out of sight of police officers who had been called to the scene by property owners.

Jackson said he had learned the party was on private property and he did not want to be arrested.

The defense suggested the steering mechanism was damaged in the first accident without the driver's knowledge and this caused the second crash against rocks and a tree on Grimms Bridge Rd. about fourtenths of a mile below the bridge.

During cross examination, Jackson said the car, after the first accident, "didn't feel like it did before: I imagine you could say it felt like it was out of line." Another time he said "something was not right with the steering."

PRIMM TOLD the jury the impaired steering defense is no defense at all because Jackson had knowledge something was wrong. "Please listen to the court's charge on that point," he said.

Jackson estimated his speed at approximately 35 miles per hour. He said he was practically around the curve and the car began to skid as he tried to straighten the wheels. He said he did not think his speed excessive. He said he heard no one shout at him from cottages along the road and shouted at no one in return.

A defense witness yesterday was Robert Johnson of 846 Grandview Ave., a Wellsville garageman, who said the Volkswagen was owned by Dean Hudson of Hillcrest, Wellsville.

Jackson said he worked for Hudson at the Valu King store and at Super Foods in Wellsville and had used the car with Hudson's consent for about two months.

John Bauknecht of East Palestine, defense counsel, told the jury the prima facie speed limit on Grimms Bridge Rd. is 60 miles per hour in daytime and 50 mph at night. The exact time of the accident is indefinite but an ambulance driver testified he received a call about 7 p.m. All the witnesses said the crash occurred before dark.

An inventory of Hauck's will was filed Monday in Hamilton County Probate Court. The 73-year-old businessman died Sept. 25.

91 Arrested In Rioting At Central State

WILBERFORCE, Ohio (AP) — Students threw stones, bottles, furniture and other objects in a riot that ended today with 91 arrests as police and National Guardsmen patroled the predominantly Negro Central State University campus.

At least 10 Ohio highway patrolmen and sheriff's deputies were injured, mostly by thrown objects, authorities said. Most of the injuries were minor, but one patrolman suffered a broken leg.

The Greene County sheriff's office said between 300 and 400 students were involved. Several of those arrested also complained of injuries.

About 600 National Guardsmen moved into the area Monday night to help put down the riot. About half moved onto the campus and the others were on standby at the county fairgrounds four miles away.

Capt. Dwight Carey of the highway patrol said classes would be held today but that no other student congregations would be permitted.

Several fires, most of them minor, were reported on and off the campus. The display window was shot out of a furniture store two miles from campus and a fire caused damage to a grocery at Xenia, four miles from the campus. The highway patrol reported 12 of its patrol cars and three sheriff's cars damaged.

The disturbance started at midmorning Monday along with the return to the campus of an expelled student, Michael Warren, 23, of Cleveland.

He had been ordered off the campus last week after allegedly threatening harm to President Rembert Stokes of neighboring Wilberforce University, also a predominantly Negro school.

Upon his return, several other students quickly joined him in barricading themselves in a classroom. Classroom chairs, tables and other furniture and equipment was thrown out of the room, some of it broken.

Warren later left the campus and was arrested several hours later at Yellow Springs, eight miles north of the campus.

All of those arrested were jailed in Xenia.

Noted Pianist Dies

LONDON (AP) — Harriet Cohen, internationally known concert pianist acclaimed at the height of her career as the greatest living interpreter of Bach, died Monday. Miss Cohen, who would have been 66 on Dec. 2, had been ill for a short time. Before failing eyesight forced her to give up her career eight years ago, she had represented England at music festivals in Washington and Chicago as well as in France, Germany and Austria.

Henderson suggested a meeting with Council to discuss improving the lighting in front of the school. He said the type of lights would remain the same as they go with the design of the school.

Rosatone reported on custodian work schedules and the rewiring of the machine shop. He said Pentz Radio Co. is going to check the P.A. system in the new gym in preparation for the basketball games. He also reported the Peoples Gas Co. has checked the boilers at Fourth Street School.

Rey Peduzzi, Midland Education Association president, was given permission to attend the annual meeting of the P.S.E.A. convention in Harrisburg on Dec. 6-8.

Taft was trying to make up his mind about asking for a recount while Stokes was taking the oath of office.

It was reported that money to finance a recount was available. A candidate seeking a recount must put up $10 for each precinct he wants checked but gets the money back if there is a change of more than 4 per cent either way.

In his inaugural address, Stokes pledged to:

—Make periodic reports to the public on the city's financial condition.

—Economize in government, yet avoid "foolish false economy."

He also said he wanted to make it "crystal clear that I intend to serve the best interests of all the people without fear or favoritism."

Following the inauguration, Stokes turned to his 75-year-old mother, who shed a few tears during the ceremony, and said:

"Okay, baby, we're going to send you home. I'm going to work."

A few hours later, Stokes said at his first news conference as mayor that he would seek an appointment with President Johnson and ask his help in releasing urban renewal funds for Cleveland. He said he also would seek the President's assistance in getting emergency funds for urban aid.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Several months ago I read a letter in your column from a 16-year-old girl who signed herself "Sour Sixteen." She said she hated her father because he was a drunk and embarrassed her in front of friends. It took until now to get up the courage to answer her. I hope you'll print my reply:

"Dear Sour Sixteen: I'm sorry for you, but not because your father has caused you embarrassment. I'm sorry because you are filled with hate and bitterness. This will cause you more harm than anything your father could do or say.

"I'm also 16. My father died last year from a liver disease. He was an alcoholic as far back as I can remember. My father said and did some disgraceful things, too, but he never disgraced me, poor man, only himself. And I know, too, that after he sobered up he was miserable and ashamed.

"Now that my father is gone I remember the few kind and thoughtful things he did for me. There are so many little things that you don't notice but once they are gone you'll miss them.

"I'm sad knowing that when I marry I will not walk down the aisle on my father's arm. I'm sad, too, knowing that my father will not be here to see me become the woman I will some day be.

"Please give your father a kiss for me because I cherish the memory of the few kisses my own father gave me and I'll never know them again. — ALSO SIXTEEN."

-:-

Dear Friend: You speak of the woman you will some day be. You are already more of a woman than many who are three times your age. Such compassion and insight is rare at any age. I salute you.

Misses Home Cooking

Dear Ann: For those married men who have gotten themselves messed up with another woman I would like to relate this little incident:

I work in a restaurant and meet all kinds of people. This rather attractive but depressed-looking man came in at 8 a.m. for breakfast. I knew him and I knew his history. He was married but living apart from his wife and three nice kids. The reason: a bottle blonde who works in his office.

This particular morning he sat down at a corner table and with sort of a catch in his voice said, "I'd like a glass of warm orange juice, two slices of burned toast, two cold fried eggs, and a cup of warmed-over coffee. Add please sit down and nag me. I'm homesick." — MR. B.

Dear Mr. B.: Why didn't you tell him to go home and get the real thing? I'll bet his wife and kids would be happy to see him.

Supporting Role

Dear Ann: I'm a girl 15 and have been bugged by something for the last three years. My girl friend has the same problem, only not as bad.

I do baby sitting and save my money to buy gifts and things I really need. Three times since January my mother has asked me to lend her money (the last time it was $6). She promised she'd pay it back by Saturday.

Well, that was three Saturdays ago and I still don't have my money. This morning when I reminded her again she mumbled something about a light bill. Now I'm sure she'll never repay the $6, just as she didn't repay the $4 and the $7.

Is there a solution? Please come up with something. — NEW MEXICO.

Dear New: Bank your money instead of letting it lie around the house.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Baronzzi Talks To Radio Group

Jospeh Baronzzi, Lisbon attorney and former assistant county prosecutor, was a guest speaker when the Borderline React Group met Sunday in the Civil Defense Office at Lisbon.

About 33 were present. Okie Taylor is president. Baronzzi spoke on citizenship and what it means. He said, that after looking at many books for a definition of the term, he found the best in the Boy Scout handbook. He related the responsibilities of Citizen Band groups in emergencies. A question and answer period followed.

Miss Jane Smith was acting secretary in the absence of Mrs. Bonnie Schroader.

Taylor said that due to the lateness of the year, half-year dues will be accepted instead of 12-month dues. He said that copies of the revised by - laws should be ready by the next meeting, Dec. 10 at 7 p.m. in the Civil Defense office. He closed the meeting with a brief speech on the responsibilities of a citizen band operator in an emergency. Refreshments were served.

Man Fined And Jailed In Drunk Driving Case

A city motorist was fined and sentenced to jail on a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol at a hearing today before Municipal Judge Samuel Chertoff.

Don V. Ratliff, 40, of Shadyside Ave. pleaded guilty to the charge filed by State Highway Patrolman J. F. Cusick. Ratliff was arrested Monday at 5 p. m. on Route 7. He was fined $200 and costs and sentenced to five days in the Columbiana County Jail at Lisbon. The court also suspended his driver's license for 90 days.

Two other motorists forfeited bonds of $17.50 each when they failed to appear. They were George R. Wallace of Toronto and Ronald F. Pascoe of Bridgeville, Pa., both charged with speeding. They were cited Monday by the highway patrol.

3 More Killed In Philippines' Election Strife

MANILA (AP) — Political killings took three more lives today as about 80 per cent of the Philippines' 8 million voters went to the polls in one of the nation's most bitterly contested elections. Four persons were slain on the eve of the balloting.

The new violence raised to 54 the number of politically motivated deaths officially recorded this year. Thirty-three were counted in the last nationwide election two years ago.

Although there appeared to be no widespread terrorism, some 25,000 troops were on the alert.

Eight of the 24 Senate seats were at stake, and President Ferdinand Marcos' Nacionalista party had to win at least six of the contests to avoid a setback to his re-election chances in 1969. If the opposition Liberals gained control of the upper house, they could block the economic legislation Marcos hopes will help get him back in office.

Marcos' pro-Western foreign policy, including the sending of 2,000 troops to the Vietnam war, was not an issue. Debate centered around domestic programs.

Besides the Senate seats, 65 governorships and almost 14,000 provincial and municiqal offices were to be decided.

Compromise Bill Puts Muscle In Pollution Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) A compromise bill intended to put more muscle and money into the federal fight against air pollution is before both houses of Congress.

A Senate-House conference committee reached agreement Monday on the $428 million measure and Rep. Harley O. Staggers, D-W. Va., head of the House delegation, said final action in his chamber could come today.

The money figure matched that in a House bill but was $272 million less than approved earlier by the Senate. But Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, chief sponsor of the measure, called the compromise version effective.

The conference bill would empower the secretary of health, education and welfare to seek court injunctions against pollution whenever he finds it presents a serious health danger.

The measure also earmarks $125 million for a two-year research program aimed at finding ways to extract pollutants from fuels.

County Action Still Pending In Court Jobs

LISBON — County commissioners have not decided who will supervise administration of the new small claims division in the three county courts.

The state law setting up the small claims section becomes effective Nov. 21.

Clerk of Courts Carl L. Stacey, who has been in charge of the county courts at Lisbon, Salame and East Palestine for several years, said Commissioners James W. Boyd and Charles J. Gause told him last Thursday they intend to take over the county courts.

Boyd said the commissioners want only to appoint whatever personnel is necessary to operate the small claims division, and have no intention of disturbing the clerk of courts' personnel. Stacey has two clerks in each court plus three men who take bonds at night in Southwest Court at Lisbon, open all the time.

At the end of the commissioners' meeting Monday, Boyd and Gause said they had taken no action. They said they may have a decision Thursday — the next meeting date. Gause said he thinks the judges of the county courts should have some say as to the personnel.

Several weeks ago, Stacey received the commissioners' authorization to proceed with lining up personnel for the small claims work. He ordered supplies and interviewed several girls.

He says the commissioners' action is political and for patronage. Stacey is a Democrat and Boyd and Gause are Republicans. R. Max Gard, the Democrat commissioner, said he will oppose any motion for the commissioners to take over the county courts.

Moratorium Set On W. Va. Fire Insurance Hikes

CHARLESTON (AP) — A one-year moratorium on residential fire insurance rate increases has been declared in West Virginia because of inadequate fire hydrant pressure.

Del. Lewis N. McManus, D-Raleigh, chairman of a legislative subcommittee on insurance rates, said Monday the agreement was worked out between state insurance commissioner Frank Montgomery and the West Virginia Rating Bureau.

Several weeks ago the cities of Morgantown and Fairmont complained about rate increases because of substandard fire hydrant pressure. Both cities say they will try to bring hydrant pressure up to required standards during the moratorium.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Several months ago I read a letter in your column from a 16-year-old girl who signed herself "Sour Sixteen." She said she hated her father because he was a drunk and embarrassed her in front of friends. It took until now to get up the courage to answer her. I hope you'll print my reply:

"Dear Sour Sixteen: I'm sorry for you, but not because your father has caused you embarrassment. I'm sorry because you are filled with hate and bitterness. This will cause you more harm than anything your father could do or say.

"I'm also 16. My father died last year from a liver disease. He was an alcoholic as far back as I can remember. My father said and did some disgraceful things, too, but he never disgraced me, poor man, only himself. And I know, too, that after he sobered up he was miserable and ashamed.

"Now that my father is gone I remember the few kind and thoughtful things he did for me. There are so many little things that you don't notice but once they are gone you'll miss them.

"I'm sad knowing that when I marry I will not walk down the aisle on my father's arm. I'm sad, too, knowing that my father will not be here to see me become the woman I will some day be.

"Please give your father a kiss for me because I cherish the memory of the few kisses my own father gave me and I'll never know them again. — ALSO SIXTEEN."

-:-

Dear Friend: You speak of the woman you will some day be. You are already more of a woman than many who are three times your age. Such compassion and insight is rare at any age. I salute you.

Misses Home Cooking

Dear Ann: For those married men who have gotten themselves messed up with another woman I would like to relate this little incident:

I work in a restaurant and meet all kinds of people. This rather attractive but depressed-looking man came in at 8 a.m. for breakfast. I knew him and I knew his history. He was married but living apart from his wife and three nice kids. The reason: a bottle blonde who works in his office.

This particular morning he sat down at a corner table and with sort of a catch in his voice said, "I'd like a glass of warm orange juice, two slices of burned toast, two cold fried eggs, and a cup of warmed-over coffee. Add please sit down and nag me. I'm homesick." — MR. B.

Dear Mr. B.: Why didn't you tell him to go home and get the real thing? I'll bet his wife and kids would be happy to see him.

Supporting Role

Dear Ann: I'm a girl 15 and have been bugged by something for the last three years. My girl friend has the same problem, only not as bad.

I do baby sitting and save my money to buy gifts and things I really need. Three times since January my mother has asked me to lend her money (the last time it was $6). She promised she'd pay it back by Saturday.

Well, that was three Saturdays ago and I still don't have my money. This morning when I reminded her again she mumbled something about a light bill. Now I'm sure she'll never repay the $6, just as she didn't repay the $4 and the $7.

Is there a solution? Please come up with something. — NEW MEXICO.

Dear New: Bank your money instead of letting it lie around the house.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Baronzzi Talks To Radio Group

Jospeh Baronzzi, Lisbon attorney and former assistant county prosecutor, was a guest speaker when the Borderline React Group met Sunday in the Civil Defense Office at Lisbon.

About 33 were present. Okie Taylor is president. Baronzzi spoke on citizenship and what it means. He said, that after looking at many books for a definition of the term, he found the best in the Boy Scout handbook. He related the responsibilities of Citizen Band groups in emergencies. A question and answer period followed.

Miss Jane Smith was acting secretary in the absence of Mrs. Bonnie Schroader.

Taylor said that due to the lateness of the year, half-year dues will be accepted instead of 12-month dues. He said that copies of the revised by - laws should be ready by the next meeting, Dec. 10 at 7 p.m. in the Civil Defense office. He closed the meeting with a brief speech on the responsibilities of a citizen band operator in an emergency. Refreshments were served.

Man Fined And Jailed In Drunk Driving Case

A city motorist was fined and sentenced to jail on a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol at a hearing today before Municipal Judge Samuel Chertoff.

He was fined $200 and costs and sentenced to five days in the Columbiana County Jail at Lisbon. The court also suspended his driver's license for 90 days.

3 More Killed In Philippines' Election Strife

MANILA (AP) — Political killings took three more lives today as about 80 per cent of the Philippines' 8 million voters went to the polls in one of the nation's most bitterly contested elections. Four persons were slain on the eve of the balloting.

The new violence raised to 54 the number of politically motivated deaths officially recorded this year. Thirty-three were counted in the last nationwide election two years ago.

Although there appeared to be no widespread terrorism, some 25,000 troops were on the alert.

Eight of the 24 Senate seats were at stake, and President Ferdinand Marcos' Nacionalista party had to win at least six of the contests to avoid a setback to his re-election chances in 1969. If the opposition Liberals gained control of the upper house, they could block the economic legislation Marcos hopes will help get him back in office.

Marcos' pro-Western foreign policy, including the sending of 2,000 troops to the Vietnam war, was not an issue. Debate centered around domestic programs.

Besides the Senate seats, 65 governorships and almost 14,000 provincial and municiqal offices were to be decided.

Compromise Bill Puts Muscle In Pollution Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) A compromise bill intended to put more muscle and money into the federal fight against air pollution is before both houses of Congress.

A Senate-House conference committee reached agreement Monday on the $428 million measure and Rep. Harley O. Staggers, D-W. Va., head of the House delegation, said final action in his chamber could come today.

The money figure matched that in a House bill but was $272 million less than approved earlier by the Senate. But Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, chief sponsor of the measure, called the compromise version effective.

The conference bill would empower the secretary of health, education and welfare to seek court injunctions against pollution whenever he finds it presents a serious health danger.

The measure also earmarks $125 million for a two-year research program aimed at finding ways to extract pollutants from fuels.

County Action Still Pending In Court Jobs

LISBON — County commissioners have not decided who will supervise administration of the new small claims division in the three county courts.

The state law setting up the small claims section becomes effective Nov. 21.

Clerk of Courts Carl L. Stacey, who has been in charge of the county courts at Lisbon, Salame and East Palestine for several years, said Commissioners James W. Boyd and Charles J. Gause told him last Thursday they intend to take over the county courts.

Boyd said the commissioners want only to appoint whatever personnel is necessary to operate the small claims division, and have no intention of disturbing the clerk of courts' personnel. Stacey has two clerks in each court plus three men who take bonds at night in Southwest Court at Lisbon, open all the time.

At the end of the commissioners' meeting Monday, Boyd and Gause said they had taken no action. They said they may have a decision Thursday — the next meeting date. Gause said he thinks the judges of the county courts should have some say as to the personnel.

Several weeks ago, Stacey received the commissioners' authorization to proceed with lining up personnel for the small claims work. He ordered supplies and interviewed several girls.

Kennedy Claims U.S. Passed Up Viet Peace Talks

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy charges a negotiated peace in Vietnam may be impossible for some time to come because the United States passed up a chance to go to the bargaining table last winter.

Nonetheless, said the New York Democrat, "I continue to believe that we should go to negotiations in an effort to reach a peaceful and honorable settlement. Perhaps we cannot; but we shall never know until we try."

Kennedy asserted that a "false scent of victory" during the winter of 1966-67 led the administration to "cast away what may well have been the last best chance to go to the negotiating table."

Replying to the charge, White House Press Secretary George Christian said Monday: "We have not passed up any opportunities—there haven't been any opportunities really."

Kennedy made his remarks in an article in the current issue of Look magazine. It was taken from his forthcoming book, "To Seek a Newer World," to be published by Doubleday & Co., Inc.

"Despite the killing and destruction, we are in no better position now than we were a year ago—and we will not be in any better position a year from now," said Kennedy.

The city of Key West, Fla., derives its name from the Spanish "cayo" (key) and "heuso" (bones) — and not from its geographical location, as may be supposed. Key West was at one time used as a battleground by prehistoric Indians whose bones were found scattered around the island.

Mamie 71 Today And Anxiously Awaits 'Party'

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Mamie Eisenhower is 71 years old today, and anxiously awaits a "surprise" party reportedly planned by her husband, former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

"I wasn't supposed to know about it," the former First Lady said in an interview. "I think he's going to have someone for dinner."

But Mrs. Eisenhower didn't disclose the ex-president's "secret" plans, except to say the dinner guests won't be her grandchildren, who will be in school.

Mrs. Eisenhower said she and her husband "feel a deep obligation and gratitude to people for their thoughts of us. But if we don't take care of ourselves, no one else is to blame."

Noting that she doesn't participate in local church and civic affairs as she'd like, Mrs. Eisenhower said she wants to be with her husband as much as possible when he relaxes.

"This is a retreat for us and I treasure the times when we can be by ourselves—reading, playing solitaire, listening to music and having quiet hours."

Mamie 71 Today And Anxiously Awaits 'Party'

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Mamie Eisenhower is 71 years old today, and anxiously awaits a "surprise" party reportedly planned by her husband, former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

"I wasn't supposed to know about it," the former First Lady said in an interview. "I think he's going to have someone for dinner."

But Mrs. Eisenhower didn't disclose the ex-president's "secret" plans, except to say the dinner guests won't be her grandchildren, who will be in school.

Mrs. Eisenhower said she and her husband "feel a deep obligation and gratitude to people for their thoughts of us. But if we don't take care of ourselves, no one else is to blame."

Noting that she doesn't participate in local church and civic affairs as she'd like, Mrs. Eisenhower said she wants to be with her husband as much as possible when he relaxes.

"This is a retreat for us and I treasure the times when we can be by ourselves—reading, playing solitaire, listening to music and having quiet hours."

'Hits Below Belt,' Aiken Says

LBJ Seen Implying Viet Criticism Nears Treason

By JACK BELL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George D. Aiken says President Johnson and administration officials imply Vietnam war policy criticism borders on treason. The Vermont Republican calls it "hitting below the belt."

Aiken, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, took issue with a Monday statement by Ellsworth Bunker, U.S. Ambassador to South Vietnam, that domestic dissent acts to "encourage the North Vietnamese to hold on."

A sharp critic of Johnson's escalation of the U.S. war effort, Aiken said in an interview he detects a pattern in weekend speeches by the President, a New York talk Monday by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and in Bunker's remarks, a pattern of blaming critics for what he called lack of success in Southeast Asia.

"Congress has given the President everything he has asked for to carry on the war in Vietnam," Aiken said. "If the results have not been successful, it would appear to be the judgment of the administration that is at fault.

"To imply that those who question the judgment of the President may not be wholly loyal to their country would seem to me to be hitting below the belt."

Humphrey said the greatest need at this point in the war is "support by the American people" which "can give a clear, unmistakable signal to our adversary and thereby shorten the war."

"I can tell him (Johnson) how to get unity," Aiken said. "Just let somebody drop bombs on Silver Spring, Md., and Falls Church, Va., and he will get unity. The American people then would feel just about as I imagine the people of Hanoi and Haiphong feel."

Silver Spring and Falls Church are Washington suburbs.

That viewpoint also was expressed by journalist David Schoenbrun, who said his recent visit to North Vietnam convinced him U.S. bombing of the North never will lead to peace talks.

"I've been all through North Vietnam and seen the destruction," Schoenbrun told newsmen in Detroit. "Believe me, those people have very little left to lose. They are willing to fight to the end."

Schoenbrun, a longtime Columbia Broadcasting System newsman who now teaches at Columbia University, said he feels North Vietnam would be willing to begin talks within four weeks after an unconditional halt to U.S. bombing.

Bunker reported to the President on the progress of the war. He's scheduled to brief the Senate Foreign Relations Committee Thursday on developments in South Vietnam.

The committee is expected to clear the same day a resolution to put the Senate on record urging Johnson to take the war issue to the United Nations for a decision.

Bunker told newsmen after the White House conference he reported to Johnson "we are making steady progress in Vietnam" and "there is every sign the progress will accelerate."

Humphrey challenged critics to come up with an alternative course in Vietnam. He said "if you can find it, we will use it."

That's a problem Republicans know their 1968 presidential nominee will face and Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen said he thinks the Republican candidate will have to follow the Johnson administration's fundamental policies, only more so.

"He will have to go further, though," Dirksen said. "He will have to do more than the President is doing," like advocating an expansion of the number of targets for bombing without extending the war itself.

In Miami Beach, persistent war policy critic Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., called the Vietnam struggle "one of history's most god-awful bloodbaths" and said he'd "rather walk out of the Senate than support Johnson's war in Vietnam." He spoke at a news conference.

LBJ And Sato Open Talks In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson welcomes Prime Minister Eisaku Sato of Japan to Washington for two days of talks expected to deal mainly with Asian security.

After a ceremonial red-carpet welcome today at the White House, the President and the 66-year-old Japanese political leader planned a 90-minute conference. The Vietnam war and the future role of Okinawa, the massive U.S. defense base in the Western Pacific only 350 miles from Red China, were uppermost on the agenda.

Following his arrival Monday night aboard a special U.S. presidential jet, Sato said in a statement he was looking forward to a frank exchange of views with the President. He expressed hope the U.S.-Japan partnership "will be placed on an even firmer basis" as a result of his talks here.

Sato has said there is growing unrest among Japanese and the nearly one million Okinawans for some kind of political reunion with Japan.

Boys Get Reprimand On Hancock Charges

Six East Liverpool youths were reprimanded by Juvenile Officer John Grossi Monday afternoon at New Cumberland, then released in the custody of their parents as a result of causing damage to a Pughtown home on Nov. 7.

The six, five 17 and one 16, were charged with conspiring and combining together for the purpose of defacing property. The complaint was filed by a Pughtown resident, Ruth Melvin, after the youths allegedly "were bothering around her house," Hancock County sheriff's deputies said.

The youths were apprehended by Chester patrolman Rex Cowey as they were on their way to East Liverppol.

In Talks Before U.N. Council

Unyielding Israel, Jordan Dim Mideast Peace Hopes

By TOM HOGE
Associated Press Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Unyielding positions taken by Israel and Jordan before the U.N. Security Council Monday have further dimmed hopes of any Middle East settlement soon.

Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban made plain that his government is in no hurry to come to terms when he brushed aside two rival resolutions both designed to bring the Arabs nearer than ever before to compromise.

Eban reiterated his rejection of a resolution submitted by India, Mali and Nigeria because he said it suggested "that Israel should move from the cease-fire lines without a peace treaty defining permanent and secure frontiers."

He said the U.S. resolution failed to "give sufficient weight to the concept of negotiation and agreement." The Israelis are believed willing to accept the U.S. plan in effect, but want it made plain that any solution must stem from direct talks between them and the Arabs.

A similar inflexibility was shown by Jordan's foreign minister, Abdul Monem Rifa'i, despite the softer tone of King Hussein's public statements in the United States last week.

Rifa'i stressed Arab demands for Israeli withdrawal from territory seized in the June war. If the United Nations fails to act, he warned, "we will have to return to our people" and advise them to take action needed "to liquidate this Israeli aggression."

Rifa'i charged that the real source of instability in the Middle East is what he called Israel's "record of expansionist policies and repeated organized attacks against Arab countries."

Israeli circles feel that Hussein played up the conciliatory theme too much last week for Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser's liking. The hard tone taken by Rifa'i apparently reflects a desire by his government to offset any Arab feeling that Jordan is taking too moderate a position.

Wellsville Police Cite Two Drivers Following Crash

Two drivers were cited following a collision in Wellsville Monday night about 10:20, police reported.

Frank Leyda of 1785 Chester Ave., Wellsville, halted his 1961 auto to discharge passengers and it was struck from the rear by a 1958 car driven by Otis Minefield of Steubenville.

Minefield was cited for failure to have his vehicle under control, and Leyda was charged with contributory negligence. Both are due hearings Saturday before Mayor William Daugherty.

Damage was moderate and no one was injured, officers said.

The Chicago White Sox, fourth place finishers in the 1967 American League flag race, drew the most fans to Tiger Stadium in Detroit this year. With seven playing dates (nine games) in the Motor City the White Sox played before 216,007 fans.

No charges were filed against Robert Stoneburner, 26, of 313 Jefferson St., Newell, after his 1967 auto struck a parked car, causing it to strike another vehicle.

Stoneburner was treated at City Hospital for a laceration of the lip while his passenger Nancy Palmer, 25, of 310 Needham St., East Liverpool, was treated for abrasions of the forehead and right elbow and contusions of the neck. Both were released.

The Hancock County sheriff's office said Stoneburner fell asleep at the wheel and his car drifted right and struck a car owned by Minnie L. Engle of Charleston, RD 1. The impact forced her car into a vehicle owned by Clifford Barnhart of Box 61, Pughtown.

Damage to Stoneburner's car was estimated at $1,500, while Engle's 1966 vehicle was a total loss, estimated at $2,500. Damage to Barnhart's car was reported at $300.

LBJ And Sato Open Talks In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson welcomes Prime Minister Eisaku Sato of Japan to Washington for two days of talks expected to deal mainly with Asian security.

After a ceremonial red-carpet welcome today at the White House, the President and the 66-year-old Japanese political leader planned a 90-minute conference. The Vietnam war and the future role of Okinawa, the massive U.S. defense base in the Western Pacific only 350 miles from Red China, were uppermost on the agenda.

Following his arrival Monday night aboard a special U.S. presidential jet, Sato said in a statement he was looking forward to a frank exchange of views with the President. He expressed hope the U.S.-Japan partnership "will be placed on an even firmer basis" as a result of his talks here.

Sato has said there is growing unrest among Japanese and the nearly one million Okinawans for some kind of political reunion with Japan.

Boys Get Reprimand On Hancock Charges

Six East Liverpool youths were reprimanded by Juvenile Officer John Grossi Monday afternoon at New Cumberland, then released in the custody of their parents as a result of causing damage to a Pughtown home on Nov. 7.

The six, five 17 and one 16, were charged with conspiring and combining together for the purpose of defacing property. The complaint was filed by a Pughtown resident, Ruth Melvin, after the youths allegedly "'were bothering around her house," Hancock County sheriff's deputies said.

The youths were apprehended by Chester patrolman Rex Cowey as they were on their way to East Liverppol.

Unyielding Israel, Jordan Dim Mideast Peace Hopes

By TOM HOGE
Associated Press Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Unyielding positions taken by Israel and Jordan before the U.N. Security Council Monday have further dimmed hopes of any Middle East settlement soon.

Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban made plain that his government is in no hurry to come to terms when he brushed aside two rival resolutions both designed to bring the Arabs nearer than ever before to compromise.

Eban reiterated his rejection of a resolution submitted by India, Mali and Nigeria because he said it suggested "that Israel should move from the cease-fire lines without a peace treaty defining permanent and secure frontiers."

He said the U.S. resolution failed to "give sufficient weight to the concept of negotiation and agreement." The Israelis are believed willing to accept the U.S. plan in effect, but want it made plain that any solution must stem from direct talks between them and the Arabs.

A similar inflexibility was shown by Jordan's foreign minister, Abdul Monem Rifa'i, despite the softer tone of King Hussein's public statements in the United States last week.

Rifa'i stressed Arab demands for Israeli withdrawal from territory seized in the June war. If the United Nations fails to act, he warned, "we will have to return to our people" and advise them to take action needed "to liquidate this Israeli aggression."

Rifa'i charged that the real source of instability in the Middle East is what he called Israel's "record of expansionist policies and repeated organized attacks against Arab countries."

Israeli circles feel that Hussein played up the conciliatory theme too much last week for Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser's liking. The hard tone taken by Rifa'i apparently reflects a desire by his government to offset any Arab feeling that Jordan is taking too moderate a position.

Wellsville Police Cite Two Drivers Following Crash

Two drivers were cited following a collision in Wellsville Monday night about 10:20, police reported.

Frank Leyda of 1785 Chester Ave., Wellsville, halted his 1961 auto to discharge passengers and it was struck from the rear by a 1958 car driven by Otis Minefield of Steubenville.

Minefield was cited for failure to have his vehicle under control, and Leyda was charged with contributory negligence. Both are due hearings Saturday before Mayor William Daugherty.

Damage was moderate and no one was injured, officers said.

The Chicago White Sox, fourth place finishers in the 1967 American League flag race, drew the most fans to Tiger Stadium in Detroit this year. With seven playing dates (nine games) in the Motor City the White Sox played before 216,007 fans.

'Hits Below Belt,' Aiken Says

LBJ Seen Implying Viet Criticism Nears Treason

By JACK BELL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George D. Aiken says President Johnson and administration officials imply Vietnam war policy criticism borders on treason. The Vermont Republican calls it "hitting below the belt."

Aiken, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, took issue with a Monday statement by Ellsworth Bunker, U.S. Ambassador to South Vietnam, that domestic dissent acts to "encourage the North Vietnamese to hold on."

A sharp critic of Johnson's escalation of the U.S. war effort, Aiken said in an interview he detects a pattern in weekend speeches by the President, a New York talk Monday by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and in Bunker's remarks, a pattern of blaming critics for what he called lack of success in Southeast Asia.

"Congress has given the President everything he has asked for to carry on the war in Vietnam," Aiken said. "If the results have not been successful, it would appear to be the judgment of the administration that is at fault.

"To imply that those who question the judgment of the President may not be wholly loyal to their country would seem to me to be hitting below the belt."

Humphrey said the greatest need at this point in the war is "support by the American people" which "can give a clear, unmistakable signal to our adversary and thereby shorten the war."

"I can tell him (Johnson) how to get unity," Aiken said. "Just let somebody drop bombs on Silver Spring, Md., and Falls Church, Va., and he will get unity. The American people then would feel just about as I imagine the people of Hanoi and Haiphong feel."

Silver Spring and Falls Church are Washington suburbs.

That viewpoint also was expressed by journalist David Schoenbrun, who said his recent visit to North Vietnam convinced him U.S. bombing of the North never will lead to peace talks.

"I've been all through North Vietnam and seen the destruction," Schoenbrun told newsmen in Detroit. "Believe me, those people have very little left to lose. They are willing to fight to the end."

Schoenbrun, a longtime Columbia Broadcasting System newsman who now teaches at Columbia University, said he feels North Vietnam would be willing to begin talks within four weeks after an unconditional halt to U.S. bombing.

Bunker reported to the President on the progress of the war. He's scheduled to brief the Senate Foreign Relations Committee Thursday on developments in South Vietnam.

The committee is expected to clear the same day a resolution to put the Senate on record urging Johnson to take the war issue to the United Nations for a decision.

Bunker told newsmen after the White House conference he reported to Johnson "we are making steady progress in Vietnam" and "there is every sign the progress will accelerate."

Humphrey challenged critics to come up with an alternative course in Vietnam. He said "if you can find it, we will use it."

That's a problem Republicans know their 1968 presidential nominee will face and Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen said he thinks the Republican candidate will have to follow the Johnson administration's fundamental policies, only more so.

"He will have to go further, though," Dirksen said. "He will have to do more than the President is doing," like advocating an expansion of the number of targets for bombing without extending the war itself.

In Miami Beach, persistent war policy critic Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., called the Vietnam struggle "one of history's most god-awful bloodbaths" and said he'd "rather walk out of the Senate than support Johnson's war in Vietnam." He spoke at a news conference.

Police said the accident occurred about 9:15 p. m. A short distance east of the Market St. interesection. Policeman John Vokovich found DeVan's car at 10:20. The charge was filed in Columbiana County Southwest Court.

Spending Cuts, Credit Restraint Urged

Serious Inflation Threat Seen Without Tax Boost

By STERLING F. GREEN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Economists in the government, and many outside it, predict today's consumer dollar may be worth about 95 cents this time next year if taxes are not raised soon.

The forecasts of most college and corporation economists show solid agreement that inflation is a serious threat. They sound, in fact, much like the speeches being given by President Johnson's aides in behalf of his 10 per cent income tax surcharge proposal.

But there is far less unanimity among industry economists that the surtax is the only answer. Sharp spending cuts or vigorous credit restraint are favored by many.

But most favor some kind of tax action, perhaps in combination with other curbs on demand. And an informal canvass of economic opinion—inside and outside the government on the record and off the record—produces this consensus of what 1968 may be like if there is no tax increase:

Prices—The increase is guessed at between 4 and 6 per cent for consumer prices and around 3 per cent for industrial commodities.

Many say such speculation is academic, since in the absence of a tax increase there would be heavy credit restraints or a spending clampdown, or both, if the living cost increase hit a 5 per cent rate for any prolonged period.

Interest—The government might have to pay 6 per cent interest on its bonds. High-grade corporate borrowers, already paying 6 per cent and up, could find themselves paying 8 or 9 per cent.

Credit supply—Many smaller borrowers would find credit unobtainable, in any practical sense, because of heavy government borrowing to finance a potential $28 billion deficit—and because the Federal Reserve Board would be forced to turn the tight-money screws. Mortgage funds would dry up. Homebuilding industry leaders fear there would be a housing recession.

Wages—A new round of big wage increase demands would develop. The wave has been subsiding, though new settlements still average about 5 per cent and the Ford Motor Co. settlement was around 6 per cent.

Officials predict privately that a congressional delay on tax action of three or four months, permitting prices to spurt, could set off another union drive to "catch up with living costs" and revive the wage-price spiral.

Profits—Profits after taxes would climb to a record high. The proposed 10 per cent surtax on corporations, on the other hand, might cancel out the gain and leave profits below the 1966 peak of $82.2 billion.

Production—A typical current forecast, assuming a tax increase, is for national output to increase by $60 billion to above $840 billion. Chairman Gardner Ackley of the President's Council of Economic Advisers says the rise would be $75 billion if there is no tax increase—an expansion rate fast enough, he said, to cause overheating and trouble.

Even if the surtax takes effect Jan. 1 as Johnson has urged, many economists believe inflation will cut family buying power in 1968 by as much as 3½ cents on the dollar.

The consumer price index now stands at a record 117.1 per cent of the 1957-9 average. That means it now costs a typical city family $117.10 to buy what it could get for $100 less than 10 years ago.

If a 5 per cent rise should occur over the next year, the same bundle of goods and services would cost about $122.

Some economists expect further inflation but would prefer to fight it with weapons other than a tax boost. In the conservative wing of expert opinion, economist Milton Friedman of University of Chicago suggests a curb on the growth of the money supply and a curtailment of budget spending are needed.

Interest rates would rise for three to six months, Friedman concedes, but by then he believes "the pressure for credit would slacken and interest rates would start to decline."

On the liberal side, Leon Keyserling, a former chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, also opposes the surtax, but for a different reason. Keyserling believes economic growth is too slow, not too fast. He predicts a tax increase would only contribute to "further economic stagnation."

Keyserling told The Associated Press he favors keeping taxes down and spending up. If prices threaten to get out of hand, he said, some selective controls might be applied. He did not advocate controls now, however.

Congressional coolness toward higher taxes has been encouraged by the latest batch of economic indicators. If the statistics did not support Keyserling's diagnosis of stagnation, they at least did not suggest overheating.

Joblessness increased in October, retail sales declined, the factory work week was reduced and the long buildup of military spending leveled off. New factory orders declined in September for the third straight month.

Administration officials, blaming much of the slackness on strikes, said the country was lucky to have the respite. They pointed to factory hiring gains as evidence the economy is "building up a full head of steam" and will need cooling off.

Similar conclusions led 260 economists from colleges and research organizations to call on Congress for "early enactment of tax legislation." A survey by the National Association of Business Economists showed that an overwhelming majority of its members favored the surtax.

Last week the Federal Reserve Bank of New York reported that the rate of price and wage increase, including the Ford settlement, was "clearly excessive" and gaining speed.

When Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler suggested in September that the price climb could match the Korean war inflation—5.5 per cent a year—some government economists felt he was overselling the surtax plan.

Today, however, a highly placed administration adviser insisted it is "highly imaginable that the year could bring a total advance of 5 or 6 per cent."

The September living cost rise was the smallest in six months, two-tenths of 1 per cent, but it capped a six-month increase which, if continued, would represent an annual rate of 3.6 per cent—a rate not exceeded since the mid-1950s.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics, which prepares the index, actually expects a 3.3 per cent rise in 1968 if there is a surtax, and a larger increase without one—how much larger, the bureau does not say.

The potential rise of interest rates could be even more painful to some segments of the economy—home builders and home buyers, small businesses and the school districts and local governments which rely on easy credit markets.

Jaycees Told Of Band Fete

A "battle of the bands" program was described for board members of the East Liverpool Jaycees by representatives of the North Canton Jaycees during a meeting Monday night at the Chamber of Commerce office.

William Ihota and Dr. Richard Longbrake discussed the program, which is sponsored nationally by Jaycee groups. The bands consist of members 13 to 19 with local, district, state and national competition.

The North Canton Jaycees hold the franchise in this area for the "bands" contest.

Dick Landis requested members to help decorate the Christmas tree in the Diamond. The decoration will begin Friday at 6:30 p. m.

Dick Beatty reported the Jaycees were selling fruit cakes. They may be obtained from members and also are on sale at the Potters Lumber Co. in the St. Clair Plaza.

The annual Jaycees Christmas dance will be held Dec. 23 at the Holiday Inn at Waterford Park in the Bow and Arrow Room. Reservations can be made by contacting John Beauchamp at 385-7814.

The next meeting will be held Nov. 27 at 6:45 p. m. at the Heritage House. The meeting has been designated as "membership night" and State Sen. John Longsworth of Salem will be guest speaker.

Various Reports Given To Legion

Various committee reports featured the meeting of American Legion Post 374 Monday night at the post home with Kenneth Youst, first vice commander, in charge. Forty attended.

Youst reported membership to date as 263 and James Wallover, service office, reported Russell Smith, William Barrett, Ace Hayden and George Myers on the sick list.

James Cregar, 10th District commander, said the district membership has exceeded the 1966 quota.

Vincent McGeehan, bowling chairman, reported that the traveling bowling league will bowl Sunday at Salem, beginning at 1:30 p. m. McGeehan was appointed by Densel McKinney, commander, to serve on the burial committee, replacing John Ruhe, who resigned.

Willis Smith Jr. was obligated as a new member by John Long, a past commander. Louis Provost, chaplain, conducted a memorial service for Everett Wolfe, who was a charter member.

A dance will be held Saturday night at the post home. Music will be provided by the Blue Shades. The next meeting will be held Monday night.

Youth, 16, Cited For House Entry

A 16-year-old East End youth was cited to Juvenile Court for breaking and entering after he was caught emerging from the basement of a home on St. George St. Monday at 10:23 a.m.

Mrs. Herman Dingess of 845 St. George St. notified police that she had found someone inside her home. Patrolman S. E. Hayes investigated and found Mrs. Dingess and the boy, who also resides on St. George St., standing outside the home near a broken basement window.

Mrs. Dingess told police she discovered the entry when she arrived home. She said she entered through the rear door and found someone had attempted to force open the basement door. She heard a noise, screamed and ran outside.

Mrs. Dingess said she then saw the boy pulling his leg out of the window at the side of the house. Nothing apparently was taken. The youth's hearing has been set for Dec. 12.

Japanese Police Hunt at U.S. Bid 4 Who Want To Defect

TOKYO (AP) — Japanese police hunted at U.S. request today for four missing American Navy men who criticized U.S. policies in Vietnam and said they wanted to defect to a country not involved in the conflict.

There was speculation the quartet might have taken refuge in a foreign embassy, as another GI opponent of the war did earlier this year.

Authorities concentrated their search in Tokyo's bookstore district near the headquarters of the Japan Peace for Vietnam Committee which was believed sheltering the Americans. Police said they had several "slim clues" but would not elaborate.

The four crewmen from the aircraft carrier Intrepid, which is operating off Vietnam, were presented by the committee in a filmed interview Monday. They said they sought "political asylum in Japan or any other country not engaged in the war."

They were identified as Airman John M. Barilla, 20, of Catonsville, Md.; Airman Richard D. Bailey, 19, Jacksonville, Fla.; Airman Appren. Michael A. Lindner, 19 Mount Pocono, Pa., and Airman Appren. Craig W. Anderson, 20, of San Jose, Calif.

The Navy said the sailors had been AWOL since Oct. 23, two days before the Intrepid left Yokosuka after an eight-day recreational visit.

U.S. officials said the four had military identification cards but no military traveling orders that would permit them to board planes leaving Japan. They also did not have U.S. passports.

Kenneth C. Criggs of Boise, Idaho deserted on April 3 while on leave from Vietnam and took refuge in the Cuban Embassy. He is believed still there. The Cubans have turned down Japanese requests for his extradition, saying he has been granted political asylum.

BARGAIN DIAMONDS

Hardly a week goes by that someone doesn't question me about "bargain" diamonds - - either something purchased by mail or from what was purportedly a "wholesale" firm. Often they want my assurance as a gemologist that it is first of all, really a diamond, that it is of fine quality and a true bargain for the price paid.

As a jeweler, I know that it is unlikely that I would ever expect that under today's business conditions a reputable dealer would be so taken with my personality that he would sell me a car at what would represent a loss to him merely to get it off his lot. Yet, there seem to be a few buyers that like to believe these conditions exist with those who sell diamonds.

First of all, the foreign recovery has created an unprecedented demand for gems of all kinds, and most particularly fine diamonds that to the Europeans have for centuries represented the best form of security. Gem diamonds are at a premium in this country, so no jeweler needs to mark down a fine stone. There are always a few, as in many other retail businesses, that mark up their goods in order to "slash" prices. There is also a very wide difference in the diamond quality grades of Cutting, Clarity and Color. It takes a knowledge of gemology and experience to correctly evaluate each stone. As members of the American Gem Society we are trained to do this properly for your protection. Come in to see us when you're in a diamond buying mood.

Spending Cuts, Credit Restraint Urged

Serious Inflation Threat Seen Without Tax Boost

By STERLING F. GREEN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Economists in the government, and many outside it, predict today's consumer dollar may be worth about 95 cents this time next year if taxes are not raised soon.

The forecasts of most college and corporation economists show solid agreement that inflation is a serious threat. They sound, in fact, much like the speeches being given by President Johnson's aides in behalf of his 10 per cent income tax surcharge proposal.

But there is far less unanimity among industry economists that the surtax is the only answer. Sharp spending cuts or vigorous credit restraint are favored by many.

But most favor some kind of tax action, perhaps in combination with other curbs on demand. And an informal canvass of economic opinion—inside and outside the government on the record and off the record—produces this consensus of what 1968 may be like if there is no tax increase:

Prices—The increase is guessed at between 4 and 6 per cent for consumer prices and around 3 per cent for industrial commodities.

Many say such speculation is academic, since in the absence of a tax increase there would be heavy credit restraints or a spending clampdown, or both, if the living cost increase hit a 5 per cent rate for any prolonged period.

Interest—The government might have to pay 6 per cent interest on its bonds. High-grade corporate borrowers, already paying 6 per cent and up, could find themselves paying 8 or 9 per cent.

Credit supply—Many smaller borrowers would find credit unobtainable, in any practical sense, because of heavy government borrowing to finance a potential $28 billion deficit—and because the Federal Reserve Board would be forced to turn the tight-money screws. Mortgage funds would dry up. Homebuilding industry leaders fear there would be a housing recession.

Wages—A new round of big wage increase demands would develop. The wave has been subsiding, though new settlements still average about 5 per cent and the Ford Motor Co. settlement was around 6 per cent.

Officials predict privately that a congressional delay on tax action of three or four months, permitting prices to spurt, could set off another union drive to "catch up with living costs" and revive the wage-price spiral.

Profits—Profits after taxes would climb to a record high. The proposed 10 per cent surtax on corporations, on the other hand, might cancel out the gain and leave profits below the 1966 peak of $82.2 billion.

Production—A typical current forecast, assuming a tax increase, is for national output to increase by $60 billion to above $840 billion. Chairman Gardner Ackley of the President's Council of Economic Advisers says the rise would be $75 billion if there is no tax increase—an expansion rate fast enough, he said, to cause overheating and trouble.

Even if the surtax takes effect Jan. 1 as Johnson has urged, many economists believe inflation will cut family buying power in 1968 by as much as 3½ cents on the dollar.

The consumer price index now stands at a record 117.1 per cent of the 1957-9 average. That means it now costs a typical city family $117.10 to buy what it could get for $100 less than 10 years ago.

If a 5 per cent rise should occur over the next year, the same bundle of goods and services would cost about $122.

Some economists expect further inflation but would prefer to fight it with weapons other than a tax boost. In the conservative wing of expert opinion, economist Milton Friedman of University of Chicago suggests a curb on the growth of the money supply and a curtailment of budget spending are needed.

Interest rates would rise for three to six months, Friedman concedes, but by then he believes "the pressure for credit would slacken and interest rates would start to decline."

On the liberal side, Leon Keyserling, a former chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, also opposes the surtax, but for a different reason. Keyserling believes economic growth is too slow, not too fast. He predicts a tax increase would only contribute to "further economic stagnation."

Keyserling told The Associated Press he favors keeping taxes down and spending up. If prices threaten to get out of hand, he said, some selective controls might be applied. He did not advocate controls now, however.

Congressional coolness toward higher taxes has been encouraged by the latest batch of economic indicators. If the statistics did not support Keyserling's diagnosis of stagnation, they at least did not suggest overheating.

Joblessness increased in October, retail sales declined, the factory work week was reduced and the long buildup of military spending leveled off. New factory orders declined in September for the third straight month.

Administration officials, blaming much of the slackness on strikes, said the country was lucky to have the respite. They pointed to factory hiring gains as evidence the economy is "building up a full head of steam" and will need cooling off.

Similar conclusions led 260 economists from colleges and research organizations to call on Congress for "early enactment of tax legislation." A survey by the National Association of Business Economists showed that an overwhelming majority of its members favored the surtax.

Last week the Federal Reserve Bank of New York reported that the rate of price and wage increase, including the Ford settlement, was "clearly excessive" and gaining speed.

When Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler suggested in September that the price climb could match the Korean war inflation—5.5 per cent a year—some government economists felt he was overselling the surtax plan.

Today, however, a highly placed administration adviser insisted it is "highly imaginable that the year could bring a total advance of 5 or 6 per cent."

The September living cost rise was the smallest in six months, two-tenths of 1 per cent, but it capped a six-month increase which, if continued, would represent an annual rate of 3.6 per cent—a rate not exceeded since the mid-1950s.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics, which prepares the index, actually expects a 3.3 per cent rise in 1968 if there is a surtax, and a larger increase without one—how much larger, the bureau does not say.

The potential rise of interest rates could be even more painful to some segments of the economy—home builders and home buyers, small businesses and the school districts and local governments which rely on easy credit markets.

Jaycees Told Of Band Fete

A "battle of the bands" program was described for board members of the East Liverpool Jaycees by representatives of the North Canton Jaycees during a meeting Monday night at the Chamber of Commerce office.

William Ihota and Dr. Richard Longbrake discussed the program, which is sponsored nationally by Jaycee groups. The bands consist of members 13 to 19 with local, district, state and national competition.

The North Canton Jaycees hold the franchise in this area for the "bands" contest.

Dick Landis requested members to help decorate the Christmas tree in the Diamond. The decoration will begin Friday at 6:30 p. m.

Dick Beatty reported the Jaycees were selling fruit cakes. They may be obtained from members and also are on sale at the Potters Lumber Co. in the St. Clair Plaza.

The annual Jaycees Christmas dance will be held Dec. 23 at the Holiday Inn at Waterford Park in the Bow and Arrow Room. Reservations can be made by contacting John Beauchamp at 385-7814.

The next meeting will be held Nov. 27 at 6:45 p. m. at the Heritage House. The meeting has been designated as "membership night" and State Sen. John Longsworth of Salem will be guest speaker.

Various Reports Given To Legion

Various committee reports featured the meeting of American Legion Post 374 Monday night at the post home with Kenneth Youst, first vice commander, in charge. Forty attended.

Youst reported membership to date as 263 and James Wallover, service office, reported Russell Smith, William Barrett, Ace Hayden and George Myers on the sick list.

James Cregar, 10th District commander, said the district membership has exceeded the 1966 quota.

Vincent McGeehan, bowling chairman, reported that the traveling bowling league will bowl Sunday at Salem, beginning at 1:30 p. m. McGeehan was appointed by Densel McKinney, commander, to serve on the burial committee, replacing John Ruhe, who resigned.

Willis Smith Jr. was obligated as a new member by John Long, a past commander. Louis Provost, chaplain, conducted a memorial service for Everett Wolfe, who was a charter member.

A dance will be held Saturday night at the post home. Music will be provided by the Blue Shades. The next meeting will be held Monday night.

Youth, 16, Cited For House Entry

A 16-year-old East End youth was cited to Juvenile Court for breaking and entering after he was caught emerging from the basement of a home on St. George St. Monday at 10:23 a.m.

Mrs. Herman Dingess of 845 St. George St. notified police that she had found someone inside her home. Patrolman S. E. Hayes investigated and found Mrs. Dingess and the boy, who also resides on St. George St., standing outside the home near a broken basement window.

Mrs. Dingess told police she discovered the entry when she arrived home. She said she entered through the rear door and found someone had attempted to force open the basement door. She heard a noise, screamed and ran outside.

Mrs. Dingess said she then saw the boy pulling his leg out of the window at the side of the house. Nothing apparently was taken. The youth's hearing has been set for Dec. 12.

Japanese Police Hunt at U.S. Bid 4 Who Want To Defect

TOKYO (AP) — Japanese police hunted at U.S. request today for four missing American Navy men who criticized U.S. policies in Vietnam and said they wanted to defect to a country not involved in the conflict.

There was speculation the quartet might have taken refuge in a foreign embassy, as another GI opponent of the war did earlier this year.

Authorities concentrated their search in Tokyo's bookstore district near the headquarters of the Japan Peace for Vietnam Committee which was believed sheltering the Americans. Police said they had several "slim clues" but would not elaborate.

The four crewmen from the aircraft carrier Intrepid, which is operating off Vietnam, were presented by the committee in a filmed interview Monday. They said they sought "political asylum in Japan or any other country not engaged in the war."

They were identified as Airman John M. Barilla, 20, of Catonsville, Md.; Airman Richard D. Bailey, 19, Jacksonville, Fla.; Airman Appren. Michael A. Lindner, 19 Mount Pocono, Pa., and Airman Appren. Craig W. Anderson, 20, of San Jose, Calif.

The Navy said the sailors had been AWOL since Oct. 23, two days before the Intrepid left Yokosuka after an eight-day recreational visit.

U.S. officials said the four had military identification cards but no military traveling orders that would permit them to board planes leaving Japan. They also did not have U.S. passports.

Kenneth C. Criggs of Boise, Idaho deserted on April 3 while on leave from Vietnam and took refuge in the Cuban Embassy. He is believed still there. The Cubans have turned down Japanese requests for his extradition, saying he has been granted political asylum.

Legion Figure Dies

BARGAIN DIAMONDS

Hardly a week goes by that someone doesn't question me about "bargain" diamonds - - either something purchased by mail or from what was purportedly a "wholesale" firm. Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

DEAR HELOISE: You know those sticky pine cones that we like to decorate early so they will be ready for Christmas, but they are still too green? Here's how to speed up their "curing process."

Place them on a foil-lined cookie sheet and bake them in your oven at 225 degrees for about 10 minutes to dry out the sap and juice. Then take the cookie sheet out and place it on top of the stove to cool.

All you have to do is take that bottle of white shoe polish with its applicator and "pffft"! The outside of the cone is painted.

Absolutely beautiful for Christmas decorations and centerpieces . . .

HELEN COLLENS.

It works! You can also put sparkles on these cones for an added glitter and beauty. Just spray the cones with any hair spray, then roll them in those sparklettes.

The damp hair spray will make them stick. Respray slightly after the glitters are added.

The best way to get a thick coating of sparkles on them is to use good glue. Pour it in a saucer, dip a brush in it and paint QUICKLY around the outside of the cone. Then roll it in the sparkles and let it thoroughly dry.

These add a gay, festive look to the holidays and they can be reused for years and years.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I make lots of applesauce and have discovered an easy way to do it.

Quarter and core the apples (don't peel). Put them in a pan with water and a bit of salt. Cover tightly and cook until tender. Then just run them through your colander!

Add sugar and spice to taste. Real good and so simple to make.

EPPS.

DEAR HELOISE: When I'm sewing and have to rip a seam, there are always those little cut thread ends to pick out.

I found a SOFT (not pencil type) eraser will rub them out easily. So now I keep one on the point of my seam ripper (when not in use) so it's always handy.

GRANDMA.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: Some days I feel older than the hills . . .

And I'm sure I have more problems than they do!

"HAPPY".

DEAR HELOISE: I made my baby a bath pad by sewing two squares of flannel together with a piece of plastic between, and bound it with colored tape. After baby's bath, I just put her on the pad until dry and powdered.

Real handy.

NOVA BUCHANAN.

DEAR HELOISE: If you run out of long matches for lighting a fire in the fireplace . . . don't despair!

Just insert a book match in the end of a drinking straw and light the match with another match . . . then light the fire. It will save you a few singed fingers.

SUE JAMES.

DEAR HELOISE: I am a working mother with two school age children. We live near the school and they like to come home for lunch occasionally.

On those days, I have always prepared sandwiches in the morning for them, but felt bad that I couldn't be home to make them some good hot soup.

So now I prepare the soup in the morning and pour it into vacuum bottles. I set the bottles on the table with bowls and spoons and all they do is pour. No danger of them getting burned at the stove trying to heat the soup.

The vacuum bottles they have hold one bowlful — just right to go along with a sandwich and milk.

Accused Killer Ordered Held For Jury On Shooting Count

NAPOLEON, Ohio (AP) — Mark David Hodges, 26, was ordered held Monday night for the Henry County Grand Jury on a charge of shooting with intent to kill a high school honor student.

Hodges also has been charged by Wood County authorities with first-degree murder in the slaying of Karen Kern, 20-year-old niece of Ohio Senate Minority Leader Frank W. King of Toledo. King also is president of the Ohio AFL—CIO.

Hodges, of Allen County, is accused here of shooting Denise Fortner, 17, a National Honor Society member at Napoleon High School.

Napoleon Municipal Court Judge Robert Gilson ordered Hodges held for the grand jury following a seven-hour preliminary hearing. His bond was set at $10,000.

Miss Fortner tearfully identified Hodges as the man who shot her last Aug. 4. She said she was riding her motorcycle near Hamler when a car forced her off the road. She said the driver returned and shot her.

Hodges was arrested in the Fortner case about two weeks ago. He is married and has three children.

Wood County authorities have accused him of killing Miss Kern, whose bullet-riddled body was found three weeks ago Monday night in a ditch near Perrysburg.

Investigators said Hodges was one of the last known persons to have seen Miss Kern alive. Miss Kern lived in Sylvania.

Damage Suit By Sheppard Cites Three

CLEVELAND (AP)— Samuel H. Sheppard has filed a damage suit in U.S. District Court here against the E. W. Scripps Co., publisher of the Cleveland Press; retired Press editor Louis B. Seltzer and Cuyahoga County Coroner Samuel R. Gerber.

The action filed Monday by attorneys for the 43-year - old former osteopath alleges that the defendants conspired to accuse him of murdering his first wife Marilyn, July 4, 1954. Sheppard was convicted of second-degree murder in 1954 and served 10 years in prison before being granted a new trial by the U.S. Supreme Court.

The high court ordered the new trial on grounds of "prejudicial publicity" and a "carnival atmosphere" in the first trial.

Sheppard was found innocent in the second trial a year ago.

The suit seeks damages and punitive damages and asks that a jury trial be held to set the amount. No specific amount was asked.

The petition alleges that the defendants "conspired together to falsely accuse the plaintiff of the murder of his wife, and did so accuse him. As a direct consequence of the accusation and because of the defendants, the plaintiff was prosecuted for the crime of murder."

The suit contends that the defendants acted "maliciously" to cause Sheppard damages "including but not limited to" his imprisonment for 10 years, loss of income from practice of medicine, loss of license to practice, fees and expenses for the trial and "loss of general reputation and regard in the community."

Seltzer and Dr. Gerber could not be reached for comment.

Rhodes Declares Stokes An Able, Competent Man

SAO PAULO, Brazil, (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes of Ohio said Monday Carl Stokes, Cleveland's first Negro mayor "is an able and competent man, elected by a majority of the people to do a job."

Rhodes arrived Sunday at the head of a mission of businessmen representing 44 Ohio companies on the state's first trade promotion foray into Latin America. He made his comment at a news conference.

Rhodes opened a traveling exposition of Ohio products to which 250 Brazilian businessmen were invited. If advance prospects in Sau Paulo are confirmed, Ohio may open an office of its Development Department here, he said, and he might invite President Arthur Da Costa E Silva to Ohio to receive an honorary degree from one of the state's leading universities.

A Drill In Double Talk

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) —Isn't it about time we had another drill in double talk?

Mustn't get rusty in this vital art, you know, or we may lose our social poise.

Double talk, of course, is the saying of one thing while you're thinking another, usually something exactly opposite. It allows one to be socially acceptable—nay, even widely welcomed—while it also enables one to retain his inner honesty intact.

Some may quibble that double talk is a form of hypocrisy, and indeed it is. But it is often the kind of necessary hypocrisy that salvages our civilization and keeps our sanity. Anyone who never indulges in the protective camouflage of double talk will wind up a pariah or a hermit.

For those seeking to acquire at least a rudimentary skill in double talk here are a few conventional examples of it in quotes—followed by a literal translation of what the sayer was really thinking.

"I can hardly wait for Christmas."—This year I'm going to set a beartrap in my chimney to welcome Santa Claus.

"We're having Thanksgiving with our daughter and son-in-law next week." — After all, they've been married 10 years and ought to be able to afford a turkey finally.

"Remember, when you buy a ticket for our church raffle, you're not only helping out a worthy cause. You have a real chance of winning a brand-new automobile."—Yes, sir, a real fat chance.

"I'm awfully tied up today, but if you could just come back tomorrow—."—My receptionist will tell you that I've left town for several weeks.

"We like to feel that nothin's too good for our customers."—Except maybe a square shake.

"Well, if you've got something on your mind that's bothering you, sit right down now and get it off your chest."—But don't expect me to really listen.

"Frankly, the business picture is so uncertain at this time that we wouldn't feel justified in making a contribution to any political party."—It's too early yet to tell which party is likely to win.

"You know you're the one guy I wouldn't want to double talk, Bob."—But if at first I don't succeed, I'll try, try again.

Patrol Reports 2 District Mishaps

Area roads were slippery in places overnight, but only one mishap was reported Monday and one this morning, the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

A car-truck collision in which no one was hurt was being investigated in the Columbiana vicinity this morning, officers said.

Gary Lee Cunningham, 17, of East Liverpool RD 2 was uninjured in a one-car mishap on County Rd. 435 yesterday about 4:30 p.m. His 1962 sedan veered off a curve and struck two guardrails, damaging the left front of the auto. He was cited for speeding.

Parents Face Probe In Death Of Infant

CINCINNATI (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Howard Jackson will undergo a probation investigation before they are sentenced in the death of their five-month-old child.

The Jackson, both in their 20s, pleaded guilty Monday in Hamilton County Common Pleas Court to a charge of first-degree manslaughter in the death of Myron Jackson. The infant was found dead Jan. 30 in the couples' home at Addyston and an autopsy showed he died of lack of proper feeding.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

DEAR HELOISE: You know those sticky pine cones that we like to decorate early so they will be ready for Christmas, but they are still too green? Here's how to speed up their "curing process."

Place them on a foil-lined cookie sheet and bake them in your oven at 225 degrees for about 10 minutes to dry out the sap and juice. Then take the cookie sheet out and place it on top of the stove to cool.

All you have to do is take that bottle of white shoe polish with its applicator and "pffft"! The outside of the cone is painted.

Absolutely beautiful for Christmas decorations and centerpieces . . .

HELEN COLLENS.

It works! You can also put sparkles on these cones for an added glitter and beauty. Just spray the cones with any hair spray, then roll them in those sparklettes.

The damp hair spray will make them stick. Respray slightly after the glitters are added.

The best way to get a thick coating of sparkles on them is to use good glue. Pour it in a saucer, dip a brush in it and paint QUICKLY around the outside of the cone. Then roll it in the sparkles and let it thoroughly dry.

These add a gay, festive look to the holidays and they can be reused for years and years.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I make lots of applesauce and have discovered an easy way to do it.

Quarter and core the apples (don't peel). Put them in a pan with water and a bit of salt. Cover tightly and cook until tender. Then just run them through your colander!

Add sugar and spice to taste. Real good and so simple to make.

EPPS.

DEAR HELOISE: When I'm sewing and have to rip a seam, there are always those little cut thread ends to pick out.

I found a SOFT (not pencil type) eraser will rub them out easily. So now I keep one on the point of my seam ripper (when not in use) so it's always handy.

GRANDMA.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: Some days I feel older than the hills . . .

And I'm sure I have more problems than they do!

"HAPPY".

DEAR HELOISE: I made my baby a bath pad by sewing two squares of flannel together with a piece of plastic between, and bound it with colored tape. After baby's bath, I just put her on the pad until dry and powdered.

Real handy.

NOVA BUCHANAN.

DEAR HELOISE: If you run out of long matches for lighting a fire in the fireplace . . . don't despair!

Just insert a book match in the end of a drinking straw and light the match with another match . . . then light the fire. It will save you a few singed fingers.

SUE JAMES.

DEAR HELOISE: I am a working mother with two school age children. We live near the school and they like to come home for lunch occasionally.

On those days, I have always prepared sandwiches in the morning for them, but felt bad that I couldn't be home to make them some good hot soup.

So now I prepare the soup in the morning and pour it into vacuum bottles. I set the bottles on the table with bowls and spoons and all they do is pour. No danger of them getting burned at the stove trying to heat the soup.

The vacuum bottles they have hold one bowlful — just right to go along with a sandwich and milk.

Accused Killer Ordered Held For Jury On Shooting Count

NAPOLEON, Ohio (AP) — Mark David Hodges, 26, was ordered held Monday night for the Henry County Grand Jury on a charge of shooting with intent to kill a high school honor student.

Hodges also has been charged by Wood County authorities with first-degree murder in the slaying of Karen Kern, 20-year-old niece of Ohio Senate Minority Leader Frank W. King of Toledo. King also is president of the Ohio AFL—CIO.

Hodges, of Allen County, is accused here of shooting Denise Fortner, 17, a National Honor Society member at Napoleon High School.

Napoleon Municipal Court Judge Robert Gilson ordered Hodges held for the grand jury following a seven-hour preliminary hearing. His bond was set at $10,000.

Miss Fortner tearfully identified Hodges as the man who shot her last Aug. 4. She said she was riding her motorcycle near Hamler when a car forced her off the road. She said the driver returned and shot her.

Hodges was arrested in the Fortner case about two weeks ago. He is married and has three children.

Wood County authorities have accused him of killing Miss Kern, whose bullet-riddled body was found three weeks ago Monday night in a ditch near Perrysburg.

Investigators said Hodges was one of the last known persons to have seen Miss Kern alive. Miss Kern lived in Sylvania.

Damage Suit By Sheppard Cites Three

CLEVELAND (AP)— Samuel H. Sheppard has filed a damage suit in U.S. District Court here against the E. W. Scripps Co., publisher of the Cleveland Press; retired Press editor Louis B. Seltzer and Cuyahoga County Coroner Samuel R. Gerber.

The action filed Monday by attorneys for the 43-year - old former osteopath alleges that the defendants conspired to accuse him of murdering his first wife Marilyn, July 4, 1954. Sheppard was convicted of second-degree murder in 1954 and served 10 years in prison before being granted a new trial by the U.S. Supreme Court.

The high court ordered the new trial on grounds of "prejudicial publicity" and a "carnival atmosphere" in the first trial.

Sheppard was found innocent in the second trial a year ago.

The suit seeks damages and punitive damages and asks that a jury trial be held to set the amount. No specific amount was asked.

The petition alleges that the defendants "conspired together to falsely accuse the plaintiff of the murder of his wife, and did so accuse him. As a direct consequence of the accusation and because of the defendants, the plaintiff was prosecuted for the crime of murder."

The suit contends that the defendants acted "maliciously" to cause Sheppard damages "including but not limited to" his imprisonment for 10 years, loss of income from practice of medicine, loss of license to practice, fees and expenses for the trial and "loss of general reputation and regard in the community."

Seltzer and Dr. Gerber could not be reached for comment.

Rhodes Declares Stokes An Able, Competent Man

SAO PAULO, Brazil, (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes of Ohio said Monday Carl Stokes, Cleveland's first Negro mayor "is an able and competent man, elected by a majority of the people to do a job."

Rhodes arrived Sunday at the head of a mission of businessmen representing 44 Ohio companies on the state's first trade promotion foray into Latin America. He made his comment at a news conference.

Rhodes opened a traveling exposition of Ohio products to which 250 Brazilian businessmen were invited. If advance prospects in Sau Paulo are confirmed, Ohio may open an office of its Development Department here, he said, and he might invite President Arthur Da Costa E Silva to Ohio to receive an honorary degree from one of the state's leading universities.

In Pennsylvania Fiscal Dispute

Type Of Taxes, Not Size Seen Block To Passage

HARRISBURG (AP) — As Republican and Democrats continue to search for a solution to the five-month fiscal dispute, it is the kind of taxes, rather than the amount to be passed that is providing the real obstacle to a settlement.

The four-man negotiating committee has another dinner meeting on tap with Gov. Shafer for 7 p.m. tonight in the Executive Mansion at Indiantown Gap, a sesion some legilators consider crucial.

"The amount of money is not the problem," said one source close to the bargaining table. "The real problem is that the taxes the Republicans can accept, the Democrats can't, and vice-versa."

Both sides also are pretty well convinced that if the two parties are to resolve their tax differences by Nov. 30, some sort of package must begin to take shape this week.

"I would think something concrete must be placed before the respective caucuses by next Monday or Tuesday if there is to be any real hope of having the legislature adjourn before the constitutional convention convenes (Dec. 1)," another knowledgeable source said.

Shafer is insisting on passage of $172 million in additional taxes to balance his $1.79 billion budget, but reportedly would be willing to come down by $15-$20 million if such a concession would end the impasse. Democrats, it has been said, are demanding a drop of $45-$50 million.

What complicates the negotiations is the lack of an acceptable broad-based tax to provide the bulk of the necessary funds.

An increase from 5 to 6 per cent in the sales tax, one of the proposals on the table, is unacceptable to the Democrats, while an adjusted income tax is just as unacceptable to the Republican caucus.

Both House and Senate reconvene today for full work sessions. The House held only a token meeting Monday because of funeral services for Rep. Enos Horst, R-Franklin, who died Friday.

The Senate returned to the House for concurrence in amendments five bills that would create new judgeships for Lebanon, Montgomery, Westmoreland, Bucks and Chester counties. The amendment would have the judges elected for full 10-year terms next year instead of this year.

The Senate also sent to Shafer bills establishing a new judgewhip in Berks and two in Delaware County.

The GOP-controlled chamber also amended legislation implementing the $500 million conservation and reclamation bond issue approved by the voters last May.

The amendment would permit the borrowing of $100 million initially to be allocated thus: $40 million, Mines Department; $20 million, Health; $25 million, Forests and Waters, $15 million, Community Affairs.

The bill is in position for a final vote.

In other developments:

Parochial — Rep. Martin P. Mullen, D-Philadelphia, said he would make another attempt, probably Wednesday, to dislodge a bill to provide state aid for nonpublic schools from the Republican-controlled Appropriations Committee.

Race — House Minority Leader K. Leroy Irvis, a Negro, said he planned to seek recommital of a bill that would prohibit the Pennsylvania Human Relations Commission from ordering school districts to end racial imbalance. The Pittsburgh Democrat called the bill ridiculous.

Con Con—The Senate trimmed a $1,616,880 appropriation for the Constitutional Convention by $56,880. It is ready for a final Senate vote.

Livengood—The Senate adopted a resolution mourning the death Thursday of William S. Livengood Jr. of Somerset, a former secretary of internal affairs.

Officers Cite Local Man As Car Hits Pole

A city motorist was cited on two charges after his car rammed a utility pole on W. 8th St. about 200 feet west of Gaston Ave. at 2:52 a. m. today.

Ronald H. French, 28, of Dresden Ave. Ext. escaped injury, but his 1956 model car was demolished in the mishap which split the power pole and downed wires to a school crossing signal.

French, who was cited for reckless operation and leaving the scene of an accident, told police he was headed down grade when something went wrong with his car. The vehicle spun around and jumped the curb and the rear hit the pole.

Police said the car slid some 70 feet sideways. French was not at the scene when police arrived, but was found on Gaston St., police said.

An East End youth was injured when the car he was driving hit a utility pole on Pennsylvania Ave. at Oakland Ave. Monday at 5:38 p. m.

James Thomas III, 17, of 1210 Pennsylvania Ave. told Patrolman Karl W. Samples he was forced off the street by another car. He said he was headed west at about 20 to 25 miles an hour when an oncoming car forced him over. He said he applied the brakes and swerved to avoid the collision and his car rammed the pole.

The left front fender and hood were damaged on the 1961 sedan, owned by his father, James T. Thomas of the same address.

The youth was taken to City Hospital for treatment.

Cars operated by Phillip Miraglata, 62, of 3305 St. Clair Ave. and Elbert D. Talkington, 40, of Birch Rd., RD 1, figured in a collision Monday at 4:33 p.m. on St. Clair Ave. at Cain St.

The left front door, left rear door and rocker panel of Miraglata's 1961 sedan and the right front fender, hood, bumper and grill of Talkington's 1964 sedan were damaged. Slight damage also resulted to the lawn of I. A. Burbick of 3233 St. Clair Ave.

Miraglata told police he started to make a left turn onto Cain St. from St. Clair and was hit by the other car. Talkington told police Miraglata was in the far right lane and when he started to pass him, Miraglata made a left turn into his path.

Many interstate long distance calls now cost you less

November 1, many interstate long distance rates were reduced, making long distance a bigger bargain than ever. (See chart below.) This is the 22nd major rate reduction since coast-to-coast service started in 1915. It shows once more how improvements in technology and operating economies are passed on to you.

However, despite every effort, the cost of handling certain short-haul out-of-state calls has been rising constantly. To bring the price of these calls in line with the cost of handling them, the 3-minute rate for some interstate calls up to 24 miles was increased 5¢. The overtime charge on some of these calls also was raised.

The chart below shows new reduced maximum rates and expanded bargain calling hours on out-of-state* calls, plus the new, extra-low Night Owl Dial Rate on calls you dial yourself.

*Maximum, First Three Minutes Coast-to-Coast (except Alaska and Hawaii.) Add 10% Federal Tax.

*On calls within Ohio, low night and Sunday rates continue to apply all day on Sunday and other nights after 8.

Potters Finish 12th; Upper Arlington Takes No. 1 Spot

Sports Whirled

By TURK PIERCE

The Pittsburgh Pipers, rolling along with a 7-5 mark in the American Basketball Association, don't score much, but don't give up much, either.

The Pipers are 11th in the 12-team league in scoring, with 99.4 a game, but are second in defense, allowing 101.6 a contest. New Orleans leads in offense with 117.4 points a game and Minnesota in defense with 96.4. The Pipers are the best foul-shooting team in the loop with a 77.8 per cent mark, but are seventh in field goal shooting with 41.1 per cent. Indiana is hitting 44.1 per cent.

Individually, Connie Hawkins of Pittsburgh is fourth in scoring with 23.6 points a game and Charley Williams is 10th with a 20.5 average. LaVern Tart, former Bradley star and NBA player, has the early lead with a 29.4 average. Hawkins is second to Mel Daniels of Minnesota in rebounding, trailing 14.1 to 16.9. Other top scorers for the Pipers are Chico Vaughn, 14.6, Craig Dill, 12.4 and Ira Harge, 10.1.

Les Selvage, who played at Northeast Missouri College last year, is leading the ABA in three-point baskets with 21 in 11 games. Selvage plays for Anaheim.

We went to see the Pipers play last week, and the Pittsburgh Civic Arena was like a tomb, with 1,100 people in attendance. The Pipers looked alternately good and bad, with Chico Vaughn's three-point goals sparking a win over Minnesota.

Piper coach Vin Cazzeta has six children. When his family attends the game there is a noticeable increase in the crowd.

STEVE LOGSTON of Oak Glen, who took over as the Golden Bears' quarterback following an injury to Craig Whittington, led the Ohio Valley Athletic Conference quarterbacks in passing percentage last week with 29 of 48 for 60.4 per cent. Logston went 9 for 18 against Beaver Local and this may be enough to maintain his lead.

WARREN WESTERN RESERVE, lone conqueror of East Liverpool on the gridiron this fall, finished a 9-1 season Saturday with a 66-0 rout of Warren Kennedy. This was the biggest point total by a Warren team since Harding blitzed Leetonia 68-0 in 1916. In addition to East Liverpool, Kent Roosevelt was handed its lone loss by the Raiders. Next year Western Reserve, which loses only three offensive starters, tangles with Warren Harding and Niles McKinley, among others.

FOOTBALL FANS had better schedule Thanksgiving dinner for 10 a.m. In addition to an NFL doubleheader on CBS, an AFL top-notcher on NBC and a college game on ABC, the WPIAL Class AA playoff game between Mt. Lebanon and New Castle will be telecast at 1:30 p.m. on Thanksgiving Day by Channel 13.

And speaking of playoff games, a fan in Niles suggests that a way to determine the Ohio high school champ would be to match the winner of the polls with the winner of the All-America Conference (Massillon, Steubenville, Niles, Canton McKinley and Canton Lincoln).

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Class AA mythical state high school football championship belongs to unbeaten Upper Arlington.

Coach Marv Moorehead's Golden Bears, frustrated in their bid to gain the title a year ago, ascended to the throne after posting a perfect 10-0 season.

The suburban Columbus School topped the final Associated Press scholastic poll with 230 points, 27 more than collected by runner-up Massillon.

The mighty Tigers, who have won 11 state titles, finished with a 9-1 record, the only blemish on their schedule a 7-6 loss to Arlington.

That setback obviously went a long way in swaying the opinion of the sports writers and sportscasters who voted in the poll.

It marked the second straight year a Central Ohio power had annexed the crown after a long reign by Northeastern Ohio clubs.

"We're pleased, to say the least," said Moorehead. "The kids are ecstatic. We had some real good players but our strength lay in the fact they were a team in the finest sense of the word."

Arlington could have sealed the 1966 title but suffered a 32-0 loss to the eventual champ, Columbus Watterson, in the season finale.

It looked like history was going to repeat when Watterson jumped out to a 12-0 lead last Friday but the Bears roared back with a second half display of power that earned them an impressive 31-12 victory.

Coach Bob Seaman's Massillon team made a valiant bid for the championship, disposing of rugged Steubenville and Canton McKinley on successive weekends, but the setback to Arlington was too much to overcome.

Streaking Portsmouth Notre Dame, which owns the longest winning string in Ohio with 33 straight, won Class A accolades.

Coach Ed Miller's Titans overcame Versailles of Darke County on the final week to claim the crown.

Notre Dame collected 200 points compared to Versailles' 183. The Titans finished with a 9-0 record, one less victory than the runner-up.

Cincinnati Roger Bacon (10-0) finished third in AA followed by Steubenville (9-1), Dover (10-0), Shelby (10-0), Sandusky (9-1), Circleville (10-0), Toledo St. Francis (8-1) and Cincinnati Princeton (8-1-1).

Kent State High (9-0) locked up third place in Class A. Rounding out the elite circle are Newark Catholic (10-0), Lorain St. Mary (9-0), Milan (9-0), Fredericktown (9-0-1), Norwalk St. Paul (9-1), Dixie (8-1) and Unioto (9-0).

UCLA Takes Over Top Spot

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

UCLA surged into first place in the national college football rankings today, the major development in a shakeup of the Top Ten resulting primarily from another one of Oregon State's poll-axing performances.

The Beavers' 3-0 victory over Southern California last Saturday helped UCLA climb into the No. 1 spot and dumped the Trojans into fourth place, the position vacated by the Bruins.

Oregon State also cut itself in for a slice of the Top Ten pie, taking over eighth place. The Beavers tied UCLA 16-16 on Nov. 4 and beat Purdue on Oct. 21, both at times when the Bruins and Boilermakers were rated second in the poll.

UCLA accumulated 19 votes for the top position and 419 points while Tennessee held second place, collecting 13 first-place votes and 390 points in the latest Associated Press poll.

Purdue advanced two places to third. Indiana, Wyoming and Oklahoma each climbed one place, to fifth, sixth and seventh, respectively.

Notre Dame held ninth position followed by North Carolina State.

A total of 47 sports writers and broadcasters on a national panel participated in the latest balloting, conducted on a basis of 10 points for a first-place vote, 9 for second, 8 for third etc.

UCLA rebounded from the Oregon State surprise by crushing Washington 48-0 last Saturday. Tennessee routed Tulane 35-14 for its sixth victory. The Volunteers' only setback was to UCLA in the season opener for both teams.

Purdue, 7 - 1, overwhelmed Minnesota 41-12. Southern California's loss to the giant-killing Beavers was its first of the campaign after eight victories. The Trojans were named the leading team on all except one ballot in last week's voting.

Indiana, unbeaten and untied in eight games, edged Michigan State 14-13. Wyoming, with a perfect record in nine games, routed New Mexico 42-6 while Oklahoma, 6-1, beat Iowa State 52-14. Notre Dame, the defending national champ, trounced Pittsburgh 38-0.

North Carolina State, third a week ago, fell to 10th after losing to Penn State 13-8.

Oregon State replaced Houston in the rankings. The Cougars dropped out despite a 35-18 victory over Memphis State.

UCLA takes on Southern Cal this Saturday in a game that will decide which will be the West Coast Rose Bowl representative. It's the Trojans' final game of the regular campaign.

Wyoming, Oregon State and North Carolina State also wind up their seasons, the Cowboys against the University of Texas at El Paso, the Beavers with Oregon and the Wolfpack against Clemson.

Other games involving ranked teams are: Tennessee-Mississippi, Purdue-Michigan State, Indiana-Minnesota, Oklahoma-Kansas and Notre Dame-Georgia Tech.

The Top Ten, with first-place votes in parentheses and points on a 10-9-8-etc. basis:

1. UCLA (19)	419
2. Tennessee (13)	390
3. Purdue (8)	343
4. Southern Cal. (5)	330
5. Indiana (1)	265
6. Wyoming	189
7. Oklahoma	154
8. Oregon State (1)	145
9. Notre Dame	131
10. North Carolina St.	84

Army Sugar Bowl Choice, Gator Angling For PSU

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The college football bowl picture still stands shrouded in fog today, but it should clear Saturday and surprising Army is expected to march out of the haze with its first postseason date in history.

All Army, with a 7-1 record, has to do is beat Pittsburgh — and it is heavily favored to do so — Saturday and Sugar Bowl officials are almost certain to invite the Cadets to play in New Orleans on New Year's Day. And Army might break precedent and accept.

"We're the only service academy that has not played in a bowl," Col. Jerry Capka, athletic director at the U.S. Military Academy, said Monday at West Point, N.Y., after acknowledging that Army has had feelers.

"We have no policy against it. Our attitude is that we will wait until we get a bid and then consider it on its merits."

Tennessee and Oklahoma, should they get by rougher opponents Saturday, are sure to be marching alongside Army Monday, the day bids can be received and accepted under NCAA rules. They must wait until the Monday after the third playing Saturday in November.

Tennessee can all but wrap up the Southeastern Conference title by beating Mississippi and Oklahoma can do the same in the Big Eight with a victory over Kansas.

If that's the way it turns out, Orange Bowl officials will be beating at the doors to match up the Vols, 6-1, and Sooners, 6-1, in Miami the night of Jan. 1, and both probably would accept.

Should either stumble, Alabama, 6-1-1, North Carolina State, 8-1, Miami, 6-2, and Auburn, 6-2, are waiting eagerly in the shadows.

Those four teams also are possibilities for the Sugar Bowl, although one of its officials admits "Tennessee and Oklahoma are the most desirable bowl opponents in the country."

Auburn must first get by Georgia and North Carolina State by Clemson on Saturday and Miami by Notre Dame Nov. 24. If Army bows out of the picture, Penn State, 6-2, could step in.

Texas, 6-2, and Texas A&M, 4-4, probably will decide the Southwest Conference title and the Cotton Bowl host in Dallas when they meet on Thanksgiving Day.

The opponent? Take your pick between the teams previously mentioned.

One Rose Bowl team will come out of the clash between Southern California, 8-1, and UCLA, 7-0-1, Saturday for the Pacific-8 title and Indiana, 8-0, can wrap up the Big Ten championship and Pasadena trip by beating Minnesota, 6-2. But Minnesota still could take the title with a victory with Indiana facing Purdue, ineligible for the trip, the following Saturday.

The Gator Bowl in Jacksonville, Fla., Dec. 30 can grab Wyoming, 9-0, with Penn State or Miami a likely opponent.

Barnes, Green Hurting As Browns Work Out

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Browns are sure they can bounce back from the 55-7 defeat by the Green Bay Packers, but they will meet the Minnesota Vikings here Sunday with one, possibly two, starters out of action.

Cornerback Eric Barnes, who suffered a dislocated shoulder in the Green Bay game, is on the doubtful list and fullback Ernie Green is nursing a deep shoulder bruise.

"There is only an outside chance that Barnes will play," Coach Blanton Collier said Monday. "Doctors have hopes for Green being able to start, though. We'll know more in two or three days. Some players recover from these injuries quicker than others."

Ben Davis or Carl Ward, both rookies, will fill in for Barnes if he is unable to play, with Davis probably getting the call.

Larry Conjar and Nick Pietrosante may alternate at fullback if Green doesn't play against the Vikings.

Collier said the Vikings "have a tough football team," pointing out that they beat the Packers in Milwaukee.

Addressing luncheon meetings Monday, Leroy Kelly and John Brewer said the Browns would bounce back from the Green Bay defeat, the worst in the history of the team.

"Don't give up on us," Brewer told the Touchdown Club. "We have pride. Minnesota had better be ready when it comes to town Sunday."

Kelly told the Quarterback Club in Warrensville Heights:

"We're going to bounce back. After a beating like that you have to. After a game like that you feel like you want to go out and kill somebody."

NL Discusses Expansion, Buffalo, Milwaukee Apply

CHICAGO (AP) — The National League, holding an informal meeting Monday, rapped the rival American League for allegedly breaking the rules and discussing baseball expansion plans of its own.

President Warren Giles chided the AL for what he called a violation of the rules but said the National League will not contest the junior circuit's expansion to Seattle.

Last month the American League shifted the Athletics' franchise from Kansas City to Oakland and then expanded to 12 teams by awarding franchises to Seattle and Kansas City to operate by 1969, if possible.

Giles said "the major league rules provide that before a major league makes a commitment or takes any official action to expand, its program will be presented to and discussed at a joint meeting.

"The resolutions adopted by the American League on Oct. 18-19 providing for transfer of the Kansas City club to Oakland and for expansion of the American League to Kansas City and Seattle involves a commitment and official action by the American League prior to a joint meeting which is contrary to the rule," said Giles.

"However, in the interest of baseball as a whole, the National League waives any claim of the rule and will not oppose expansion of the American League to Kansas City and Seattle," he added.

Giles then said the National League discussed expansion at its meeting. No vote was taken, but Giles remarked that he "would say there was sentiment for expansion."

"We will have a joint meeting on Nov. 30 in Mexico City," said Giles. "The next day the National League will meet on its own, and expansion again will be discussed.

"I do know that there will be no franchises granted at Mexico City if we do decide to expand because we cannot move that fast.

"Our meeting today was just about informal as any which I have presided over. We prepared ourselves to go into the joint meeting and talk intelligently," said Giles.

Giles said he had franchise applications from Buffalo, Dallas-Fort Worth, San Diego and Milwaukee and "I also have a letter from Toronto which I consider a franchise bid and I have an application from another city that has requested that it remain unidentified at this time," he said.

However, Giles later indicated the city wishing to remain unidentified was Montreal and that he also had received "a letter from a good friend of baseball in Denver asking that Denver be considered for a franchise."

Midland High Goes Class B In Football

Midland will become a Class B football team next season.

The school board last night approved a recommendation of the Athletic council that the Leopards compete in Class B. Midland will remain Class A in basketball.

The enrollment in the top three grades at Midland is only 246. The WPIAL upper limit for a Class B school is 500. Midland did not have a football schedule made up for next year, so will now seek a schedule that would let it qualify for the Class B championship. The only other Class B teams in Beaver County are Western Beaver, South Side Beaver and Center Twp. Midland beat Western Beaver 25-0 this year and did not play the other two. Playing otherwise Class A opposition plus AA East Liverpool, the Leopards went 3-4-2 on the season under Coach Joe Hamilton.

Ward Wins County Title In Scoring

Bill Ward, of Columbiana, by scoring eight points in his final game, edged Mike McVay of East Liverpool for the county scoring championship 98-96.

McVay led by four points going into Friday night's action, but managed only 2 points in East Liverpool's 14-8 win. Ward scored all of his team's points (except for a safety) in the Clippers' 14-10 loss.

Elmer Tice of Stanton Local scored two touchdowns against Smithfield to grab the third spot. Ken DiCross of Leetonia jumped from 10th to fifth with three touchdowns and Rich Rose of Southern Local rose from 10th to sixth with two TDs.

In the team statistics, the team with the best record in the county, Lisbon, was far down the list. East Liverpool led in scoring power, with 27.8 points a game. Columbiana was next with 25.8, Crestview averaged 23.3, Stanton Local had 21.7 and Leetonia crashed the 20 barrier at 20.7 with its 44-point outburst against East Canton. Crestview had the season high of 64 against Greenford.

Defensively, Columbiana was the winner with 5.6 points a game given up. East Liverpool was next with 7.6 and Crestview yielded 9.1. Almost half of the points given up by Crestview, 40 of 86, were scored in the first game by Mineral Ridge. After that the Rebels gave up only 5.8 points a game. Columbiana never gave up more than 14 points in any one game and posted 4 shutouts. Columbiana, Leetonia and East Palestine were the only area teams not shut out at least once during the season.

Potters Finish 12th; Upper Arlington Takes No. 1 Spot

The Pittsburgh Pipers, rolling along with a 7-5 mark in the American Basketball Association, don't score much, but don't give up much, either.

The Pipers are 11th in the 12-team league in scoring, with 99.4 a game, but are second in defense, allowing 101.6 a contest. New Orleans leads in offense with 117.4 points a game and Minnesota in defense with 96.4. The Pipers are the best foul-shooting team in the loop with a 77.8 per cent mark, but are seventh in field goal shooting with 41.1 per cent. Indiana is hitting 44.1 per cent.

Individually, Connie Hawkins of Pittsburgh is fourth in scoring with 23.6 points a game and Charley Williams is 10th with a 20.5 average. LaVern Tart, former Bradley star and NBA player, has the early lead with a 29.4 average. Hawkins is second to Mel Daniels of Minnesota in rebounding, trailing 14.1 to 16.9. Other top scorers for the Pipers are Chico Vaughn, 14.6, Craig Dill, 12.4 and Ira Harge, 10.1.

Les Selvage, who played at Northeast Missouri College last year, is leading the ABA in three-point baskets with 21 in 11 games. Selvage plays for Anaheim.

We went to see the Pipers play last week, and the Pittsburgh Civic Arena was like a tomb, with 1,100 people in attendance. The Pipers looked alternately good and bad, with Chico Vaughn's three-point goals sparking a win over Minnesota.

Piper coach Vin Cazzeta has six children. When his family attends the game there is a noticeable increase in the crowd.

STEVE LOGSTON of Oak Glen, who took over as the Golden Bears' quarterback following an injury to Craig Whittington, led the Ohio Valley Athletic Conference quarterbacks in passing percentage last week with 29 of 48 for 60.4 per cent. Logston went 9 for 18 against Beaver Local and this may be enough to maintain his lead.

WARREN WESTERN RESERVE, lone conqueror of East Liverpool on the gridiron this fall, finished a 9-1 season Saturday with a 66-0 rout of Warren Kennedy. This was the biggest point total by a Warren team since Harding blitzed Leetonia 68-0 in 1916. In addition to East Liverpool, Kent Roosevelt was handed its lone loss by the Raiders. Next year Western Reserve, which loses only three offensive starters, tangles with Warren Harding and Niles McKinley, among others.

FOOTBALL FANS had better schedule Thanksgiving dinner for 10 a.m. In addition to an NFL doubleheader on CBS, an AFL top-notcher on NBC and a college game on ABC, the WPIAL Class AA playoff game between Mt. Lebanon and New Castle will be telecast at 1:30 p.m. on Thanksgiving Day by Channel 13.

And speaking of playoff games, a fan in Niles suggests that a way to determine the Ohio high school champ would be to match the winner of the polls with the winner of the All-America Conference (Massillon, Steubenville, Niles, Canton McKinley and Canton Lincoln).

Lisbon 11th In A, Columbiana 15

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Class AA mythical state high school football championship belongs to unbeaten Upper Arlington.

Coach Marv Moorehead's Golden Bears, frustrated in their bid to gain the title a year ago, ascended to the throne after posting a perfect 10-0 season.

The suburban Columbus School topped the final Associated Press scholastic poll with 230 points, 27 more than collected by runner-up Massillon.

The mighty Tigers, who have won 11 state titles, finished with a 9-1 record, the only blemish on their schedule a 7-6 loss to Arlington.

That setback obviously went a long way in swaying the opinion of the sports writers and sportscasters who voted in the poll.

It marked the second straight year a Central Ohio power had annexed the crown after a long reign by Northeastern Ohio clubs.

"We're pleased, to say the least," said Moorehead. "The kids are ecstatic. We had some real good players but our strength lay in the fact they were a team in the finest sense of the word."

Arlington could have sealed the 1966 title but suffered a 32-0 loss to the eventual champ, Columbus Watterson, in the season finale.

It looked like history was going to repeat when Watterson jumped out to a 12-0 lead last Friday but the Bears roared back with a second half display of power that earned them an impressive 31-12 victory.

Coach Bob Seaman's Massillon team made a valiant bid for the championship, disposing of rugged Steubenville and Canton McKinley on successive weekends, but the setback to Arlington was too much to overcome.

Streaking Portsmouth Notre Dame, which owns the longest winning string in Ohio with 33 straight, won Class A accolades.

Coach Ed Miller's Titans overcame Versailles of Darke County on the final week to claim the crown.

Notre Dame collected 200 points compared to Versailles' 183. The Titans finished with a 9-0 record, one less victory than the runner-up.

Cincinnati Roger Bacon (10-0) finished third in AA followed by Steubenville (9-1), Dover (10-0), Shelby (10-0), Sandusky (9-1), Circleville (10-0), Toledo St. Francis (8-1) and Cincinnati Princeton (8-1-1).

Kent State High (9-0) locked up third place in Class A. Rounding out the elite circle are Newark Catholic (10-0), Lorain St. Mary (9-0), Milan (9-0), Fredericktown (9-0-1), Norwalk St. Paul (9-1), Dixie (8-1) and Unioto (9-0).

UCLA Takes Over Top Spot

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

UCLA surged into first place in the national college football rankings today, the major development in a shakeup of the Top Ten resulting primarily from another one of Oregon State's poll-axing performances.

The Beavers' 3-0 victory over Southern California last Saturday helped UCLA climb into the No. 1 spot and dumped the Trojans into fourth place, the position vacated by the Bruins.

Oregon State also cut itself in for a slice of the Top Ten pie, taking over eighth place. The Beavers tied UCLA 16-16 on Nov. 4 and beat Purdue on Oct. 21, both at times when the Bruins and Boilermakers were rated second in the poll.

UCLA accumulated 19 votes for the top position and 419 points while Tennessee held second place, collecting 13 first-place votes and 390 points in the latest Associated Press poll.

Purdue advanced two places to third. Indiana, Wyoming and Oklahoma each climbed one place, to fifth, sixth and seventh, respectively.

Notre Dame held ninth position followed by North Carolina State.

A total of 47 sports writers and broadcasters on a national panel participated in the latest balloting, conducted on a basis of 10 points for a first-place vote, 9 for second, 8 for third etc.

UCLA rebounded from the Oregon State surprise by crushing Washington 48-0 last Saturday. Tennessee routed Tulane 35-14 for its sixth victory. The Volunteers' only setback was to UCLA in the season opener for both teams.

Purdue, 7-1, overwhelmed Minnesota 41-12. Southern California's loss to the giant-killing Beavers was its first of the campaign after eight victories. The Trojans were named the leading team on all except one ballot in last week's voting.

Indiana, unbeaten and untied in eight games, edged Michigan State 14-13. Wyoming, with a perfect record in nine games, routed New Mexico 42-6 while Oklahoma, 6-1, beat Iowa State 52-14. Notre Dame, the defending national champ, trounced Pittsburgh 38-0.

North Carolina State, third a week ago, fell to 10th after losing to Penn State 13-8.

Oregon State replaced Houston in the rankings. The Cougars dropped out despite a 35-18 victory over Memphis State.

UCLA takes on Southern Cal this Saturday in a game that will decide which will be the West Coast Rose Bowl representative. It's the Trojans' final game of the regular campaign.

Wyoming, Oregon State and North Carolina State also wind up their seasons, the Cowboys against the University of Texas at El Paso, the Beavers with Oregon and the Wolfpack against Clemson.

Other games involving ranked teams are: Tennessee-Mississippi, Purdue-Michigan State, Indiana-Minnesota, Oklahoma-Kansas and Notre Dame-Georgia Tech.

The Top Ten, with first-place votes in parentheses and points on a 10-9-8-etc. basis:

1. UCLA (19)	419
2. Tennessee (13)	390
3. Purdue (8)	343
4. Southern Cal. (5)	330
5. Indiana (1)	265
6. Wyoming	189
7. Oklahoma	154
8. Oregon State (1)	145
9. Notre Dame	131
10. North Carolina St.	84

Army Sugar Bowl Choice, Gator Angling For PSU

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The college football bowl picture still stands shrouded in fog today, but it should clear Saturday and surprising Army is expected to march out of the haze with its first postseason date in history.

All Army, with a 7-1 record, has to do is beat Pittsburgh — and it is heavily favored to do so — Saturday and Sugar Bowl officials are almost certain to invite the Cadets to play in New Orleans on New Year's Day. And Army might break precedent and accept.

"We're the only service academy that has not played in a bowl," Col. Jerry Capka, athletic director at the U.S. Military Academy, said Monday at West Point, N.Y., after acknowledging that Army has had feelers.

"We have no policy against it. Our attitude is that we will wait until we get a bid and then consider it on its merits."

Tennessee and Oklahoma, should they get by rougher opponents Saturday, are sure to be marching alongside Army Monday, the day bids can be received and accepted under NCAA rules. They must wait until the Monday after the third playing Saturday in November.

Tennessee can all but wrap up the Southeastern Conference title by beating Mississippi and Oklahoma can do the same in the Big Eight with a victory over Kansas.

If that's the way it turns out, Orange Bowl officials will be beating at the doors to match up the Vols, 6-1, and Sooners, 6-1, in Miami the night of Jan. 1, and both probably would accept.

Should either stumble, Alabama, 6-1-1, North Carolina State, 8-1, Miami, 6-2, and Auburn, 6-2, are waiting eagerly in the shadows.

Those four teams also are possibilities for the Sugar Bowl, although one of its officials admits "Tennessee and Oklahoma are the most desirable bowl opponents in the country."

Auburn must first get by Georgia and North Carolina State by Clemson on Saturday and Miami by Notre Dame Nov. 24. If Army bows out of the picture, Penn State, 6-2, could step in.

Texas, 6-2, and Texas A&M, 4-4, probably will decide the Southwest Conference title and the Cotton Bowl host in Dallas when they meet on Thanksgiving Day.

The opponent? Take your pick between the teams previously mentioned.

One Rose Bowl team will come out of the clash between Southern California, 8-1, and UCLA, 7-0-1, Saturday for the Pacific-8 title and Indiana, 8-0, can wrap up the Big Ten championship and Pasadena trip by beating Minnesota, 6-2. But Minnesota still could take the title with a victory with Indiana facing Purdue, ineligible for the trip, the following Saturday.

The Gator Bowl in Jacksonville, Fla., Dec. 30 can grab Wyoming, 9-0, with Penn State or Miami a likely opponent.

Ward Wins County Title In Scoring

Bill Ward, of Columbiana, by scoring eight points in his final game, edged Mike McVay of East Liverpool for the county scoring championship 98-96.

McVay led by four points going into Friday night's action, but managed only 2 points in East Liverpool's 14-8 win. Ward scored all of his team's points (except for a safety) in the Clippers' 14-10 loss.

Elmer Tice of Stanton Local scored two touchdowns against Smithfield to grab the third spot. Ken DiCross of Leetonia jumped from 10th to fifth with three touchdowns and Rich Rose of Southern Local rose from 10th to sixth with two TDs.

In the team statistics, the team with the best record in the county, Lisbon, was far down the list. East Liverpool led in scoring power, with 27.8 points a game. Columbiana was next with 25.8, Crestview averaged 23.3, Stanton Local had 21.7 and Leetonia crashed the 20 barrier at 20.7 with its 44-point outburst against East Canton. Crestview had the season high of 64 against Greenford.

Defensively, Columbiana was the winner with 5.6 points a game given up. East Liverpool was next with 7.6 and Crestview yielded 9.1. Almost half of the points given up by Crestview, 40 of 86, were scored in the first game by Mineral Ridge. After that the Rebels gave up only 5.8 points a game. Columbiana never gave up more than 14 points in any one game and posted 4 shutouts. Columbiana, Leetonia and East Palestine were the only area teams not shut out at least once during the season.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Burke of 2231 St. Clair Ave.

Hull's Goal Pace One Per Game

NEW YORK (AP) — If Chicago's Bobby Hull continues his goal-a-game pace through this next month, he'll crash the National Hockey League's exclusive 400 Club before Christmas.

Hull has blasted 14 goals in 14 games and needs 16 more to become the fourth 400-goal scorer in NHL history. At his current clip, the Black Hawks' left winger will reach the milestone on Dec. 16 — and then go on to shatter his own season record of 54 tallies set two years ago.

Detroit's Gordie Howe is the all-time leader with 659 career goals, including 10 this season. Former Montreal ace Maurice Richard, with 544, and Jean Beliveau, the Canadiens' current captain, with 406, are the other 400-plus snipers.

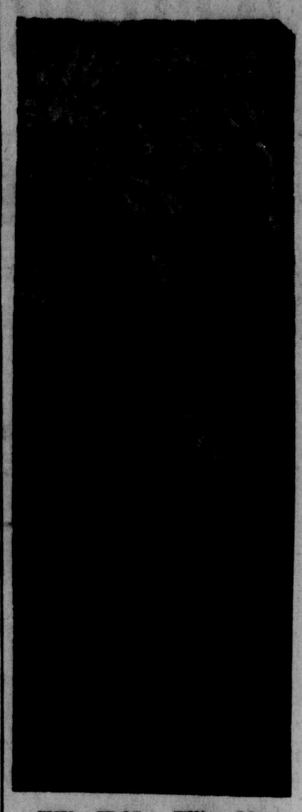

With three goals last week, Hull boosted his league-leading point total to 21, three more than runner-up Howe, who picked up a pair of assists during the week. Montreal's Yvan Cournoyer is third with 17 points, followed by Jean Ratelle of New York with 16.

Andy Bathgate of Pittsburgh and Billy Hicke of Oakland are the top scorers in the new West Division with eight goals and seven assists apiece.

Philadelphia's goalie tandem of Bernie Parent and Doug Favell have compiled a league leading goals-against mark of 2.08 per-game for the Flyers. Johnny Bower and Bruce Gamble of Toronto are second with a 2.27 average.

Defenseman Ted Green of Boston tops the penalty parade with 40 minutes, one more than his former team mate Joe Watson, now with Philadelphia.

IVY IDOL. Ellis Moore, sophomore fullback for Princeton, broke an Ivy League record Saturday by scoring five touchdowns against Harvard in a 4-6 rout. (UPI Telephoto)

Pacers Win On Harkness' Long Shot

By The Associated Press

Jerry Harkness may have made shots with a little more style, but he'll never make a longer one.

John Beasley's jump shot with one second remaining Monday night gave Dallas a one-point lead over Indiana in an American Basketball Association game and that would seem to have wrapped it up.

But the ball came in to Harkness near his own basket and he let it fly with one hand as the buzzer went off. Almost unbelievably it was on target all the way and went in, giving the Pacers a 119-118 victory.

In the only other ABA game, New Orleans topped Anaheim 106-98.

Indiana now is 2½ games in front in the ABA's Eastern Division. Fred Lewis was the Pacers' top scorer with 26 points, but Bob Verga and Cliff Hagan each had 30 for the Chapparals.

Doug Moe's 36 points led the Buccaneers to their triumph. Steve Kramer scored 24 for the Amigos.

Former Irish Star Guard Cannon Dies

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Jack Cannon, a rough and tumble guard who often refused to wear a football helmet when he played during Notre Dame's golden era, is dead of a heart attack.

The 59-year-old Cannon, a flower shop owner here, collapsed in his car and died Sunday night while leaving Veterans Memorial Auditorium, where he had been to a religious observance.

Cannon, a football star at Columbus Aquinas during his high school days, played for Notre Dame during the 1927-28-29 seasons.

A member of the National Football Hall of Fame, Cannon, despite pleas from Irish Coach Knute Rockne, often refused to wear headgear. He was one of the last football players to do so before the mandatory headgear rule went into effect.

In 1930 he was freshman and line coach at Auburn and later studied medicine for a time. He worked for a Cincinnati brokerage firm before he became line coach of the old Columbus Bulls professional football team in 1939. Cannon served as the city's recreation director from 1940 to 1942 and then went into the flower business.

Only Men In Haig Golf Tournament

RANCHO LA COSTA, Calif. (AP) — A pro-amateur tournament today provided a prelude to the $115,000 Haig Scotch Championship golf tournament starting Thursday at La Costa country club with an all-male cast.

In past years, there have been men and women partners in the 72-hole tournament but this time 144 men will compete for the cash.

The pro-amateur preview teams 50 pros with three amateur partners each in a bid for part of a $5,000 purse.

Thirteen winners of PGA tournaments of 1967 will be competing in the tournament proper which has a $22,000 prize for the winning duo. The Scotch format will be used with selective drives and players hitting alternate shots.

Each player hits a tee shot. The better one is chosen for play and the players alternate hitting shots until the ball is holed out.

Three former winners of this tournament are playing and two of them—Sam Snead and Gardner Dickinson — are paired. Jack Rule won last year with Sandra Spuzich and this year plays with Tommy Aaron.

Andrusyshyn's Kicks Give UCLA Short Field

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The fellow with the long name could provide a short field for UCLA when the Bruins battle the Southern California Trojans on Saturday in the Rose Bowl decider.

Zenon Andrusyshyn does the punting and place kicking for Coach Tommy Prothro's undefeated club, and rival coach John McKay of Southern California declared, "He's so fantastic the field becomes shorter."

McKay explained to the Southern California Football Writers that UCLA doesn't have to penetrate so far to put Andrusyshyn into position for a field goal, and his 46-yard punting average gives rivals a longer way to go when they get the ball.

The sophomore from Canada ranks second to Gary Beban in UCLA scoring with 60 points, 27 on conversions and 33 on field goals. He tried a 58-yarder against Washington last Saturday that hit the upright above the crossbar. He has failed to kick a field goal in only two games this season.

Andrusyshyn suffered a cracked bone in his right hand late in the Washington game, but that won't keep him out of action.

"We have to stop Beban and Greg Jones to keep UCLA from the 50 so Andrusyshyn can't kick the field goals," McKay commented wryly.

Prothro declared his Bruins will face "the biggest, fastest college squad I know of," and lauded the Trojans' ace halfback O. J. Simpson as "big, fast, agile and nifty."

USC has lost wingback Jim Lawrence who suffered a knee injury in the 3-0 loss to Oregon State last Saturday and underwent surgery. Earl McCullouch moves from split end to the backfield and Ron Drake takes over the end position.

The Ohio Valley Rabbit Breeders will meet at 8 p.m. Saturday at the home of Clapsaddle, at which time officers will be elected for the coming year.

At the start of the football season Arizona's new coach Darrell Mudra said: "We can win 'em all." After four games the Wildcat record was 1-2-1.

N. Mexico St. Scores 90 On N. Arizona

LAS CRUCES, N.M.. (AP) — New Mexico State University football Coach Warren Woodson, with a lifetime coaching record of 238-110-20 that ranks with the nation's best, says he became so engrossed with the game Saturday night, he forgot the score.

The score: New Mexico State 90, Northern Arizona 0.

"I was so engrossed in the game that I didn't know we were scoring that much," he said. "I suddenly looked up on the scoreboard and saw it was 83-0."

Woodson said he used 48 of his 49 players in uniform. The 49th, Loy Hayes, still hadn't recovered from a knee injury and one of the 48, defensive halfback Abelardo Alba, played after he was shaken up in a traffic accident Friday night.

Woodson also played 14 freshmen in the game including halfback Jim Terrells, who scored two touchdowns.

Sal Olivas, the only starter to go the whole game, played the full 60 minutes because there wasn't a reserve quarterback.

"We got beat 76-0 in 1964 by Utah State," said Woodson. "We didn't ask for any sympathy and we sure didn't get any. There's not much difference between 76 and 90."

Ohio Sportswriter, Turf Expert, Claimed

CINCINNATI (AP)— Funeral arrangements are incomplete for Charles A. "Irish" O'Connor, veteran Cincinnati sportswriter and turf expert who died Monday at the age of 77.

"O'Connor started working for the Cincinnati newspaper as a boy. He became sports editor of the old Cincinnati Commercial in 1914 and later worked for 40 years for the old Cincinnati Times-Star as special writer, historian and turf editor.

Survivors include his widow, a son, Jack, and two daughters.

Pitt Great McLaren Dead At 71

BALTIMORE (AP) — Dr. George W. McLaren, a member of football's Hall of Fame and a former fullback at the University of Pittsburgh, is dead at the age of 71.

The Baltimore dentist, who retired in 1964 as director of industrial recreation at the Martin Marietta Corp., died Monday at St. Joseph's Hospital following a heart attack.

McLaren played at Pitt in 1916-18, and was captain of the 1918 team. He was also on the varsity in basketball and track, served as class president and was an outstanding scholar.

He received a degree in dentistry in 1919, but did not enter private practice until 1930. In the meantime, he was athletic director and head coach of football, basketball and track at Kansas State, Arkansas, Cincinnati and Wyoming.

McLaren, a native of Pittsburgh, came to Baltimore in 1948 and joined the Glenn L. Martin Co. In 1962, he became a member of the Maryland Commission on Physical Fitness.

Known as Tank and The Human Bullet during his playing days, McLaren was elected to the Hall of Fame in 1964. His 91-yard touchdown run from scrimmage in 1917 still stands as a Pitt record.

Letter To The Editor

The final East Liverpool High School football game for 1967 has been played, and we would like to thank the players for another exciting season. The outstanding team effort displayed against Cleveland St. Joe was enough to make any fan proud, but to see you play even harder, as you did against Alliance, should make us all humble.

As fans, we pay our money and get the right to cheer or complain, according to the tide of the game, but it's you boys who gave us the right to go to our jobs this week and say, "I told you they would do it, those boys are hard - nosed, they've got guts, they're proud, they wanted to win."

As fans, we sit in the stands and yell, "Dig in," "Fight harder" and "Stop 'em," but it's you who are getting all the knocks and bruises in the game, and work the long hours of practice.

We screamed all these things at the end of the Alliance game, and fighting even more than bad breaks and although many of you players were near complete exhaustion, you did just that — You dug in, you fought harder and stopped them.

You must have dug deeper into yourselves than we can ever realize, to get the courage and just plain guts to keep going. How do you tell a team that you know they really played their hearts out, and you're proud of them? Just saying "good job" doesn't seem enough.

Many people said it was the best team effort they had seen in 18 or 20 years of watching Potter football. As 1967 fans, all we can say is that it was great!

It would be impossible to single out one outstanding player. This game was a complete, hard fought team effort. So instead, we will say:

To the seniors who played their last game, we wish you good luck in whatever you undertake in future years.

To the boys who were injured, we wish you a speedy and complete recovery.

To the boys returning next year, you showed us that you have the ability to play just as well next year. So we will look forward to watching and cheering another good team.

None of this is possible without a good coaching staff, and in our opinion, East Liverpool has the finest. You all worked long and hard all season, and you saw the fruit of your labor last Friday night.

You boys should all be very proud, we're proud just to have watched you play. Congratulations on a job well done.

EDNA AND JOE ANDERSON,
BUD STEFFEN and other
Potter football fans.

CHRISTIAN STEPIEN

Injured Christian Honored

Numerous players were honored by the East Liverpool coaching staff in the wake of the 14-8 win over Alliance Friday.

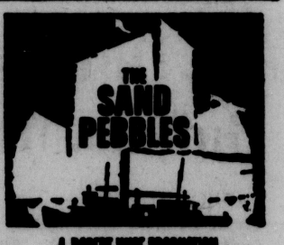

Offensive lineman of the week was John Stepien and defensive lineman of the week Bruce Christian. The offensive back of the week award went to four members of the backfield, Mike McVay, Bill Jones, Jim Musuraca and Sam Scott. The defensive back of the week award went to the three linebackers, McVay, Jim Bess and Mike Jackson.

Latest word on the injured players is that Bruce Christian will be operated on tomorrow for his injured knee. He may be ready for the second game of the season, or he may miss the entire season. Mike McVay, whose knee is black and swollen, has been ordered to rest for three weeks. Earl Diddle has his left arm in a cast, but may be able to take part in limited workouts in a week.

Hull's Goal Pace One Per Game

NEW YORK (AP) — If Chicago's Bobby Hull continues his goal-a-game pace through this next month, he'll crash the National Hockey League's exclusive 400 Club before Christmas.

Hull has blasted 14 goals in 14 games and needs 16 more to become the fourth 400-goal scorer in NHL history. At his current clip, the Black Hawks' left winger will reach the milestone on Dec. 16 — and then go on to shatter his own season record of 54 tallies set two years ago.

Detroit's Gordie Howe is the all-time leader with 659 career goals, including 10 this season. Former Montreal ace Maurice Richard, with 544, and Jean Beliveau, the Canadiens' current captain, with 406, are the other 400-plus snipers.

With three goals last week, Hull boosted his league-leading point total to 21, three more than runner-up Howe, who picked up a pair of assists during the week. Montreal's Yvan Cournoyer is third with 17 points, followed by Jean Ratelle of New York with 16.

Andy Bathgate of Pittsburgh and Billy Hicke of Oakland are the top scorers in the new West Division with eight goals and seven assists apiece.

Detroit center Alex Delvecchio, tied with five others for the seventh spot at 14 points, leads the playmakers with 13 assists.

Philadelphia's goalie tandem of Bernie Parent and Doug Favell have compiled a league leading goals-against mark of 2.08 per-game for the Flyers. Johnny Bower and Bruce Gamble of Toronto are second with a 2.27 average.

Defenseman Ted Green of Boston tops the penalty parade with 40 minutes, one more than his former team mate Joe Watson, now with Philadelphia.

IVY IDOL. Ellis Moore, sophomore fullback for Princeton, broke an Ivy League record Saturday by scoring five touchdowns against Harvard in a 4-6 rout. (UPI Telephoto)

Pacers Win On Harkness' Long Shot

By The Associated Press

Jerry Harkness may have made shots with a little more style, but he'll never make a longer one.

John Beasley's jump shot with one second remaining Monday night gave Dallas a one-point lead over Indiana in an American Basketball Association game and that would seem to have wrapped it up.

But the ball came in to Harkness near his own basket and he let it fly with one hand as the buzzer went off. Almost unbelievably it was on target all the way and went in, giving the Pacers a 119-118 victory.

In the only other ABA game, New Orleans topped Anaheim 106-98.

Indiana now is 2½ games in front in the ABA's Eastern Division. Fred Lewis was the Pacers' top scorer with 26 points, but Bob Verga and Cliff Hagan each had 30 for the Chapparals.

Doug Moe's 36 points led the Buccaneers to their triumph. Steve Kramer scored 24 for the Amigos.

Former Irish Star Guard Cannon Dies

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Jack Cannon, a rough and tumble guard who often refused to wear a football helmet when he played during Notre Dame's golden era, is dead of a heart attack.

The 59-year-old Cannon, a flower shop owner here, collapsed in his car and died Sunday night while leaving Veterans Memorial Auditorium, where he had been to a religious observance.

Cannon, a football star at Columbus Aquinas during his high school days, played for Notre Dame during the 1927-28-29 seasons.

A member of the National Football Hall of Fame, Cannon, despite pleas from Irish Coach Knute Rockne, often refused to wear headgear. He was one of the last football players to do so before the mandatory headgear rule went into effect.

In 1930 he was freshman and line coach at Auburn and later studied medicine for a time. He worked for a Cincinnati brokerage firm before he became line coach of the old Columbus Bulls professional football team in 1939. Cannon served as the city's recreation director from 1940 to 1942 and then went into the flower business.

Only Men In Haig Golf Tournament

RANCHO LA COSTA, Calif. (AP) — A pro-amateur tournament today provided a prelude to the $115,000 Haig Scotch Championship golf tournament starting Thursday at La Costa country club with an all-male cast.

In past years, there have been men and women partners in the 72-hole tournament but this time 144 men will compete for the cash.

The pro-amateur preview teams 50 pros with three amateur partners each in a bid for part of a $5,000 purse.

Thirteen winners of PGA tournaments of 1967 will be competing in the tournament proper which has a $22,000 prize for the winning duo. The Scotch format will be used with selective drives and players hitting alternate shots.

Each player hits a tee shot. The better one is chosen for play and the players alternate hitting shots until the ball is holed out.

Three former winners of this tournament are playing and two of them—Sam Snead and Gardner Dickinson — are paired. Jack Rule won last year with Sandra Spuzich and this year plays with Tommy Aaron.

Andrusyshyn's Kicks Give UCLA Short Field

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The fellow with the long name could provide a short field for UCLA when the Bruins battle the Southern California Trojans on Saturday in the Rose Bowl decider.

Zenon Andrusyshyn does the punting and place kicking for Coach Tommy Prothro's undefeated club, and rival coach John McKay of Southern California declared, "He's so fantastic the field becomes shorter."

McKay explained to the Southern California Football Writers that UCLA doesn't have to penetrate so far to put Andrusyshyn into position for a field goal, and his 46-yard punting average gives rivals a longer way to go when they get the ball.

The sophomore from Canada ranks second to Gary Beban in UCLA scoring with 60 points, 27 on conversions and 33 on field goals. He tried a 58-yarder against Washington last Saturday that hit the upright above the crossbar. He has failed to kick a field goal in only two games this season.

Andrusyshyn suffered a cracked bone in his right hand late in the Washington game, but that won't keep him out of action.

"We have to stop Beban and Greg Jones to keep UCLA from the 50 so Andrusyshyn can't kick the field goals," McKay commented wryly.

Prothro declared his Bruins will face "the biggest, fastest college squad I know of," and lauded the Trojans' ace halfback O. J. Simpson as "big, fast, agile and nifty."

USC has lost wingback Jim Lawrence who suffered a knee injury in the 3-0 loss to Oregon State last Saturday and underwent surgery. Earl McCullouch moves from split end to the backfield and Ron Drake takes over the end position.

At the start of the football season Arizona's new coach Darrell Mudra said: "We can win 'em all." After four games the Wildcat record was 1-2-1.

N. Mexico St. Scores 90 On N. Arizona

LAS CRUCES, N.M.. (AP) — New Mexico State University football Coach Warren Woodson, with a lifetime coaching record of 238-110-20 that ranks with the nation's best, says he became so engrossed with the game Saturday night, he forgot the score.

The score: New Mexico State 90, Northern Arizona 0.

"I was so engrossed in the game that I didn't know we were scoring that much," he said. "I suddenly looked up on the scoreboard and saw it was 83-0."

Woodson said he used 48 of his 49 players in uniform. The 49th, Loy Hayes, still hadn't recovered from a knee injury and one of the 48, defensive halfback Abelardo Alba, played after he was shaken up in a traffic accident Friday night.

Woodson also played 14 freshmen in the game including halfback Jim Terrells, who scored two touchdowns.

Sal Olivas, the only starter to go the whole game, played the full 60 minutes because there wasn't a reserve quarterback.

"We got beat 76-0 in 1964 by Utah State," said Woodson. "We didn't ask for any sympathy and we sure didn't get any. There's not much difference between 76 and 90."

Ohio Sportswriter, Turf Expert, Claimed

CINCINNATI (AP)— Funeral arrangements are incomplete for Charles A. "Irish" O'Connor, veteran Cincinnati sportswriter and turf expert who died Monday at the age of 77.

"O'Connor started working for the Cincinnati newspaper as a boy. He became sports editor of the old Cincinnati Commercial in 1914 and later worked for 40 years for the old Cincinnati Times-Star as special writer, historian and turf editor.

Survivors include his widow, a son, Jack, and two daughters.

Pitt Great McLaren Dead At 71

BALTIMORE (AP) — Dr. George W. McLaren, a member of football's Hall of Fame and a former fullback at the University of Pittsburgh, is dead at the age of 71.

The Baltimore dentist, who retired in 1964 as director of industrial recreation at the Martin Marietta Corp., died Monday at St. Joseph's Hospital following a heart attack.

McLaren played at Pitt in 1916-18, and was captain of the 1918 team. He was also on the varsity in basketball and track, served as class president and was an outstanding scholar.

He received a degree in dentistry in 1919, but did not enter private practice until 1930. In the meantime, he was athletic director and head coach of football, basketball and track at Kansas State, Arkansas, Cincinnati and Wyoming.

McLaren, a native of Pittsburgh, came to Baltimore in 1948 and joined the Glenn L. Martin Co. In 1962, he became a member of the Maryland Commission on Physical Fitness.

Known as Tank and The Human Bullet during his playing days, McLaren was elected to the Hall of Fame in 1964. His 91-yard touchdown run from scrimmage in 1917 still stands as a Pitt record.

Letter To The Editor

The final East Liverpool High School football game for 1967 has been played, and we would like to thank the players for another exciting season. The outstanding team effort displayed against Cleveland St. Joe was enough to make any fan proud, but to see you play even harder, as you did against Alliance, should make us all humble.

As fans, we pay our money and get the right to cheer or complain, according to the tide of the game, but it's you boys who gave us the right to go to our jobs this week and say, "I told you they would do it, those boys are hard - nosed, they've got guts, they're proud, they wanted to win."

As fans, we sit in the stands and yell, "Dig in," "Fight harder" and "Stop 'em," but it's you who are getting all the knocks and bruises in the game, and work the long hours of practice.

We screamed all these things at the end of the Alliance game, and fighting even more than bad breaks and although many of you players were near complete exhaustion, you did just that — You dug in, you fought harder and stopped them.

You must have dug deeper into yourselves than we can ever realize, to get the courage and just plain guts to keep going. How do you tell a team that you know they really played their hearts out, and you're proud of them? Just saying "good job" doesn't seem enough.

Many people said it was the best team effort they had seen in 18 or 20 years of watching Potter football. As 1967 fans, all we can say is that it was great!

It would be impossible to single out one outstanding player. This game was a complete, hard fought team effort. So instead, we will say:

To the seniors who played their last game, we wish you good luck in whatever you undertake in future years.

To the boys who were injured, we wish you a speedy and complete recovery.

To the boys returning next year, you showed us that you have the ability to play just as well next year. So we will look forward to watching and cheering another good team.

None of this is possible without a good coaching staff, and in our opinion, East Liverpool has the finest. You all worked long and hard all season, and you saw the fruit of your labor last Friday night.

You boys should all be very proud, we're proud just to have watched you play. Congratulations on a job well done.

EDNA AND JOE ANDERSON,
BUD STEFFEN and other
Potter football fans.

CHRISTIAN

STEPIEN

Injured Christian Honored

Numerous players were honored by the East Liverpool coaching staff in the wake of the 14-8 win over Alliance Friday.

Offensive lineman of the week was John Stepien and defensive lineman of the week Bruce Christian. The offensive back of the week award went to four members of the backfield, Mike McVay, Bill Jones, Jim Musuraca and Sam Scott. The defensive back of the week award went to the three linebackers, McVay, Jim Bess and Mike Jackson.

Latest word on the injured players is that Bruce Christian will be operated on tomorrow for his injured knee. He may be ready for the second game of the season, or he may miss the entire season. Mike McVay, whose knee is black and swollen, has been ordered to rest for three weeks. Earl Diddle has his left arm in a cast, but may be able to take part in limited workouts in a week.

Eyes Congress Seat

Shirley Temple In Political Bow

By HAROLD V. STREETER
Associated Press Writer

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP) — The political debut of Shirley Temple Black hangs in the balance today as San Mateo County, a flourishing suburb south of San Francisco, votes whether to send the former child film star or one of her nine male rivals to Congress.

The 39-year-old Woodside matron, mother of three teen-age children, wound up her doorbell-ringing bid in a verbal slugging match with the fellow Republican rated her strongest challenger.

Paul McCloskey, 40, an attorney and a Marine in the Korean war, charged her before the Fair Campaign Practices Committee in Washington D.C., with impugning his patriotism by falsfying his views on how to end the Vetnam war.

Mrs. Black promptly fired a telegram to the committee with the countercharge that it was being used by McCloskey for campaign purposes.

A forecast of morning rain threatened to cut deeper into the prediction of John Bruning, San Mateo County clerk, that only 60 per cent of the more than 221,000 registered for the special election would pull voting machine levers at the 575 polling places.

A runoff election is scheduled Dec. 12 between the top Republican and top Democrat in today's balloting unless one of the four Republicans and six Democrats in the race polls more than 50 per cent—an unlikely prospect.

Voters today could vote for any candidate, regardless of party. The San Mateo County registration is predominantly Democratic.

The special election was set by Gov. Ronald Reagan to fill the seat vacated by the death of Rep. J. Arthur Younger, a Republican.

Mrs. Black, who wants the Vietnam war pressed to a military conclusion on decisions left to the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and McCloskey, who favors a negotiated peace and a withdrawal within the next two years, were rated strong as Republicans.

On the Democratic side, it appeared to be narrowed to a race between Edward M. Keating 42, the author-attorney who founded Ramparts magazine, and Roy A. Archibald, 47, a councilman for the county's largest city, San Mateo. Keating demands an immediate stop in the bombing of Vietnam and a negotiated peace. Archibald favors stabilizing the military position, then stopping the bombing and negotiating.

The other two Republicans in the race are Earl Whitmore, 49, sheriff of San Mateo County since 1950, and William H. Draper, III, 39, head of a small business investment company.

The other Democrats are Daniel J. Monaco, 45, a San Mateo attorney; Bryant McDonald, 55, a Daly City real estate man; Andrew Baldwin, 40, a teacher in Redwood City; and Patrick F.X. McGucken, an Emmittsburg, Md., attorney who came out long enough to establish residence, filed as a self-proclaimed "stand-in for President Johnson" and left without campaigning.

The polls are open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. The county clerk's office expected the voting machine tabulation of the complete but unofficial count to be available around 10 p.m.

If McCarthy Opposes Johnson

Democratic Strategists Fear Intraparty Problems

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic campaign strategists acknowledge they'll face intraparty problems in trying to elect Senate candidates next year if Minnesota Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy wages his threatened challenge to President Johnson in presidential primaries.

They foresee major difficulty in Wisconsin, where Sen. Gaylord Nelson faces a potentially tough re-election race, and where the voters will ballot in a presidential primary April 2.

Among other presidential primary states which will have Senate races next year are New Hampshire, California and Oregon, all possible McCarthy target spots.

One key Democrat said primary-bred divisions could be a problem for the party in those states, but added Wisconsin would be the most troublesome case.

One Democrat, unwilling to be quoted by name, said if McCarthy does enter primaries as a peace candidate opposing Johnson, Wisconsin will be one of his most likely targets.

Nelson, himself a critic of the administration's war policy, would not discuss the position he might take in a McCarthy-Johnson primary in his home state.

"It would be difficult," he said.

Other Wisconsin Democrats said McCarthy's entry into the state's primary would cause a party split which could encourage Republican Gov. Warren P. Knowles to challenge Nelson for the Senate post.

Nelson's position on the Vietnam war is not unlike McCarthy's. Nelson said he believes the United States should stop bombing North Vietnam to test the possibility of negotiations and should also turn a larger share of the war in the South over to the Vietnamese.

McCarthy's potential 1968 challenge is also producing talk in Senate corridors that the White House would like Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., to act as a Johnson stand-in should McCarthy enter the Massachusetts balloting April 30.

Stand-in candidates ran for the Democrats in the 1964 primaries in Wisconsin, Indiana and Maryland, where then Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama was entered.

Kennedy aides said Johnson has not approached the Massachusetts senator on the Bay State primary question. "There's been no contact from the White House in this regard," one of them said.

Kennedy is in Geneva attending an international conference on refugee problems.

As Means To Avoid Strike

Cooper Urges Steel Union To Back Arbitration Plan

PITTSBURGH (AP)—To steelworkers, the right to strike is religion. But, the Vietnam war could change that.

Surprisingly, I. W. Abel, president of the United Steelworkers Union, is pictured as the chief architect of the plan.

Abel has been a critic of the growing role of the government in important labor disputes in recent years, fearful that unionism is losing its independence. With the war on in Vietnam, Abel reportedly feels the government would quickly declare an emergency and step into the 1968 talks if a stalemate developed.

Over the past few weeks, union and company representatives have discussed a no strike, binding arbitration plan, but made no public announcements.

Monday, R. Conrad cooper, the steel industry's top negotiator, announced the proposal publicly for the first time, and appealed to the union to go along with it.

Cooper said company and union representatives have worked out an experimental negotiating procedure for the 1968 negotiations to avoid strikes, lockouts and government intervention.

He said its acceptance hinges on quick approval by the union, including a poll of the membership, and by the 11 major steel companies involved in the negotiations.

"We stand at a critical crossroad for collective bargaining in steel," said Cooper, a U.S. Steel Corp. executive and head of the industry's four-man bargaining team.

"Depending on the union's decision in the very near future, the route to be followed in 1968 will have been determined," he said.

A no strike agreement, Cooper said, would avert government intervention in talks, stop further increases in foreign steel imports and eliminate the industry - jarring inventory buildup which traditionally precedes contract talks.

Since the Southeastern Conference was formed in 1933 the University of Alabama has had six teams go undefeated and untied.

Bluefield, S. Jackson In Playoff

Stonewall Jackson of Charleston faces Bluefield High next Saturday afternoon for the AAA Division football crown in the West Virginia high school championships.

Gordon Eismon, executive secretary for the Secondary School Activities Commission, said a site for the game has not been chosen yet. Stonewall wants to play in Charleston and Bluefield wants to play at home.

In weekend football action, Stonewall scored a 13-0 upset victory over Charleston High making the latter team miss the playoff by .03 of a point. It was one of three hotly - contested intra-city games in which the underdogs won.

Ceredo Kenova won its third AA championship in five years by defeating Monongah 47-13. The game marked Monongah's first appearance in an AA championship tilt, although Monongah has been featured in several Class A playoffs in past years.

Eismon said the SSAC only rated the top three teams in Class AA last weekend because of its busy schedule. The official ratings are:

Stonewall Jackson	15.0
Bluefield	14.7
Charleston	14.67

Contact Lenses Fitted On Rats For Experiment

AUCKLAND (AP) — New Zealand rats with high blood pressure have been fitted with contact lenses — something an American expert said could not be done.

The rats, a special strain, pass on high blood pressure to their offspring. This inbuilt weakness is put to use by research workers at the Department of Ophthalmology at the Otago Medical School, Dunedin, who are studying eye damage and blindness caused by high blood pressure in humans.

Parts of the work involves taking highly magnified photographs of the rats' eyes, especially the retinas. This is best done after the animals have been fitted with contact lenses, which provide a flatter surface to photograph than the normal eye curve.

The work took an early setback when the research men asked a United States contact lens manufacturer to make them a rat-size version of his product. "Technically impossible," was the reply.

The researchers then took their problem to an Auckland, New Zealand, lens maker. Working in the evenings and during the weekends, he and his staff at last produced sets of the miniature lenses.

Now, with the help of these and the rats, the reseach work is continuing.

Eyes Congress Seat

Shirley Temple In Political Bow

By HAROLD V. STREETER
Associated Press Writer

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP) — The political debut of Shirley Temple Black hangs in the balance today as San Mateo County, a flourishing suburb south of San Francisco, votes whether to send the former child film star or one of her nine male rivals to Congress.

The 39-year-old Woodside matron, mother of three teen-age children, wound up her doorbell-ringing bid in a verbal slugging match with the fellow Republican rated her strongest challenger.

Paul McCloskey, 40, an attorney and a Marine in the Korean war, charged her before the Fair Campaign Practices Committee in Washington D.C., with impugning his patriotism by falsfying his views on how to end the Vetnam war.

Mrs. Black promptly fired a telegram to the committee with the countercharge that it was being used by McCloskey for campaign purposes.

A forecast of morning rain threatened to cut deeper into the prediction of John Bruning, San Mateo County clerk, that only 60 per cent of the more than 221,000 registered for the special election would pull voting machine levers at the 575 polling places.

A runoff election is scheduled Dec. 12 between the top Republican and top Democrat in today's balloting unless one of the four Republicans and six Democrats in the race polls more than 50 per cent—an unlikely prospect.

Voters today could vote for any candidate, regardless of party. The San Mateo County registration is predominantly Democratic.

The special election was set by Gov. Ronald Reagan to fill the seat vacated by the death of Rep. J. Arthur Younger, a Republican.

Mrs. Black, who wants the Vietnam war pressed to a military conclusion on decisions left to the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and McCloskey, who favors a negotiated peace and a withdrawal within the next two years, were rated strong as Republicans.

On the Democratic side, it appeared to be narrowed to a race between Edward M. Keating 42, the author-attorney who founded Ramparts magazine, and Roy A. Archibald, 47, a councilman for the county's largest city, San Mateo. Keating demands an immediate stop in the bombing of Vietnam and a negotiated peace. Archibald favors stabilizing the military position, then stopping the bombing and negotiating.

The other two Republicans in the race are Earl Whitmore, 49, sheriff of San Mateo County since 1950, and William H. Draper, III, 39, head of a small business investment company.

The other Democrats are Daniel J. Monaco, 45, a San Mateo attorney; Bryant McDonald, 55, a Daly City real estate man; Andrew Baldwin, 40, a teacher in Redwood City; and Patrick F.X. McGucken, an Emmittsburg, Md., attorney who came out long enough to establish residence, filed as a self-proclaimed "stand-in for President Johnson" and left without campaigning.

The polls are open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. The county clerk's office expected the voting machine tabulation of the complete but unofficial count to be available around 10 p.m.

If McCarthy Opposes Johnson

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic campaign strategists acknowledge they'll face intraparty problems in trying to elect Senate candidates next year if Minnesota Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy wages his threatened challenge to President Johnson in presidential primaries.

They foresee major difficulty in Wisconsin, where Sen. Gaylord Nelson faces a potentially tough re-election race, and where the voters will ballot in a presidential primary April 2.

Among other presidential primary states which will have Senate races next year are New Hampshire, California and Oregon, all possible McCarthy target spots.

One key Democrat said primary-bred divisions could be a problem for the party in those states, but added Wisconsin would be the most troublesome case.

One Democrat, unwilling to be quoted by name, said if McCarthy does enter primaries as a peace candidate opposing Johnson, Wisconsin will be one of his most likely targets.

Nelson, himself a critic of the administration's war policy, would not discuss the position he might take in a McCarthy-Johnson primary in his home state.

"It would be difficult," he said.

Other Wisconsin Democrats said McCarthy's entry into the state's primary would cause a party split which could encourage Republican Gov. Warren P. Knowles to challenge Nelson for the Senate post.

Nelson's position on the Vietnam war is not unlike McCarthy's. Nelson said he believes the United States should stop bombing North Vietnam to test the possibility of negotiations and should also turn a larger share of the war in the South over to the Vietnamese.

McCarthy's potential 1968 challenge is also producing talk in Senate corridors that the White House would like Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., to act as a Johnson stand-in should McCarthy enter the Massachusetts balloting April 30.

Stand-in candidates ran for the Democrats in the 1964 primaries in Wisconsin, Indiana and Maryland, where then Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama was entered.

Kennedy aides said Johnson has not approached the Massachusetts senator on the Bay State primary question. "There's been no contact from the White House in this regard," one of them said.

Kennedy is in Geneva attending an international conference on refugee problems.

Junior Editors Quiz on ATLANTIS

QUESTION: Was there really a sunken city called Atlantis?

ANSWER: The Greek philosopher Plato had a brilliant mind —and a vivid imagination. In one of his writings he tells of a large island lying out in the Atlantic Ocean, an area then unknown. He said civilized people lived there in cities, but that after an earthquake it sank below the sea. Many people wondered if this was just a myth, or if there was actually truth to it. Recently a modern Greek scientist advanced a new idea. It is known that a great ancient civilization, that of the Minoans, once flourished in the general area of the Aegean Sea (see map). It is also known that a gigantic volcanic explosion once occurred in this area. On one island, Thera, the remains of a buried Minoan town have been found. Could this area have been the Atlantis described by Plato; could the explosion have sunk it beneath the sea? Scientists are not certain; perhaps more discoveries will finally give us the answer.

He said civilized people lived there in cities, but that after an earthquake it sank below the sea. Many people wondered if this was just a myth, or if there was actually truth to it. Recently a modern Greek scientist advanced a new idea. It is known that a great ancient civilization, that of the Minoans, once flourished in the general area of the Aegean Sea (see map). It is also known that a gigantic volcanic explosion once occurred in this area. On one island, Thera, the remains of a buried Minoan town have been found. Could this area have been the Atlantis described by Plato; could the explosion have sunk it beneath the sea? Scientists are not certain; perhaps more discoveries will finally give us the answer.
